1,000 DEAD IN CUBA IN WAKE OF STORM

CABINET IN 60 DAYS HINTED BY ROOSEVELT

Quells Speculation on His Choice for Other U. S. Offices.

SAYS STATE DUTIES HOLDING ATTENTION

May Pause Here on Way to Georgia for Conference With Hoover.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the newly elected President, sought tonight to quell for at least two months all speculation over Cabinet and other prospective Federal appointments.

In a plainly worded, five-sentence statement which the President-elect said came as an answer to "wholly unauthorized rumors," he asserted that no decision had been reached regarding any appointments and that none would be reached "for at least two months."

"I shall neither confirm nor deny any such reports," Mr. Roosevelt said. "Here and now I ask the public to disregard any and all such speculations. From now until January 1, 1933, the greater part of my time will be occupied with my duties as Governor of the State of New York.

Busy With State Matters.

The statement came at the end of a day which he had devoted principally to State business, but nevertheless outside matters arising necessarily from his selection as the next President crowded in upon him.

Mr. Roosevelt in a press conference a little earlier in the day had declined to comment on a variety of reports, ranging from one that he might stop in Washington on his way to Warm Springs ten days from now to confer with President Hoover to others that he intended to make a trip to England between January 1 and March 4. He said that his plans between those two dates had not been formulated, and friends of the governor added that he did not contemplate leaving the country.

Text of Statement.

The text of the governor's statement follows:

"In the weeks and months immediately ahead, further unauthorized and unfounded suggestions may appear in print and otherwise. To avoid any misunderstanding, I desire to make it clear that no decision has been reached and no decision will be reached in regard to any appointments for at least two months.

"I shall neither confirm nor deny any such reports. Here and now, I ask the public to disregard any and all such speculations.

"From now until January 1, 1933, the greater part of my time will be occupied with my duties as Governor of the State of New York."

Sponsor of Mapes Group Is Defeated

Simmons, Contender for Cut D. C. Fund, Loses as Does Holaday.

Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), Nebraska, outstanding House contender for a reduced Federal lump sum contribution to the District and responsible more than any other one man for appointment of the Mapes committee on Federal-District fiscal relations, was defeated in his race for reelection, belated returns indicated yesterday.

While chairman of the District appropriations subcommittee and later while ranking minority member, Representative Simmons fought to cut down the Federal lump sum. He was successful.

Dispatches from Illinois indicated Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), another member of the House appropriations subcommittee, also will be a "lame duck" at the December session. Representative Holaday also was a member of the Mapes committee which drafted the $4,000,000 District tax bills.

Cuban Sugar Growers Glad Smoot Defeated

Salt Lake City, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Along with several messages of condolence received by Senator Reed Smoot over his defeat for reelection was one from Havana, Cuba, which read:

"The great American people have given you the reward you deserve."

It was signed "Cuban Sugar Producers."

Roosevelt Is Fond of Sea

Attitude Unshaken by Near Tragedy on First Ocean Voyage; "T. R." Gave Niece Away as Bride at His Wedding in New York.

(Editor's note—A 10-pound, blue-eyed boy was born January 30, 1882, in Hyde Park, N. Y., descendant of early Dutch settlers, distant cousin of a man whose career he was destined to follow into the White House. The life story of President-elect Roosevelt continues, in its second installment, with a picture of Roosevelt, the boy, and Roosevelt, the student.)

By GARDNER BRIDGE.
(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—"Save my jumping jack," cried 3-year-old Franklin D. Roosevelt as the liner Germanic rolled helplessly in a towering sea which had come up and threatened to engulf it on the second night out from Liverpool.

Half the boilers and nearly all the cabins were flooded, a deckhand and all the lifeboats had been swept away, but the captain managed to swing the crippled ship about and maneuver it back slowly to Queenstown.

Despite the near-tragic aspects of that adventure, Roosevelt in later life became so fond of the sea that he seriously considered following it as a career. When 12 years old he began exhibiting a marked interest in naval history and spent whole days in the library at Hyde Park. Today he owns one of the country's finest private collections of Navy literature.

When the time came for him to choose definitely between Harvard and Annapolis, however, young Roosevelt accepted his father's counsel and went to Harvard that he might prepare to take over the latter's business interests. His father, a wealthy man by inheritance, was a vice president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad and a director of several corporations.

As a boy, Roosevelt was healthy, active and possessed of unlimited curiosity. He often would disappear for a whole day and return in such

Greece Fails to Pay U. S. Debt Installment

(Associated Press.)

The war debts problem last night was in a blind alley—Greece failed to meet her payment to the United States due yesterday and Hungary served notice she can not meet hers in December.

And at the same time Great Britain apparently has delivered a note to the American Government presumably asking for a discussion of debt and interest payments due December 15.

Secretary Mills, making the announcement about Greece and Hungary, did not mention having received any advance notice from the former of the technical default. But Hungary, he said, has given official notification that she "does not have the necessary foreign exchange with which to make the payment due the United States on December 15."

Under the 1929 debt funding agreement, payments on principal can be postponed with 90 days' notice. Interest, however, is supposed to be deposited.

The Greek installments receivable yesterday were $227,000 of principal and $217,920 of interest. Hungary's notice covers $12,285 of principal and $28,444 of interest.

Three other countries—Estonia, Latvia and Poland—already have told the American Government they can not make the payments on principal they will owe December 15. Estonia's installment is $90,000, Latvia's $37,000 and Poland's $1,125,000. The Treasury presumes they will pay the interest.

The possibility of an international discussion of the situation emerged yesterday when Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, talked with Secretary Stimson just as word was received from London that a note con-

COLORADO SENATE RACE YET IN DOUBT

Absentee Ballots Will Decide Schuyler's Fate and Lame Duck Control.

Denver, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Numerical control of the United States Senate in the lame duck session of Congress, which meets in December, hinged tonight upon absentee ballots in Colorado.

The contest of Karl C. Schuyler, Republican, and Walter Walker, Democrat, for the unexpired term of the late Senator Charles W. Waterman was still undecided, with Schuyler holding a slight margin of 176 votes.

The election of W. W. Barbour New Jersey Republican, in a whirlwind finish made the Senate line-up for the short session 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one farmer-labor.

Early tabulations in Colorado indicated Schuyler had a safe lead, which up until noon today was nearly 2,000 votes. Walker made deep inroads on his opponent, however, as returns came in from counties on the western slope adjacent to Walker's home city of Grand Junction.

Walker was appointed to the Senate by Gov. W. H. Adams upon the death of Senator Waterman. Placing of the short term on the ballot, however, put filling of the office up to the electorate.

Headquarters for both candidates estimated the number of mail ballots at 6,000. The absentee votes will be counted Sunday.

Interest in the Schuyler-Walker race was heightened by the fact that Schuyler lost the regular six-year term to Alva B. Adams, Democrat.

British Flag Is Burned In Dublin Disturbance

Dublin, Nov. 10 (U.P.).—The British Union Jack was burned in public by a group of anti-British demonstrators tonight. Speakers appearing before the "League Against Imperialism" meeting at College Green urged that the flag be torn down or shot down when encountered in Dublin.

REAL ESTATE MEN ASK RENT CHARGES

Keeping 'Combine' Evidence Secret Is Attacked at Stormy Hearing.

Charges and countercharges of lack of cooperation in the Senate District committee's rent investigation, with frequent clashes between Investigator Oscar H. Brinkman and prominent local real estate men yesterday marked a stormy hearing of the rent investigating subcommittee.

J. F. M. Bowie, former president of the Washington Real Estate Board, challenged Brinkman to open a sealed envelope Brinkman alleged contains written evidence of a rent-fixing combination in Washington.

"Mr. Brinkman has put a vile accusation against the real estate men of Washington," Mr. Bowie said. "I think we are entitled to require that he either retract or open the en-

Chain Drug Firm Adjudged Solvent

Philadelphia, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—An order restraining the Louis K. Liggett Co., chain drug store operator, from filing voluntary bankruptcy proceedings was issued today by Federal Judge George A. Welsh on petition of the 1524-42 Market Street Realty Co., owner of a property here which the Liggett Co. occupies under a lease.

In the petition the realty concern charged the drug company was contemplating bankruptcy proceedings for the purpose of breaking leases on several store properties.

It was alleged the drug company had attempted to "terrorize" landlords. Counsel for the plaintiff concern stated the Liggett Co. had a $50,000,000 surplus as of December 31, last.

ROOSEVELT DUE TO FIGHT PACT ON WATERWAY

BORAH MAY ASSIST WORK FOR REVISION

Governor Objects to Method Followed in Reaching Accord With Canada.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The first major legislative problem that may require the attention of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt will come up next Monday when hearings on the St. Lawrence waterways treaty between the United States and Canada are begun by Senator William E. Borah.

The President-elect is known to be opposed to the treaty in its present form and the fight against it on the floor of the Senate will be led on his behalf by Senator Robert L. Wagner (Democrat), of New York, reelected last Tuesday.

Senator Borah is chairman of the subcommittee that will hear several witnesses next Monday. Some of those who will be heard on that date include Alfred P. Thom, representative of the Association of Railway Executives; Peter C. Ten Eyck, president of the New York State Waterways Association, and C. H. Tregenza, representing the Great Lakes Seaboard Association. Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York State Power Authority, may be called later.

Short Session Fight Due.

However, the opposition of the President-elect to the present treaty may well bring about a situation in Congress of unusual interest. Members at the "lame duck" session may anxiously try to rush through a treaty that has the approval of President Hoover and the Department of State, before the end of the forthcoming session. It is certain that in the event that the measure comes up for decision in the new Congress the opposition of the Democratic President will bring about its defeat.

President-elect Roosevelt, through his New York Power Authority, has consistently opposed the treaty. In the first instance, the President-elect differed with the State Department in its anxiety to make the treaty with Canada before securing the consent of the State of New York. This problem, involving the delicate matter of State's rights, will in all probability enlist the sympathy of Senator Borah himself, who has long been known as an ardent apostle of this principle.

Cost Division Opposed.

The Albany Power Authority insisted that the Federal Government should have first come to an agreement with the State government before embarking on the definitive treaty with the Canadian government. This was finally overruled and the treaty drafted in its present form was signed by Secretary Stim-

French Novel Prize Won By Son of U. S. Heiress

Paris, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The 5,000 francs novel prize awarded annually by the French Academy was presented today to Jacques Charbonne, son of the former Anna Haviland, of New York, a member of the famous china manufacturing family.

M. Charbonne, whose real name is Boutelleau, received the award for his novel, "Claire." The grand prize of 10,000 francs was conferred upon Franc Nohain, a member of the staff of the newspaper Echo de Paris, for his collective works.

500 FARMERS PLAN MARCH HERE FOR AID

HUNGER ARMY ALSO TO ASSAIL CAPITAL

White House and Capitol Will Receive Demands Early Next Month.

The invasion of the Capital by a caravan of 500 relief-seeking farmers was announced here yesterday, almost at the same time that the District Commissioners were holding a conference to devise means of discouraging such invasions by agitators. This policy is expected to be made known within 24 hours.

The advance of the farmers was announced to Superintendent of Police Ernest W. Brown by Lem Harris, who claims to be a Harvard graduate and disavows any Communistic connections. He is acting, he said, for the Farmers' National Relief Conference in the capacity of executive secretary.

These marchers will arrive here simultaneously with another "hunger march," by unemployed. This march of the unemployed is being guided by Communist organizations. However, Mr. Harris claims that his group has no radical elements.

Announcement Expected Soon.

The result of the conference between Maj. Brown, the District Commissioners and Corporation Counsel William W. Bride and his assistant, Vernon E. West, is expected to be made known very soon. The conference dealt principally with the plans of the hunger marchers to converge here on December 4 and 5.

During the occupation of the city by the Bonus Expeditionary Forces the Commissioners issued an order to the superintendent of police to bar all groups at the District line unless they could prove a lawful purpose in entering the city.

The order, which has not been tested, is of very doubtful legality, and it is expected that it will be withdrawn, although it is theoretically still in effect. Mr. Bride was in Europe when the order was issued, but the Commissioners consulted Mr. West. Since his return, Mr. Bride has declined to comment on the legality of the order.

Maj. Brown told Harris that the farmers would be permitted to enter the Capital if they did not come in groups which would constitute a parade. The executive secretary of the unit said the group would remain but a few days, and they would bring food sufficient to last for that period.

Program of Members.

The first caravan is scheduled to start next week from Seattle, Wash. In Madison County, eastern Nebraska, they are supposed to meet delegates from the Northern and Far West States. They will then start to Washington in six columns.

They are timed to arrive here on December 5 and 6 for the conference on December 7. They will discuss, according to Mr. Harris, "No evictions, a moratorium on the debts the farmers can not pay, and cash relief to stop hunger."

They plan to present demands for such legislation to Congress, the White House and Federal authorities.

12 Children Die as Fire Razes Swiss Institution

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Eleanor Roosevelt gazed out of a Pullman car window at the Hudson River, slate gray in the slanting rain.

"The war," she said, "was my emancipation and my education."

She was silent for a moment, then continued:

"I had an odd sort of childhood, really. My mother died when I was 8 and my father when I was 10. My brother and I were brought up by our grandmother — our mother's mother.

"She was strict and extremely conventional. And yet when I was 15 I was sent to school in England, where I was given more liberty than I would ever have dreamed of giving my own daughter, Anna.

"The head of the school was an elderly Frenchwoman, who believed that the English and Americans in her school should have much more freedom than she granted to the French girls.

"During holidays she used to take me traveling with her and would let me go and come pretty much as I pleased. I went all over Paris alone and Florence and other places. When I was 16 another girl and I went on Christmas Eve to the rag market in Rome, all by ourselves.

Impressive Armistice Rites to Be Held Today

Legion Post Threatens to Bolt Ceremony at Arlington Tomb When Hurley Speaks; Solemn and Gay Programs Scheduled.

Washington and the Nation will lift eyes tomorrow toward the wooded hills of Arlington that cradle the body of the Unknown Soldier.

There, the fourteenth anniversary of the armistice will be observed with the dedication of the white marble tomb of the unnamed World War Soldier.

The solemnity of the occasion has been threatened by Victory Post of the American Legion. Members of the drum corps of the post have said that they would not remain at the tomb to listen to the address of the Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley.

They will attend the services, Raymond Burke, president of the post, said, but will leave when Hurley begins to speak. The slight will be in protest to Hurley's part in driving out the bonus expeditionary force. The drum corps will pay their respects at the graves of Eric Carlson and William Hushka, killed by police in the bonus rioting.

National officials of the legion accused the Victory Post of "playing politics" and insisted that they would go through with the program. Secretary Hurley declined to comment.

Not alone at Arlington will the day be celebrated, and the joyous memories of the original Armistice will not be neglected in the observance of the solemn.

Thousands will make their annual pilgrimage to Washington Cathedral, where Woodrow Wilson lies buried in the Bethlehem Chapel.

The joy and abandon of the celebration of the first Armistice will be duplicated at the closing event of the day, the Armistice Jubilee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Washington Auditorium.

Brig. Gen. Percy Miles will be mar-

Another Is Badly Injured in Accident En Route to Hospital.

Catapulted high in the air, to land with terrific force across the fender of a moving automobile, Policeman Ernest C. As the injured policeman was placed in a passing machine for transportation to the hospital, a brother officer, attracted by the explosion, arrived at the scene on his motorcycle. The policeman, Private Wilbert C. Lewis, also attached to the

Pimlico Narcotic Suspects Jailed

Hearings Scheduled and Bail Set for Men Seized at Track.

Baltimore, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Seven men arrested at the Pimlico Race Track yesterday on charges of sale and possession of narcotics went to jail in default of $1,500 bail today after arraignment before United States Commissioner J. Frank Supplee.

William A. Horton, James Davenport, of New Orleans, and Harry McBride, of Norfolk, will be given hearings November 17, and Joseph Troy, of Detroit; Harry McClements, of Chicago; James Carson and Edward Carton will be given hearings November 18.

The men were arrested by Federal narcotic agents and Baltimore detectives after Boyd M. Martin, an agent, said purchases had been made from all the prisoners. At the central police station, the police said, Davenport, an addict, attempted suicide by making a rope of his necktie and belt and hanging himself to the cell bars.

WHITE HOUSE TRUCK RUNS DOWN CHILD, 3

Boy Is Near Death Following Accident in Arlington; Marine Is Held.

Struck by a White House truck, driven by a marine attached to President Hoover's Rapidan camp, William Wood, 3 years old, was probably fatally injured last night at Park Lane avenue and Lee highway in Arlington County.

With his brother, Roy, 9 years old, the child had gone to a road stand near their home on an errand for their mother. Seeing their father in a grocery store across the highway, the children started across to where he was, and apparently were near the middle of the highway when the child was struck.

Hearing a cry, the father, Roy E. Wood, rushed from the store to see Roy dragging his brother from the highway. Putting the child in a car, the father, with a neighbor, rushed him to Georgetown Hospital, where it was found he had suffered a concussion of the brain and a skull fracture.

Apparently the Marine, Private A. B. Bullinger did not see the children, but he realized he had run over some one. Not knowing what to do after becoming aware of the accident, he returned to the White House, where he had previously delivered personal effects of Mrs. Hoover's, and reported it to White House police.

Later he reported the accident at Third Precinct, and subsequently he was turned over to Arlington County authorities, who held him on an open charge.

New Michigan Governor May Free Dry Violators

Detroit, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—William A. Comstock, Democratic governor-elect, said today that "if it is legally possible," he will release all violators of the State prohibition law from prison.

TOLL OF GALE MOUNTS FAST; TOWNS RAZED

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE IN SANTIAGO SECTOR

Destruction Done by Wind and Surf Heavy Along U. S. Atlantic Coast.

Camaguey, Cuba, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 persons were known to have been killed, police said tonight, by the heavy storm which swept over southern Cuba yesterday.

The entire Province of Camaguey lay in waste tonight and the town of Santa Cruz Del Sur on the south coast of Camaguey Province was literally annihilated.

Police described the disaster as the greatest in Cuban history. Hundreds of injured were being cared for in improvised hospitals and as trains came in from the province bearing the injured, it was estimated that the total death toll might reach 1,800.

Two trains have arrived from the countryside and a third is expected tonight. It left here today with a dozen doctors and medical supplies to take first aid to the suffering.

Relief Rushed to Area.

Three trainloads of injured reached Camaguey from Santa Cruz del Sur tonight. A dozen doctors and medical supplies were dispatched to the stricken town this afternoon.

Mayor Umberto Rodriguez, of Camaguey, told the Associated Press tonight that his information from Santa Cruz was that 1,500 were dead and that only 300 persons in the town escaped unscathed. The mayor said a 20-foot wall of water was driven 5 leagues inland by the terrific wind and that not a single house was standing in Santa Cruz.

One survivor brought in by train said many persons were washed into the sea. Various estimates of the number killed were given by survivors. They varied from 300 to more than 1,000.

Crops Are Destroyed.

Vast canefields were laid flat as though brushed by a giant hand. Benana plants were laid down in geometrical rows. Forests of royal palms were halved and uptorn by the roots in Camaguey Province. Trees were converted into brushwood.

The pilot of the first Pan-American airplane to take off from Santiago after the storm said tonight that similar conditions existed east of Camaguey as far as Manzanillo, in Oriente Province. He said Oriente Province was suffering from floods.

The town of Camaguey had 257 buildings completely destroyed, about 1,000 others were damaged. The hospital itself was damaged but nurses and doctors continued to take in patients.

The nearby town of Florida, with a population of 4,000, was reported badly damaged.

Patrolled by Police.

The Mayor of Camaguey said he believed the number of dead in his town would ultimately reach 40. The toll here included sixteen beggars who were sheltered with 200 others in an

G.O.P. ALREADY BUSY ON PLANS FOR 1936

Senator David A. Reed and Secretary Mills Loom as Nominee Timber.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—With smoke still hanging over the political battlefield of 1932, Republican leaders tonight began mapping an aggressive campaign to win back Republican voters who switched their allegiance Tuesday, and to reorganize their own party.

In informal discussions of who will lead the party during the next four years, Senator David Aiken Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Livingston Mills were prominently mentioned by those connected with the Hoover-Curtis ballot-drive.

Both are considered 1936 presidential possibilities.

"Reed's campaign for the Presidency began yesterday," one leader high in administration circles said.

Reed is expected to be one of the dominant Republicans among the 36 who will be in the next Senate. He has two more years to serve, and party leaders expressed confidence he will be reelected.

Aspirations of Mills.

His State was among the seven which remained in the Republican column, and at Eastern headquarters much credit for that showing is given to the senator.

Mills, who will leave administration circles next March, is represented by some of his friends as having definite presidential aspirations.

He was, before and during the campaign, one of the President's most ardent champions and was frequently referred to as "the administration spokesman."

In the Chicago convention, when the fate of the prohibition plank favored by the administration was at stake, it was Mills who lepaed to the platform with oratory that put the opposition to rout.

Wadsworth Likely Leader.

When the Hoover-Curtis campaign seemed to lag, it was Mills who raced from coast to coast upholding the policies and record of his chief.

Even while the Chicago convention was voting on its 1932 nominee, there were delegates who talked of Mills as a likely candidate for 1936.

In the discussions of who will lead the party in the next Congress the name of James Wolcott Wadsworth, jr., is frequently mentioned.

After serving in the Senate for two terms, the New Yorker was elected Tuesday to the House, and he is being looked to by his party chiefs to take an aggressive part in the minority leadership.

1934 and 1936 Goals.

In their plan to point all activities now toward the 1934 and 1936 elections the Republicans expect to set up in Washington an intercampaign organization similar to that which functioned for the Democrats between 1928 and 1932.

The work done by John J. Raskob, Jouett Shouse and Charles Michelson in those four years had much to do with the Democratic victory Tuesday, Republican leaders assert.

A similar organization, under the present plan, would undertake the job of bringing back under the Republican banners those who strayed away this week.

Milbank Is Mentioned.

Jeremiah Milbank, New York banker, is mentioned as one likely to play a part in this interelection activity.

Milbank, it was said at Eastern headquarters, raised most of the money spent in the Hoover-Curtis campaign this year in his capacity as Eastern treasurer.

The Republican budget was $1,500,000, but the actual expenss are expected to top $2,000,000, it was disclosed.

This sum includes what individual States raised and sent to the national committee, but not the money raised and spent in the individual States.

The campaign ended with a deficit of about $200,000, which the Republicans expect to raise without any public drive.

McBride Says Beer Vote Is Not Depression Cure

(Associated Press.)

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, in a statement last night said "the Democrats will have a chance to make good if they recognize that the economic ills primarily responsible for the election of Roosevelt can not be remedied by the legalization of intoxicating liquor."

"If the party misinterprets the election as a mandate for beer and a demand for repeal, it need not hope to succeed," he added. "Most of the wet Democrats who won in this landslide were elected because they were Democrats and not becaus they were wets."

Leas and Davis Enter Supreme Court Appeal

(Associated Press.)

Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher; his son, Luke Lea, jr., and Wallace B. Davis, of Asheville, N. C., yesterday filed in the Supreme Court a petition asking a review of the refusal of the North Carolina Supreme Court to grant them a new trial.

They contended their conviction on charges of conspiracy and misapplication of the funds of the Central Bank & Trust Co. of Asheville should be set aside because of newly discovered evidence and misconduct of the jury. The United States Supreme Court recently refused to review their original appeal from the conviction.

Democrats Proud Of Michigan Vote

Comstock Is Third Man of Party to Be Governor Within 80 Years.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—William A. Comstock, credited with having kept the Democratic party alive in Michigan through many lean winters, takes his place with the only three Democrats who have succeeded in being elected governor of the State in the last 80 years.

Back in 1852 Robert McClelland was elected governor; in 1890, Edwin B. Winans was elected for one term, and in 1912 and 1914 Woodbridge N. Ferris, grand old man of Michigan Democracy, defeated Republican opponents.

No other Democrat ever came close to the Michigan chief executive's chair in the preceding fourscore years.

If the Post thinks she owned the Wardman Park beam and also owned the sky, on election night, don't let us for the world disillusion her. She is quite an old lady, you see, and her health has been failing these last years. Besides, our venerable friend, the Post, is feeling even weaker than usual right now after election—standing there quavering and trying to get up speed enough to do a double flip-flop for Roosevelt.

But just for your private information, let me tell you that on the evening of October 31 the Wardman Park Hotel management gave the Washington Herald permission to utilize their beam. (Of course, we expected right along to do our own borrowing of the sky.)

Chief Engineer, Airway Division

Dear Sir:

We hereby request permission to vary the color of the Airway Beacon located on top of the Wardman Park Hotel, for a period of about thirty minutes, using either red or green slides over the face of this light to broadcast results of the election returns on Tuesday Night, Nov. 8, 1932.

This is to be carried out at the request of and in conjunction with plans of the Washington Post.

Very truly yours,

VICTORY IS ASSURED ROOSEVELT'S PLANS

(Associated Press.)

The stupendous Democratic Congress elected Tuesday assures President-elect Roosevelt of a big advantage in obtaining enactment of his legislative program.

Party leaders expect Democrats in the coming "lame duck" session to look to the President-elect for leadership on legislation, although he does not take office until March 4.

Planks in the Democratic platform calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act, a balanced budget, economy in government and opposition to cancellation of foreign debts are certain to be put into legislative form for the December session.

Senate and House Democratic leaders already have said they are anxious to undertake action on these and other questions, including farm aid, relief and taxation, at the short session.

With the Senate for the remainder of this Congress likely Republican, some Democrats have proposed that an extraordinary session be called by Roosevelt in the event the present assembly is unable to complete action on major legislation. Roosevelt, however, has not committed himself on whether he will call a special session.

In Albany, the President-elect announced that until January 1 most of his time would be occupied with New York gubernatorial problems. Democratic congressional leaders here, though, were told that he wants to talk with them in about ten days. Out of these conferences Democratic legislative plans for the December session no doubt will be formulated to some extent.

Meanwhile, late returns from Tuesday's election shot the Democratic House membership in the Seventy-third Congress to 313. The Republicans were holding 111 and the Farmer-Laborites 4, with 7 of the 435 districts unreported.

The new Senate will be dominated by 59 Democrats, as against 36 Republicans and 1 Farmer-Labor. The Democrats captured 12 Republican seats.

This gives Roosevelt the greatest party strength in Congress a President has had under the present political alignment, and smooths the way for favorable consideration of his legislative proposals.

Curtis Is in Genial Mood Upon Return

Greets Friends at Station With Chuckle; Admits He Is Surprised.

(Associated Press.)

In the chill of early dawn, Vice President Charles Curtis returned to the Capital yesterday, a cheerful grin of greeting on his genial face, despite his first defeat by popular vote in a political career running back to 1884.

Gathered to welcome him at the station on his arrival from his Topeka home by way of Kansas City and Chicago, were members of his office staff and several friends, for each of whom he had a chuckling remark and smile—with no mention of the election.

Asked for his opinion of the Democratic landslide that jarred him from office along with President Hoover, Curtis smilingly replied:

"We were suprised. We expected to surprise the other fellow."

Glenn Voliva Accused Of Marking Zion Votes

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Democrats of Lake County announced today they would protest Tuesday's vote in Zion, the religious colony of which Wilbur Glenn Voliva is overseer.

Joseph Jadwich, of North Chicago, a local Democratic leader, announced after a meeting of citizens there he had received evidence that Voliva presented each of Zion's residents with a ballot, marked the way he wished them to vote.

Alaska Democrat in Lead.

Juneau, Alaska, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The Democratic landslide reached into the northland with Anthony Dimond holding an apparently unbeatable lead for delegate to Congress over James Wickersham, Republican incumbent, and the party today was practically assured of majorities in the Territorial House and Senate.

HOOVER WILL LEAVE PALO ALTO TONIGHT

To Press His Policies When Congress Meets; Silent on Roosevelt Parley.

Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Determined to press the policies of his administration during the next four months, President Hoover today decided to start his return trip to Washington tomorrow night, instead of Saturday as originally planned.

The Chief Executive told his aids it would be necessary for him to be at his White House desk by next Wednesday morning. Train schedules were hurriedly revised and plans for departure from his home made. Indication was given by presidential aids that Mr. Hoover has a definite program he desires to place before Congress when it convenes December 5. The nature of these plans, however, was not disclosed.

One of the President's secretaries when asked concerning reports that Franklin D. Roosevelt would be invited to the White House to confer upon governmental policies, told newspapermen that Mr. Hoover had made no such decision. He left open, however, the possibility of such a conference.

The Chief Executive today devoted himself principally to rest after the strain of the campaign, but held conferences during a two-hour period this afternoon with various California groups and individuals who had requested appointments.

Another day of quiet is planned by the President for tomorrow, Armistice Day. He has written a statement to be read at the ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from the Lincoln Memorial in Washington. Aids said this statement would be made public in the capital.

Several invitations have been given the Hoovers to attend an Armistice Day football game between Army and Navy teams to be held with considerable ceremony at Berkeley.

As with other invitations to attend various ceremonies here, however, the President replied that he wished to spend a quiet day at home with his family.

By his departure tomorrow night he will miss another football game he had planned to attend, the Stanford-California Aggies contest on Saturday at the University Stadium less than a mile from his home.

The President's return trip across the continent will be considerably faster than his journey West, when he stopped at a score of cities and towns for rear platform campaign appearances, and five cities for major political addresses.

Following a different route, the President's party will swing southward on the return trip. A stop of several minutes will be made at Glendale, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles, to allow Mr. Hoover to talk to a group of professional and personal friends.

Crossing Arizona and New Mexico, the route will lead to El Paso, Tex., before swinging northward, to pass through Kansas City and Chicago.

The Hoover home here was quiet during the morning. Mark Requa, a friend of the President and Republican national committeeman from California, conferred with him briefly before noon.

During the remainder of the morning, Mr. Hoover read a book and devoted part of his time to the duties he enjoys as a grandfather, entertaining young Peggy Ann, Peter and Joan Hoover, the small children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr.

Camp on Rapidan May Become Park

Hoover Due to Dedicate It to Nation When He Leaves Office.

(Associated Press.)

A rustic mountain camp high in the Blue Ridge Mountains, dotted with historic spots by four years of presidential use, soon may become part of a national playground.

It lies at the headwaters of the Rapidan River in Virginia, and since it was selected personally by President and Mrs. Hoover just after entering the White House, has spread tiny, semipermanent lodges over a wide area.

It has been indicated at the White House that Mr. Hoover, when he leaves office, may dedicate his camp to the Nation, either as a summer home for future Presidents or for park purposes. The site is surrounded by the proposed Shenandoah National Park, and if Franklin D. Roosevelt does not desire to continue the camp, it may become a part of that park.

DEMOCRATS DEPOSE 12 G.O.P. GOVERNORS

(Associated Press.)

A dozen Republican gubernatorial chairs were blown over in the big Democratic gale and G. O. P. leaders surveying the wreckage last night found themselves in possession of but 9 of the 48 governorships.

The Democracy brought its total to 38, adding 29 to the 9 already held, while the Farmer-Labor party clung to its solitary gubernatorial seat in Minnesota and Republicans were able to resist the storm in only 5 of the 34 elections. Four Republican incumbents were not up for reelection.

Delaware Loyal to G. O. P.

The little group of Republicans who withstood the blast of Democratic ballots were Gov. C. Douglass Buck, in Delaware; John G. Winant, in New Hampshire; William Langer, in North Dakota; Stanley C. Wilson, in Vermont, and Alfred M. Landon, who overturned the Democratic governor, Harry H. Woodring, in Kansas. The G. O. P. was pitched from its seats in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Missouri, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Otherwise, Democratic executives were chosen in Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas and Utah.

Mrs. Ferguson's Victory.

Among them was a woman—Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson, of Texas—elected over unusually stiff Republican opposition.

The plurality of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who takes the place of President-elect Frankin D. Rosevelt at Albany, mounted to landslide proportions over Col. William J. Donovan.

Among the Democratic governors reelected were Wilbur L. Cross, Yale professor, in Connecticut; Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, who nominated Al Smith for the Presidency at Chicago; Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, brother of the late William Jennings Bryan, and George White, of Ohio, who turned back young David S. Ingalls.

Republicans' Help Asked by Swanson

(Associated Press.)

An appeal to Republicans for "generous cooperation" was issued yesterday by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. He said:

"One thing that materially aided the Democrats in obtaining such a decisive victory in the election just past was the fact they unselfishly cooperated with the present administration in its efforts to restore prosperity and end the depression. This evinced to the country that the Democratic party and its leaders were worthy of trust and entitled to the confidence so generously accorded.

"The President-elect and other leaders have shown they are desirous of extending this course for prompt recovery. I hope the Republicans will generously cooperate in all Democratic efforts and unselfishly aid in remedying industrial conditions in this country. The prospects that they will cooperate are very bright."

Former Cabinet Members And Athletes Are Senators

McAdoo and Glass, Once Treasury Heads, Along With Brown and Reynolds, to Supply Color Lost in Defeat of Watson, Moses and Others.

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic sweep on Tuesday removed from the Senate a group of the most colorful men "on the hill," but the Seventy-third Congress will have its share of vivid personalities.

There may not be a senator in the new crop as adept at wisecracking as George Moses, of New Hampshire, or as proficient at backslapping as Jim Watson, of Indiana, or as stern and serious as Reed Smoot, of Utah.

But the Senate will still have color and plenty of it.

William G. McAdoo will make up for a lot that was lost. This tall, lanky Californian will come into the Senate to take his seat on the same side of the chamber with the wiry Carter Glass, of Virginia.

Thus two former Secretaries of the Treasury under the last Democratic administration will sit aside by side once more at the beginning of a new era for their party. And the task that will confront them as senators rivals the job they faced as Cabineteers in the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

From Missouri, too, will come young Champ Clark, the son of the famous Democratic Speaker of the House, who lost the Democratic nomination for President to Wilson at the Baltimore convention of 1912.

Richard B. Russell, jr., just past his thirty-fifth birthday, comes up from Georgia to usurp the place of Bob La Follette, of Wisconsin, as the youngest man in the Senate. Sitting on the Democratic side also will be James P. Pope, at present the mayor of Senator Borah's home town of Boise, Idaho.

The former law partner of Senator Ralston, of Indiana, and the man who made the speech placing Ralston in nomination for the Presidency at the Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden in 1924, will take Jim Watson's place. His name is Frederick Van Nuys.

Senator Moses' successor from New Hampshire, Fred H. Brown, is a former baseball player, said to be the best all-round star Dartmouth has had in the last 30 years. Brown played professional baseball with the Boston Club of the National League.

Robert R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, comes to the Senate heralded as successively "a professional wrestler, a lawyer, a globe trotter and a writer of adventure stories."

Thomas, of Utah, is a doctor of philosophy, author of books on the Orient and a magazine contributor on Oriental affairs and international relations. He also was a missionary to Japan for five years.

In addition to these newcomers, many of the bright personalities of other Senate sessions will be on hand. Borah, of Idaho, always an arresting figure, will step up as dean of the Senate. Huey Long, of Louisiana, may be expected to set off fireworks at any time.

J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, will contribute his resonant voice and sartorial splendor and Hiram Johnson his quick and fiery tongue.

Things won't be dull on the right side of the Capitol next year, even if some of the best showmen will be on an enforced absence.

BATTLE OVER BEER OPENS IN DECEMBER

(Associated Press.)

As late returns continued yesterday to pile up a big antiprohibition majority in the new Congress, wets and drys were marshaling their forces for a battle royal at the coming short session.

Post-election day figures also augmented the margins by which eleven States approved antiprohibition referenda, nine of them repealing either their constitutional or statutory dry laws to join the six States previously without any prohibition statutes whatever.

Meanwhile, Governor-elect William A. Comstock, a Democrat, announced if it were legally possible he would grant a general amnesty to all dry law violators now in Michigan prisons when he assumes the governor's chair.

He based his contemplated step on the fact that the State adopted a proposal eliminating the bone dry law from its constitution and authorizing the Legislature to establish a liquor control commission.

Borah Sees Status Quo.

Senator Borah, Republican prohibitionist from Idaho, expressed to newspapermen the opinion that the short session beginning next month would leave untouched the present prohibition set-up.

Saying he had not changed his views on prohibition and that he was ready to fight now and in the next Congress to retain the dry statutes, the Idahoan added he had never before seen a controversial question disposed of at a three-month sitting of the Congress.

On the other hand, House and Senate Democrats continue to predict enactment of beer legislation at the short session, or at least a vote on the subject.

Senator Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, said:

"I believe the question of modification of the Volstead act will be out of the way by Christmas. The pending business in the Senate will be the Glass resolution, submitting to the States the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and it is probable that this resolution will be acted upon within ten days after the Senate convenes."

Individual Views Sought.

In a letter addressed to every member of the present House and to every representative-elect, Representative O'Connor (Democrat), New York, sought individual views on the form modification legislation should take.

Coauthor of a beer bill at the last session, O'Connor asked particularly about alcoholic content, whether the legislation should restrict the sale of beer to bottles and whether imported ingredients should be permitted in its manufacture.

With only a few congressional districts yet to report, election returns late yesterday showed that on the basis of classifications made by antiprohibition organizations 340 members already elected to the House favor repeal or submission, and 27 in the Senate. Counting holdovers the Senate line-up showed 51 for repeal or submissoin of a modified amendment.

Matthew Woll, chairman of labor's national committee for modification of the Volstead act, said in a statement:

"We are confident of modification in the short session, and our organization is bending every effort to assure that result.

"The election results have made the determination of the American people clear. Fanaticism has been wiped out; reason has been voted in. Volsteadism is done for. The duty of Congress now is clear."

WEST IS BLANKETED BY SNOW AND SLEET

Bitter Weather Is Reported From Great Lakes to Texas Panhandle.

Kansas City, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Snows traced a patchwork pattern tonight from the Great Lakes region to the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian border to the Texas Panhandle. Under murky skies, temperatures ranged from slightly above freezing to 14 at Minot, N. Dak.

The snow was general over Montana, North Dakota, Colorado and southeastern Minnesota, where many roads were blocked by Tuesday's storms, and wires broken by a burden of sleet.

A combination of snow and bitter weather caused the postponement of two football games scheduled for Fargo, N. Dak., Friday. The snow ranged from flurries in Nebraska and Illinois to a maximum of 6 inches in Minnesota.

The first snow of the season fell in large melting flakes in Oklahoma and in the Texas Panhandle today. The fall extended well into the Oklahoma cotton belt. Dropping temperatures were forecast to replace late seasonal warmth in these Southwestern States.

In Taylor County, Iowa, drifts prevented assembling of poll books to complete a tabulation of ballots in Tuesday's election. In Nebraska, Omaha residents trod warily on icy streets amid flurries which added to a 2-inch snow.

The skies of Kansas and Missouri were overcast tonight and temperatures were dropping toward predicted middle 20's.

Some of the temperatures recorded today were 20 above at Miles City, Mont.; 34 at Chicago; 26 at St. Paul; 28 at Omaha, and 50 at Dallas.

2 Buffalo Men Slain In Cafe by Gangsters

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Two men were slain by gangsters in a Seneca street restaurant tonight. Police immediately took up the trail of an automobile driven by an Olean man whose name they said they knew.

The victims were Anthony Bonvita, 31, and Charles (Roxy) Centello, 26, both of Buffalo. Six eye-witnesses were taken to headquarters.

'Electric Palate' Reveals Flavor of Food and Drinks

Acidity and Ripeness of Fruit, Saltiness of Meats and Acid Contents of Tea and Coffee Detected by Invention in Diagnosing Disease Foreseen.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Invention of an "electric palate," a new meter which detects certain fundamentals of flavor in food was announced tonight by the Westinghouse company.

The meter, measuring one-millionth of an ampere, or one-tenth the power of a house fly's wing, detects electric currents constantly flowing in fruit, drinks and meats. It reveals an unending profusion of such currents.

It indicates the acidity and ripeness of fruit, saltiness of meats and acid content of tea and coffee.

It even registers the minute electrical currents flowing in the human tongue, and in this way suggests possibilities of use for diagnosis of disease.

The meter, called an electrynx, and smaller than a baseball, was invented by R. C. Hitchcock, electronic engineer. It is a cylindrical object, a dial on one face and two needle-like legs on the other.

When these needles are thrust into an unripe apple, Mr. Hitchcock said, the electric current is high. When the apple is ripe the current becomes low. Rot is shown by a rising current.

"Canners and preservers of fruit and vegetables," said Mr. Hitchcock, "may be able to keep the flavors of their products at a given standard with this instrument, because it will be possible for the samplers at orchards and fruit exchanges to select raw products more scientifically. With further development it may be that the whole system of sampling and testing will be affected."

Fruit with a very sour taste registers a higher current than a sweet fruit. Of those tested California lemons went highest, with 19 points on the dial, Italian lemons were second with 15 and oranges were lowest with 5½.

Vegetables registered like fruits, but no general averages have been looked for yet in the vegetable kingdom.

Only one meter has been made so far. Upon its merits, raw and cooked alike, showed electric currents too large for the dial to record. The readings, however, indicated that saltiness of meat shows by electrical effects.

"Other tests," said Mr. Hitchcock, "were with the acid condition of the mouth, the palm of the hand, the hair and other parts of the body. It is predicted that with further development of this apparatus, the days of sticking out your tongue for the physician may be past."

The needles are only touched to the tongue or the body, without penetrating the skin. The readings appear to register body acidity and alkalinity. If this proves a fact, the meter may be found useful in determing the "ph" of living things. The "ph" is the scientific term for the universal condition of men, plants and animals, which requires them to maintain an extremely fine balance between acidity and alkalinity. Even small departures from this narrow zone mean illness or death.

REALTY MEN ASK CHARGES OF RENT "PACT" MADE PUBLIC

velope. This charge was made last June. In fairness to us we ought to have the matter settled."

A number of real estate men in the committee room applauded.

"I haven't withdrawn the statement," Brinkman replied. "The time hasn't come to open the envelope."

Earlier Brinkman charged the Washington Real Estate Board and other realty interests have not supplied him with information sought by the committee. Officials of the board, subpenaed to appear, countered that Brinkman himself had not cooperated with them.

During questioning of witnesses Senator Copeland interposed several times in the role of peacemaker. He reiterated the committee's determination, however, to carry the investigation through to completion. He advised witnesses to answer all questions on Brinkman's questionnaire, even those they claimed are nonrelevant, suggesting contempt of Senate proceedings against those who failed to comply.

Study Being Made.

It was the contention of Mr. Bowie, who also spoke for H. L. Rust & Co., that much of the data already has been supplied the Department of Justice, and that Mr. Brinkman could supplement his information from a report to the department, which Mr. Bowie produced. He argued that the Washington Real Estate Board has a "more complete" questionnaire circulating among its members, and will have an analysis ready by December 1.

First to testify were James P. Schick, vice president of the Real Estate Board, and Charles J. Rush, secretary of the board. Both pledged cooperation in the committee's investigation.

Brinkman charged the board's minutes were denied him Wednesday. Both officers testified the records were withheld only long enough for new officials elected last month to familiarize themselves with the situation and with Brinkman's right to examine the data. Had Mr. Brinkman remained at the office, he would have been offered the records Wednesday, they said.

Other Testimony.

T. F. Schneider, who said he owned 8 or 9 apartments, testified he did not have the facilities for compiling data asked by Mr. Brinkman, but he would willingly open his books to the committee.

Robert W. Savage, who manages three apartment houses, asked for information on Brinkman's authority to require that his questionnaire be answered. Senator Copeland advised Mr. Savage to answer the questionnaire. Subpenas issued for the two were continued until November 28, when another hearing will be held.

H. E. Doyle, vice president of Thomas J. Fisher Co., said he would see that his firm answered the questionnaire this week. He testified that apartment vacancies have reached 14 or 15 per cent in Washington, against a former average of 7 or 8 per cent. Construction costs here have gone down 25 per cent, he said.

ROADS WOULD KEEP I. C. C. FREIGHT RAISE

Railways to Ask Retention of Commission Ruling Increasing Rates.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The railroads of the country will shortly petition the Interstate Commerce Commission to continue the "emergency" 10 per cent increase in freight rates authorized by the commission last year.

The roads decided to take this step at the annual session of the Association of the Railway Executives held today at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The session of the association followed an earlier meeting of advisory council of the association.

When the commission allowed the selective 10 per cent raise in freight rates it was a compromise in the carriers' application for blanket advance of 15 per cent. The commission stipulated that the increased tariffs be ordered in the nature of surcharges to be pooled for the benefit of roads which were finding it difficult or impossible to cover their fixed charges.

Rail Credit Organized.

This led to the formation of the Railroad Credit Corporation with powers to function in behalf of railroad credit until March 31, 1933. After that date, unless otherwise provided, the credit corporation will become a liquidating entity to clear up indebtedness already made.

In its statement issued after today's meeting the association did not make it entirely clear whether the credit corporation would be expected to continue its functions as a railroad credit pool, or whether each individual road would seek to retain the increase in tariffs for its own benefit.

The announcement read as follows:

"The association of railway executives decided to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to continue in effect the increase in freight rates allowed by the commission in ex parte 103. Under the decision of the commission the increased rates are automatically terminated on March 31, 1933, unless the commission should otherwise order.

Former Group Named.

"The Association of Railway Executives designated the committee of executives which formerly handled the original application of the railroads to handle in cooperation with its general counsel the request for a continuation of the present rates."

Other major problems confronting the railroad industry were discussed at the meeting, but there was no comment as to the trend of such discussion. The matter of cooperative action by the railroads and competitive highway users was discussed informally, it was said.

POLICEMAN INJURED BY MANHOLE BLAST

Traffic Bureau, immediately started up Pennsylvania avenue, clearing traffic for the ambulance car.

At a high rate of speed the two vehicles raced toward Emergency Hospital. En route, Policeman Lewis encountered heavy traffic and was forced to fall in behind the machine bearing the injured officer.

At Fourteenth street Lewis swerved his motorcycle sharply to avoid striking a street car loading platform. The heavy traffic, however, refused to open up and the officer was crowded against the safety zone.

A wheel of his motorcycle sidecar caught on the wooden platform. Unable to slacken his speed, the policeman was hurled several feet to the pavement, and before he was able to rise, the motorcycle, after hurtling over three times, toppled onto his prostrate form.

Meanwhile, the automobile carrying Policeman Lucas reached the hospital. Hardly had the injured man been admitted to the emergency room, when a taxicab arrived with Lewis.

Both policemen were found to have suffered severe injuries. Lucas received a fractured right leg and deep lacerations, while Lewis suffered a fractured shoulder, severe bruises and possible internal injuries.

Cause of Blast Unknown.

No definite cause was given for the exposion. Witnesses declared Lucas was hurled more than 8 feet in the air.

Stationed at the intersection to direct traffic, Lucas had just turned his signal, giving traffic on Pennsylvania the right of way. Those who were watching said a deafening roar split the air, and Lucas, with his signal light, was seen to hurtle through space. A manhole cover was also thrown into the air.

The policeman was standing directly on top of the manhole when the explosion occurred. His body was hurled for more than 10 feet and he landed on the machine of James E. Geary, of 479 H street southwest.

Described by Witness.

As Geary told the story, the explosion happened without warning and Lucas had no chance to move. Geary declared:

"I had just received the signal to proceed along Pennsylvania. I was traveling toward the Capitol. Hardly had I reached the center of the intersection, when the terrific explosion occurred.

"I instinctively ducked my head," Geary continued, "and when I opened my eyes I saw the policeman hurtling toward my car. He struck the side and lay still across a front fender."

It was explained that the policeman directing traffic at that intersection must stand directly over the manhole, as it is in the exact center of the street. Accumulated gases, brought on by damp weather, was advanced as a possible cause of the explosion.

The same kind of accident has occurred in many sections of the city on other occasions. Several persons were injured about a year ago when a manhole exploded at Twelfth and U streets northwest.

2 Detectives on Guard As Walker Boards Ship

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Former Mayor James J. Walker sailed on an unannounced trip abroad today aboard the liner Conte Grande.

Walker, accompanied only by his valet, Greenhouse, boarded the vessel five hours before sailing time and remained secluded in his quarters. Two private detectives were stationed outside his door.

Line-Up of New House On Incomplete Returns

Associated Press returns from congressional districts last night on contests for the 435 seats in the new House of Representatives showed:

Democrats elected, 313; present Congress, 218.

Republicans elected, 111; present Congress, 209.

Farmer-Labors elected, 4; present Congress, 1.

Still doubtful, 7.

Necessary for a majority, 218.

Adam's Rib?

Skeletons of Eskimos Are Found to Have One Too Many.

That rib of Adam's has popped up in Alaska after all these years.

Missing since the beginning of things in Eden's mellow climate, the rib has appeared in the icy wastes of the North.

But getting down to brass tacks and the Smithsonian Institution's explanation of the fact that male Eskimos may be acquiring an extra rib, we have the following facts.

In the examination of 200 Eskimo skeletons by Dr. T. D. Stewart, physical anthropoligist of the institution, 12 per cent had 25, instead of the usual 24, presacral vertebrae.

This was present in 16 per cent of the males and in only 1 per cent of the females.

Stewart's observations, it was said, may prove a striking exception to the view of scientists that the human body has gone up in the scale of evolution to a highly specialized position where it shows little tendency to vary.

ARMISTICE SESSION HELD BY KIWANIANS

Pantheon de La Guerre Is Viewed by Local and Virginia Clubs.

A joint Armistice Day meeting of the Washington, Alexandria and Arlington County, Va., Kiwanis Clubs was held yesterday in the Pantheon de la Guerre building, New Jersey avenue and C street northwest, to hear addresses by the Rev. John C. Palmer, grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons, and other prominent guests and officials of the clubs.

Following a luncheon, the meeting viewed the huge World War painting housed in the building. A pause of reverence was made when the group reached the scene depicting the Tomb of the Dead, members and guests stood with bowed heads, while taps were sounded by a Marine Corps bugler.

The Rev. Edward H. Roach, of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, offered invocation at the opening of the session.

Guests of honor included Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, commandant of the Marine Corps; Capt. F. D. Lejeune, Assistant Military Attache of the British Embassy; Brig. Gen. Francois Pillon Military Attache of the French Embassy; Assistant Secretary of War Frederick H Payne and others.

Fairfax Hunt Club Opens Field Today

Fox Chase to Commence From Brown's Home Near Dranesville.

The Fairfax Hunt Club will open formally the fox-hunting season in Fairfax County, Va., this morning, with the field starting from Kenmore, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rothwell Brown, on the Alexandria-Leesburg pike, between Tysons Cross Roads and Dranesville. All the traditions and customs of the old English fox hunt will be observed.

The chase will be followed by a hunt breakfast in the picturesque clubhouse at Sunset Hills, on the estate of A. Smith Bowman, M. F. H. The whips of this morning's hunt will be DeLong Bowman and Huntley Finch, with M. S. Hatcher as huntsman.

GENEVA IS PREPARED TO SMASH RADICALS

Ample Troops on Hand to Restore Order After 11 Are Slain.

Geneva, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—About 1,500 troops of the national army and militia were ordered to stand ready today for possible recurrence of rioting, which last night caused at least eleven deaths in this international "peace" capital.

The government also issued a proclamation forbidding assemblages in public places and calling on citizens to assist authorities in maintaining order. The proclamation said:

"Police and troops have been attacked. Order has been restored. The council of state decided to maintain order and act energetically against all disturbers."

Young troops called from Lausanne turned machine guns on a crowd outside a packed political meeting last night, killing eight persons instantly and wounding at least 60 others, 2 of them fatally. One soldier was slain by the angry mob.

The crowd had hissed the soldiers and called them "children's troops." The shooting climaxed weeks of agitation between Socialists and the local Geneva government. Some newspapers said the crowd was armed with clubs and pepper.

Leon Nicole, Socialist newspaper editor, was arrested today and charged with fomenting revolution. His paper condemned the affray as a "massacre," and declared the crowd was orderly until the soldiers appeared. It asserted the soldiers fired without ordering the crowd to disperse.

It published an appeal by the executive committee of the Socialist party for "general action of solidarity and defense," and concluded: "Down with Fascism."

The newspaper Le Journal said Nicole was haranguing the crowd before the riot. It quoted him as saying "to the government which has mobilized against us the police and the army, we must respond by revolution."

The anti-Socialists passed a resolution denouncing Nicol and Jacques Dicker, lawyer and naturalized Russian, as "in the service of a foreign power." Two newspapers today blamed Dicker and Nicole for the tragedy.

Hoover Is Praised For Party Service

Republicans of District Wire President Pledge of Future Loyalty.

A telegram of appreciation for his services to the Nation was sent yesterday to President Hoover by the Republican committee for the District. Regret at the election's result and a pledge of continued support to him as head of the party were expressed in the wire.

Signers of the telegram were Samuel J. Prescott, chairman of the committee; Edward F. Colladay, national committee, and Virginia White Speel, national committeewoman.

old building on the outskirts of the town. It was feared such ruins would reveal other bodies.

Camaguey was in the hands of mounted policemen tonight as a bright moon brought the tragedy into sharp relief.

The injured from Santa Cruz were taken to the Municipal Hospital as the trains arrived. Doctors said they had 76 from that small town. Eighty-six others were in the Casa de Socorros and twelve more were in the Spanish colony's hospital.

An unknown number of injured were being cared for in private homes here which had been fitted out as hospitals.

Vast Sugar Stores Lost.

Two million sacks of sugar were believed a total loss. Telephone, telegraph and all forms of electric service were cut off.

Reports were received from Moron that Pilot McNight, of the Pan-American Airways, found a great part of the City of Manzanillo, on the southeast coast of Oriente Province, was flooded. Trees and poles were reported blown down between Manzanillo and Moron. Messages from there said wooden buildings were flattened in Camaguey City and other towns. Two or three persons were reported injured in Moron.

Boston, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—A terrific rain and wind storm that lashed the coast and central portions of the New England States abated this afternoon, leaving much damage and a heavy surf in its wake.

Another Storm Due.

The United States Weather Bureau reported the storm had gone off in a northeastward direction, but that another probably of as great intensity, was due within 48 hours. The approaching storm was coming out of the southwest.

The heavy downpour of rain, recorded here as more than 2 inches since late last night, disrupted railroad schedules in some places and flooded many cellars. Surf 50 feet high broke against the sea wall at Winthrop, covering the roads with rocks. Many shore roads along the coast were inundated. Falling trees broke many communication wires in eastern Massachusetts and southern Vermont and New Hampshire. Wind velocity of 50 to 60 miles was reported in some places.

Shipping was completely tied up in Boston Harbor until afternoon and many other vessels hove to in Massachusetts Bay until the storm passed.

The water front of Baltimore was recovering from the effects of a gale, which was described as the worst in fourteen years along the Chesapeake Bay and Baltimore Harbor.

The high wind, accompanied by light rain, was said by the Weather Bureau to have attained a velocity of 55 miles an hour late yesterday, driving vessels to shelter, battering small craft and piers and interrupting airplane service in and out of Baltimore.

The Maryland Yacht Club was hit the hardest as one craft, a $5,000 yacht, was sunk and several small piers were wrecked. One hundred and eight seven boats, valued at $1,000,000, were tied up at the club.

Colon, Panama, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The steamer Sunoil, in the hurricane area 40 miles south of San Salvador, reported by radio today that all its lifeboats and the starboard wing of its bridge were smashed and its ventilators carried away.

A message was received from the steamship Nordhaven that it was aground on Confities, north of Cuba.

Hurricane Skips Bahamas.

Nassau, Bahamas, Nov. 10 (U.P.).—The tropical hurricane which swept across central Cuba yesterday apparently had passed east of the Bahamas today into the open sea.

The wind here reached a maximum force of 48 miles an hour at 5 a. m. It lessened in intensity through the day and the barometer continued rising.

Lower Italy Is Swept By Floods and Storms

Reggio di Calabria, Italy, Nov. 10 (A. P.).—Sixteen persons were known to have been killed in the Province of Reggio di Calabria as a result of storms which swept the toe of the Italian peninsula.

Most of the victims were caught in the collapse of houses undermined by heavy rains and flood waters. Nine of the dead were in the village of Grotteria and seven at Mammola.

Heavy storms also were reported in other regions of Italy, where there was considerable crop damage.

(Associated Press.)

The Red Cross asked the Cuban Red Cross if it requires assistance as the result of the hurricane.

The message expressed the sympathy of the American headquarters and asked for a report on the extent of the destruction.

BALDWIN RAPS TALK OF IMPENDING WAR

Sir John Simon, in Debate, Lists Principles to Aid in Disarmament.

London, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, closed a debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons tonight with the statement that he did not believe another war was just around the corner.

"I do not think that we have seen the last great war," the Conservative leader said, "but I do not think that we shall see another just yet."

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, said during the course of the debate that the limitation imposed on Germany's armaments by the League of Nations should be lifted and that Germany and the rest of the world should give solemn assurances not to attempt to settle present or future differences by resort to force.

Sir John listed several principles which he said would help to solve the disarmament problem: First—The limitations imposed on German armament by the treaty of Versailles be lifted, and that there be substituted a limitation expressed in a document which would apply also to the arms of other nations.

Second—That the duration of such a disarmament convention should be the same for all countries, including Germany.

Third—That the British government is willing to cooperate with other members of the disarmament conference to see that the principle of equality in the prohibited classes of armaments is embodied in the new document.

'ARMISTICE DAY RITES TO ATTRACT CROWDS

shal of the parade, in which former service men, units of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will march.

The procession will begin at 9:45 o'clock from the Ellipse and will reach Arlington at 11 a. m. as the Secretary of War, representing the President, places a wreath on the Unknown's tomb.

Secretary Hurley will make a dedicatory address. The ceremony is in charge of the American Legion. The Rev. Irvin Q. Wood, national chaplain, will deliver the invocation. This will be followed by the reading of a message from President Hoover by Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice president of the District Bicentennial Commission.

Secretary Hurley will be introduced by Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the Legion. Col. Julian E. Yates, chief of Army chaplains, will pronounce the benediction.

Representative of France.

Beginning at noon, organizations including "The Seven" war-time relief agencies, District Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves, Veterans of Foreign Wars and several others will place wreaths on the Tomb.

Col. Francois Pillon, military attache of the French Embassy, will visit the Tomb at 10 a. m. and lay two wreaths upon the Tomb.

The Washington Cathedral program will include a 3:15 p. m. service in the Bethlehem Chapel and a choral evensong in the Great Choir at 4 p. m. Newton D. Baker will deliver tribute to President Wilson.

Service at the Tomb in the chapel will be led by Bishop James E. Freeman and prayer will be offered by the Rev. Dr. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, where Wilson attended.

At the Washington Auditorium tonight the hall will be converted into a street in Armentieres. Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford will be mayor and master of ceremonies.

The national service flag will be raised at the Capitol at 11 a. m. under the auspices of the American Gold Star mothers, Mrs. Virgil H. Stone presiding. A short address will be made by Col. Richard T. Ellis, U. S. A., who was chief of graves registration during the Gold Star pilgrimage of 1932.

Solemn High Mass.

A solemn high Armistice mass will be celebrated at 12:15 p. m. in the chapel of the Church of the Immaculate Conception under auspices of Costello Post of the American Legion. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney will be the celebrant.

St. John's Lodge, F. A. A. M., will hold an Armistice Day program for former service men at Masonic Temple in connection with its regular meeting. Senior Warden Paul J. Bergh will be in charge.

At 8 p. m. in the Mayflower Hotel, a special memorial service to the nursing personnel of the armed forces of the Nation will be held. Addresses will be made by Dr. H. C. Fowler, president of the District Medical Society; Rear Admiral C. E. Riggs, Navy surgeon general; Brig. Gen. Matthew A. Delaney, assistant Army surgeon general, and Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York.

The American Legion Armistice Day ball will be held at the Mayflower Hotel tonight.

Department store managers yesterday announced that they would observe a one-minute period of silence at 11 a. m., at which time all activity will cease in tribute to the World War dead.

Hyattsville Couple Asks $25,000 in Boy's Death

A damage suit asking $25,000 for the death of a 2-year-old child was filed in Marlboro Circuit Court yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Clark, of Hyattsville, against the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The child, Dale Clark, was killed, apparently by a bus, in Hyattsville last July. The driver of the bus was held, but released after a hearing. The suit, filed through Attorney J. F. Lillard, is brought in the name of the State of Maryland, for the use of Arthur W. Clark and Dorothy M. Clark.

ROOSEVELT IS FOND OF SEA IN SPITE OF NEAR TRAGEDY

bedraggled condition that his mother would ask in alarm:

"Where have you been?"

"Oh, out in the woods," he would reply.

"What doing?"

"Climbing trees."

Was Fond of Trees.

The boy was extremely fond of trees. Much as he admired his illustrious cousin, "T. R.," he never could understand the latter's propensity for cutting them down.

"I like to plant trees," he said darkly, "not cut them down."

At the age of eleven he astonished his parents by asking for a gun. He wanted to shoot birds, he explained, so he could mount them. His collection of stuffed birds can be seen at Hyde Park.

Recognizing young Roosevelt's interest in ornithology, his grandfather, Delano Roosevelt, presented him with a life membership in the National History Museum in New York. When he was 14, a biographer, Ernest K. Lindley, relates, he and his tutor set out to inspect the birds in the South Kensington Museum, in London. On arriving there they found the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, was opening a new wing, and admittance was by card only.

Roosevelt remembered his certificate of membership in the Natural History Museum, but felt too young to pose as its owner and handed it to his tutor, who presented it at the gate. The liveried doorman studied it a bit, then bowed, bade them enter and accorded them "all the courtesies due distinguished scientists."

Roosevelt's earliest teachers were his parents and tutors. French was spoken freely in the household and Roosevelt studied German, Italian and Spanish as well. When he entered Groton at the age of 14, then, he was placed immediately in the third form.

He went out for all sports, added his tenor to the glee club, and since he early had developed into a proficient talker, excelled at debating. "T. R.," then governor of New York, was a frequent visitor at the school.

Four years later he entered Harvard, a tall, slender youth who quickly won many enduring friendships. His first year at the university was saddened by his father's death.

Probably the most widely circulated story of his college years is how, as editor of the Crimson, he waged a vigorous campaign for the installation of fire escapes on the dormitories. His fight won, he commented editorially:

"Truly the university will be an ideal place—when it is finished."

Although he completed his undergraduate work in three years, Roosevelt elected to return for a fourth year, specializing in government, politics and sociology.

Following graduation, his engagement to Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a cousin six times removed and the niece of "T. R." was announced.

The wedding took place on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1905, in New York City, and President Theodore Roosevelt himself gave the bride away. After the ceremony he remarked:

"Well, Franklin, there's nothing like keeping the name in the family."

(It was not long after he graduated from college until Roosevelt became a "freshman" in politics. He was spoiling for a fight and he soon got it, as tomorrow's article will tell).

WAR WAS MY EMANCIPATION, NEW FIRST LADY DECLARES

"Nothing ever happened to me. I don't suppose I was ever really in any danger. I was a very plain child.

"That was my first taste of freedom. Not that I was at all rebellious. As a matter of fact, I never questioned my grandmother's ideas. They were of my time and my environment. But it did arouse my interest. I wanted to know people—all kinds of people.

"The next glimpse came the winter before I was married. I had made my debut, acquiring a lasting distatse for formal society. Somebody told me about a settlement house down on Rivington street. I used to go down there and amuse the children and teach them calisthenics.

"Then I was married, and for the next ten years it never occurred to me to do anything outside my own home. My children were born—six in ten years. I had the same trained nurse with them all, and from her I learned that work could be fun.

Spent War Days Here.

"Then we went into the war. Instead of making calls, I found myself spending three days a week in a canteen down in the railroad yards, one afternoon a week, distributing free wool for the Navy League, two days a week visiting the Naval Hospital, and contributing whatever time I had left to the Navy Red Cross and the Navy Relief Society.

"I loved it. I simply ate it up. When Franklin went over on the destroyer in 1918 I sent the children to their grandmother in Hyde Park and spent the summer in Washington, living alone in the house with one servant and going every day to the canteen.

"After that—well, you can see what would happen, can't you? When we first came back to New York in 1921 I was pretty restless. I just had to do something." I studied cooking and I went to business school—I can't do much on a typewriter, but I do use all my fingers.

"Franklin's illness came along. I dropped things for a time. He was in a hospital that first winter, and I used to go there every day and take care of him while the nurse took her afternoon off. He was grand about his illness, you know. In fact, never once have I heard him say that what happened to him was hard, or disagreeable, or out of the ordinary.

Learned and Taught Swimming.

"I found other things to do—things that I loved. The two youngest boys had not yet learned to swim. It looked as though their father might never be able to teach them. So I went to the Y. W. C. A. and learned to swim so I could teach them. And I loved it.

"Presently he began to get better, and I had more free time. I got into the League of Women Voters—I who had never really had any convictions at all when woman suffrage was an issue. And then I became interested in politics. The rest—I think you know."

The wife of the President-elect of the United States smiled and picked up a book.

"I think I had better get to work on next Monday's history," she said. "If the teacher is not well prepared, you know, the children very quickly catch on."

(Mrs. Roosevelt's one-third share in an automobile, her indefatigable energy and many other interesting details are revealed in the third and last story which will appear tomorrow.)

ROOSEVELT DUE TO FIGHT CANADIAN WATERWAY PACT

son and Canadian Minister Herridge last July 18.

The opposition from the authorities in the State of the President-elect came from another cause as well. This is the division of costs that affect the State and Federal Governments.

Under the present form of the treaty, the two countries have agreed to the construction of two dams that will furnish valuable hydroelectric energy for the cities and towns on both sides of the international boundary. The State of New York insists that only one dam is necessary and confutes the position taken by the Federal Government out of courtesy to the Ottawa government. The Canadan proposal included a two-dam project. The original proposal approved by the State of New York called for only one.

Under the two-dam system, the cost assessed to the State of New York would be $150,000,000, while the one-dam project would amount to only $75,000,000. Thus the State Department would have the New York Legislature appropriate enough money to take care of the Canadian project, while the American project would cost only half as much.

Borah Not Satisfied.

Senator Borah himself does not seem to be satisfied with the treaty in its present form and believes that some points of it require still further careful consideration and study.

The senator from Idaho is much concerned over that proviso in the treaty which provides for the creation of an international commission for the control of a vast body of water entirely within the territorial confines of the United States. This is the commission which is charged with the administration of the waters of Lake Michigan. Such a policy, it was recalled here, would be contrary to all precedent and might prove embarrassing to the United States at some future time.

The economic aspects of the project fail to satisfy the scruples of Senator Borah and Senator Couzens, who profess to see in the proposed all-water route from the Great Lakes to the sea an additional handicap for the already impoverished railroads of the country.

Railway Fight Likely.

This seaway will be closed to navigation four or five months of the year and railways under the necessity of making operating expenses and maintaining a huge volume of rolling stock might very rightly object to the waterways getting the business at the peak of the traffic.

Some of the claims that have been put forward on behalf of the all-water route are being studied with some skepticism in senatorial quarters opposed to the treaty. To the opposition of the State of New York and the President-elect have been added the doubts of the feasibility of the proposed 27-foot channel. This channel, to be used by ocean-going steamers, may be found inadequate to the needs of recently constructed cargo boats and the necessity of finding inbound cargos for these bottoms has thrown another difficulty in the way.

The project has several beneficent phases which will be approved by popular support in the agricultural centers of the Middle West, but it is feared that not enough study has been given to the measure as a whole.

Women Are Robbed Of $1,365 in Jewelry

When they returned home yesterday afternoon, Miss Edith Barrett and Miss Leliah Hemstock, 1445 Spring road northwest, found their apartment ransacked and all their jewelry, valued at $1,365, stolen.

They told police the burglar had jimmied a door. The jewelry included several valuable necklaces and earrings.

Woman Badly Hurt When Hit by Auto

Is in Undetermined State at Hospital; Driver Being Held.

Struck by an automobile as she crossed the street in front of her home last night, Mrs. Cecilia Woodson, of 1601 Monroe street northeast, was painfully injured. Her condition was described as undetermined at Casualty Hospital last night.

Mrs. Woodson was said to have suffered severe shock, and a possible fracture of her left leg as well as minor lacerations. Sam Maizel, 23, of 604 Park road northwest, operator of the automobile that hit Mrs. Woodson, was held by Fifth Precinct police, pending the outcome of the woman's injuries.

Mrs. Woodson is the mother of A. P. Woodson, Brookland coal dealer.

22 BELIEVED DEAD ON LOST SHIP SAFE

All But Two on Church Boat Sunk in Pacific Escape Waves.

Suva, Fiji Islands (Friday), Nov. 11 (A.P.).—Four officers, three engineers and a crew of 15 Solomon Islanders from the little British mission ship Southern Cross VI, which sank off the Island of Ameityum, in the New Hebrides, last week were reported today to have reached shore on a coral reef.

All were said to have suffered severe injuries during their struggle to land through huge waves. No mention was made of the fate of two Anglican missionaries known to have left the 150-foot motorship when she went down.

The Rev. R. De Vell, 27 years old, former curate of Oxhey, near London, was one of the missionaries. The name of the other one was not learned.

The Southern Cross VI, a virtual floating church, was on her maiden voyage from London. She was designed for use in the South Pacific Islands, which form the group called the Melanesia.

The Southern Cross VI, a craft of only 230 tons, sank during a storm. Officers, crew and the two missionaries were said to have reached a small unnamed island and to have left it Monday for the island of Vila aboard a small launch.

They had been missing for four days and hope was beginning to wane when news of their survival reached this port.

Arlington Official Vote Figure Given

Post Ballot Tabulation on Wednesday Forecast Result Accurately.

The official count of the election vote in Arlington County, Va., as announced by the commissioners of election yesterday, gave Roosevelt 3,285 as against 2,806 for Hoover. Figures appearing in The Washington Post within twelve hours after the polls closed differed with the official count by only a small margin.

The tabulation of votes, appearing in The Post Wednesday morning, gave Roosevelt 3,290, and Hoover 2,752.

The official counts of other candidates follow:

For House of Representatives—Smith, 3,811; Bland, 3,454; Darden, jr., 3,359; Montague, 3,471; Drewry, 3,396; Burch, 3,537; Woodrum, 3,694; Flannagan, jr., 3,476; Wise, 2,136; Lankford, 2,276; Scott, 2,134; McWane, 2,218; Garber, 2,329; Chase, 2,176; Berkeley, 1,155; Brown, 1,326; Gordon, jr., 445; Royal, 202; Dawson, 200; Ansell, 183; Dunning, jr., 453; George, 194; Norris, 174; Spaulding, 1,053.

Arlington County Opens Red Cross Drive Today

Appealing to the citizens of Arlington County, Va., to rally to the support of the American Red Cross in its drive for a membership of 1,500 persons in the annual roll call drive starting today, Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board, yesterday issued a statement which read in part:

"The Red Cross is the recognized relief agency throughout the Nation. It is chartered by Congress, headed by the President of the United States, and accorded the cooperation of the Federal Government. In the unemployment crisis it has borne a great relief responsibility. It has been the authorized medium for distribution of Farm Board wheat and cotton to those in need of flour, live stock feed and clothing. Its volunteers have been unstinting in devotion to the task of collecting and distributing supplies, and in production of finished goods from materials."

Armistice Program at Falls Church.

The pupils of the James Madison School in Falls Church, Va., will hold an Armistice Day celebration today in the auditorium of the school. The Rev. Clarence Stuart McClellan, pastor of the Old Falls Episcopal Church, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "Who Follows in Their Train?" The program will begin at 11 o'clock, with special patriotic music.

CUT IN ALEXANDRIA TAX RATE PROPOSED

Council Takes Up Question of Reduction From $2.40 to $2.20.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

The annual budget, presented to the Alexandria City Council last night and placed on its first reading provides for a tentative reduction in the tax rate from $2.40 to $2.20 on the $100 assessed valuation. The estimated receipts of the city for 1933 are $661,000, and the new budget carries appropriations of $632,175. The new tax rate is estimated to save the taxpayers approximately $40,000. A reduction in the appropriation for schools of $26,000 is proposed.

The salaries of all city officials and employes will be reduced, those receiving less than $1,000 a year being cut 5 per cent, while the higher paid ones will be cut 10 per cent, the average reduction being estimated at 8½ per cent. It is claimed that while practically every department of the city government has been cut down in its expenditures, the efficiency of none will be in any way impaired by the reductions.

In some items in the contingent fund a balance is set up amounting to approximately $35,000 to take care of necessary expenses which may be incurred other than those especially enumerated in each department.

The tentative ordinance must be advertised for a public hearing within fifteen days, and it can not be finally adopted under 30 days.

A resolution was adopted that the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Electric Railway be required to immediately begin the work of removing its tracks, poles and equipment from the city streets. Councilman Barley stated that the council is being treated in an evasive manner by the owner of the railway, which was to have started this work by October 1.

Armistice Day will be observed by Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, with a special program at 8 o'clock this evening at Gadsby's Tavern. Hannon E. Norris, Americanism chairman for the post, is chairman.

The speaker will be Maj. George E. Patton, executive officer of Fort Myer. The regular legion ritual will be observed and a program of entertainment follows.

The drum and bugle corps of the post will give a dance at 10 o'clock in the armory.

Mrs. Julia McWhorter, 212 Prince street, was injured at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning when the chimney of an adjoining house crashed into the second floor of her home. Mrs. McWhorter was cut by broken window glass. The home of Charles K. Rambo, at 214 Prince street, also was damaged by the falling brick.

Alexandria Chapter, American Red Cross, will hold a meeting at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon to outline plans for the annual roll call to start today. Armistead L. Boothe is general chairman for the drive.

The Red Cross will move headquarters from the George Mason Hotel to the Westminster Building today. The new quarters will not be opened for sewing until Monday at 10 a. m.

T. W. McHugh, retiring president of Potomac Truck and Engine Company, No. 2, was presented with a gold past president's cap shield Wednesday night at a special meeting of the company.

The new president, R. A. Roseberry, named the following standing committee: Executive, R. A. Roseberry, S. J. Hammersley, sr., S. B. DeVaughan, M. G. Long and A. V. Brown; ways and means, L. A. Huff, J. R. Elliott, J. W. Gladden; banquet and entertainment, S. B. DeVaughan, M. L. Jaeger and A. V. Brown; membership and sick, J. H. Dabney, J. W. Dameron and L. S. Devers, and house and property, L. S. Evans, W. T. Sheffield and C. E. Lucas.

Autoists Warned of Monoxide.

Montgomery County motorists were warned to open their garage doors before starting their automobile motors these cold days in a statement issued yesterday by Dr. V. L. Ellicott, county health officer. Dr. Ellicott warns that carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust are colorless, odorless and tasteless, and render the victim unconscious before he feels any effect.

OFFICIAL VOTE SETS RECORD IN FAIRFAX

Roosevelt Leads Hoover by Two to One; Long Ballot Held Confusing.

A voting record was established in Fairfax County, Va., Tuesday, when a total of 4,364 votes was cast, according to the official report of the county board of election canvassers yesterday. The board is composed of Samuel H. Styles, of Falls Church; E. J. Nevitt, of Mount Vernon; A. J. Kidwell, of Clifton; J. C. Hunter, of Vienna, and B. W. Middleton, of Floris. Of the total vote cast, only 107 were void, despite the confusing ballot, which was the longest in the history of the county. It listed 24 names for representatives, of which all but nine had to be marked out.

Roosevelt received 2,714 votes, which was 207 more than Hoover received in 1928. The number cast for Hoover Tuesday was 1,368, 139 more than Smith received in 1928. Upshaw received 21 votes, Cox 1 and Thomas 50. The Socialist vote Tuesday was ten times greater than in 1928.

The vote by districts for the two leading candidates was: Centerville, 299 for Roosevelt; 100 for Hoover. Dranesville, 507, Roosevelt; 213, Hoover. Falls Church, 467, Roosevelt; 275, Hoover. Lee, 237, Roosevelt; 133, Hoover. Mount Vernon, 379, Roosevelt; 120, Hoover. Providence, 885, Roosevelt; 527, Hoover.

The official election returns for House of Representatives, with the nine Democrats overwhelmingly in the lead, were: Democrats, S. Otis Bland, 2,746; Colgate W. Darden, jr., 2,712; Andrew Jackson Montague, 2,780; P. H. Drewry, 2,723; T. G. Burch, 2,732; Clifton A. Woodrum, 2,788; A. Willis Robertson, 2,744; Howard W. Smith, 2,914; John W. Flannagan, jr., 2,653, Republicans, Harry A. Wise, 994; Menalcus Lankford, 1,066; George Cole Scott, 994; Fred W. McWane, 1,002; J. A. Garber, 1,127; Roland E. Chase, 1,020. Independents, C. C. Berkley, 791; W. M. Brown, 872; R. Lindsay Gordon, jr., 257; Albon James Royal, 101; Winston F. Dawson, 97; Herman R. Ansell, 104; A. J. Dunning, jr., 205; David G. George, 87; Ange M. Norris, 71.

Votes for those not printed on the ballot and whose names were written in by the voter were: James E. Spaulding, 450; Frank Lyon, 123; Bernard G. Brown, 38; John Lock Green, 5; Ernest Gibson, F. M. Brooks, F. O. Hicks, Charles Pickett, Carl M. Spaith, George Cary White, Andrew S. Leith and W. L. Gibson, 1 each.

The official returns were filed in the office of County Clerk F. W. Richardson and will be certified by him to the secretary of the Commonwealth at Richmond.

Arlington Offices Closed Today.

All offices at the Arlington County Courthouse will be closed today in celebration of Armistice Day. Banks in the county will also be closed.

MATTINGLY TO TALK ON LEGION PROGRAM

Armistice Day Celebration at Clarendon Will Include Dance.

Judge Robert E. Mattingly, of Washington, will be the principal speaker at the Armistice Day celebration sponsored by Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, in cooperation with the Clarendon business men at Clarendon tonight.

The exercises will take place at 7 o'clock at the Memorial Monument. The address of welcome will be delivered by Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board.

There will be a parade at 7:30 o'clock starting from the courthouse and headed by the Washington-Lee High School Cadet Band. Prizes will be offered for the best drilled cadet company at the school. The drill will take place at 1:30 p. m., in Clarendon Square. There also will be a prize to the family coming the longest distance to the celebration.

The fun-making part of the celebration will start at 8 p. m. The illumination for the various events, including street dancing, will be furnished by a 1,000-foot length of colored electric lights. There will be an amplifier to carry the dance music from Odd Fellows Hall to the street dancers. There will be music by the Washington Gas Light Co. Band.

A football game between the Washington-Lee and Alexandria High School teams will be an added feature.

Republicans Win by One Vote in Lanham District

Lanham District of Prince Georges County, which divided its vote evenly between Republicans and Democrats, according to unofficial returns from the election Tuesday, yesterday fell into the Republican column when the official count gave it 226 Republican votes and 225 Democratic.

According to the unofficial count, both parties polled 220 votes in Lanham, which was the only district not definitely Democratic. Returns of the official count from other districts, which was not completed last night, promise no great divergence from the unofficial returns, it was said.

Volunteer Firemen to Celebrate.

The tenth anniversary of the Prince Georges County Volunteer Fire Association will be celebrated at a banquet and smoker to be given at the Beaver Dam Country Club, December 8. William Freeman has been appointed to head the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS FIRST PARLEY ENDED

Washingtonians Named to 2 Posts; New York Woman Becomes President.

The American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., concluded its first national convention last night with installation of officers and a banquet at the Hamilton Hotel.

The new officers, elected earlier in the day, are Mrs. Elizabeth Millard, of East Rochester, N. Y., president; Mrs. Mary J. Bates, of Jackson, Mich., first vice president; Mrs. Margaret E. Warfield, of Washington, second vice president; Mrs. J. M. Gallagher, of Wayne, Pa., third vice president; Mrs. C. L. Lord, of Washington, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. M. H. Guedry, of Louisiana, treasurer.

Mrs. W. J. Seelye, of Washington, was elected chaplain; Mrs. R. E. Jacobs, also of Washington, custodian, and Mrs. Leona P. Stahl, of California, historian.

Mrs. Millard, the new national president, is also department president of the Gold Star Mothers of New York State.

Speakers at the banquet last night included Judge Robert L. Mattingly and Mrs. Mattingly, Ferdinand G. Frasier, department commander of the American Legion of the District; the Rev. Simpson B. Daugherty and Mrs. Daugherty and the Rev. Francis J. Hurney.

The Gold Star Mothers will take part in the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery this morning. A delegation will visit Mount Vernon this afternoon while another delegation will attend the Armistice Day services in the Washington Cathedral.

St. Monica's Guild Will Meet Today

Clarence C. Dodge to Talk and J. H. Douglass to Play Violin.

Clarence Phelps Dodge will speak at the first meeting this season of St. Monica's Guild, to be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. John Hervey Young. Joseph H. Douglass, noted violinist and grandson of Frederick Douglass, will give a program of music.

A letter from the Rev. Dr. Anson Phelps Stokes, canon of Washington Cathedral, who is delivering lectures at universities and other educational centers in Africa under auspices of the Carnegie Foundation, will be read.

In this letter Dr. Stokes tells of his experiences while in Africa. It will prove of particular interest, it was said, to this group, which is assisting in the work among colored people by the Episcopal Church in the diocese of Washington.

AMERICAN CHEMIST NOBEL PRIZE WINNER

Dr. Irving Langmuir and John Galsworthy Are Honored.

Stockholm, Nov. 10 (U.P.).—The Nobel prize in chemistry for 1932 was awarded today to Dr. Irving Langmuir, of Schenectady, N. Y., chief of the research laboratory of the General Electric Co. John Galsworthy, English novelist and dramatist, whose works are widely popular in America, was awarded the Nobel prize for literature earlier today.

His latest novel, "Flowering Wilderness," was scheduled for publication in New York tomorrow. His famous work is the chronicle of the Forsyte family, which is included in six novels embodied under two titles—"The Forsyte Saga" and "A Modern Comedy."

Galsworthy is 65 years old. He has been a frequent visitor in America. He spent the winter of 1930-31 in Arizona.

He was educated at Harrow and Oxford and his first work was published in 1898. Since then he has turned out a prodigious amount of work. He has come to be classed as one of Britain's "big four" of literature. The others are H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw and G. H. Chesterton.

The Nobel prize, which was won only once by an American—Sinclair Lewis in 1930—was worth $46,350 when Lewis won it. It is not expected that it will be that much this year because interest accruing from the $9,000,000 fund established by Alfred B. Nobel has decreased during the two-year period.

Last year's award went to Erik A. Karlfeldt, of Sweden. The winners since the prize was established in 1901, have included such illustrious names as Rudyard Kipling, Selma Lagerlof, Maurice Maeterlinck, Rabindranath Tagore, Romain Rolland, Knut Hamsun, Anatole France, William Butler Yeats, George Bernard Shaw, Henri Bergson, Sigrid Undset and Thomas Mann.

Colladay, Republican committeeman; Department Commander Norman Landrau of the American Legion, and Maj. O. W. Hollingsworth, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Howard W. Berry, club president, will preside.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Chemnitz, Germany, Nov 10 (A.P.). Thirty persons were injured, six seriously, today in an encounter between Communists and National Socialists.

Moscow, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Today's newspapers, commenting on the American election, agreed that the Democratic victory will make little difference in American policy "because both major parties represent capitalistic rule."

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Wolfgang von Gronau, home from a leisurely flight around the world, was welcomed today by Federal and State officials.

Ottawa, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The bill to make effective the Anglo-Canadian trade treaty, concluded at the recent imperial conference, has been passed by the House of Commons by a vote of 92 to 57.

Jerusalem, Palestine, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Modern Palestine today viewed with satisfaction the election of Roosevelt in the United States. It was considered here that his accession to office would involve repeal of the eighteenth amendment and reopen what was formerly the largest market for Palestine wines.

Paris, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The government decided today to forbid Communist processions planned in connection with the Armistice Day celebration tomorrow. One was to be a procession to the tomb of Joseph Jean Jaures, famous French Socialist leader and pacifist, who is buried in the Pantheon.

Hamburg, Germany, Nov. 10 (A.P.). Capt. Friedrich Olers and fifteen members of the crew of the Hamburg-South American liner Gen. Osorio received mementoes today from President Hoover for their rescue of 87 passengers from the American steamer Western World which foundered at Ponta do Boi, Brazil, in August, 1931. The mementoes were handed to the men by Mayor Karl Petersen. The American Consul General, John Kehl, attended the ceremony at City Hall.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Black crepe marocain trimmed ever so subtly in blue marocain and fine tucks. Then down the whole side of the skirt—a double row of jet buttons. (Courtesy of Helene Hubert.)

VELVET is nothing new to the style-wise lady, but I must tell you about another and newer type of velvet called "velour Paysan." This charming kind of velvet is everywhere seen in the smartest houses, and in every type of wearing apparel from the morning tailleur to the evening gown and coat.

The material has an appearance of irregular weave, something like shantung would look if woven in velvet. And the lightness and suppleness of Paysan velvet is incomparable. These are what make it so popular, and why it lends itself so well to draping—yet it has a body and a lack of give which make it equally suitable for more tailored, cuts. Something rare in drapable materials, isn't it?

Utilizing this material in various ways, a French mode magazine shows a page of illustrations of how it could be best used for afternoon wear cut on various bias lines, with a draped collar or sleeves; then it is offered in a delightful evening gown of rose gray, with a corsage of black velvet flowers, and an accompanying evening coat in bordeaux, long, with self fabric collar and larger upper sleeves.

As to trimming, a frock with shoulder inset and long full sleeves of this velvet, and a wee tailored belt of it gave me a decided idea for making over a perfectly good frock I have that is too tight in the sleeves. And another trimming idea for velvet Paysan is the removable bolero or jacket with separate sleeves.

* * * *

Didn't have room yesterday to add that a brilliant red cashmere raincoat is the most delightful of them all—when the "cachemire" is rainproofed, or "impermeabilise." No chance to have the rainy day blues in this—or the garrumps, either.

* * * *

'Nif you don't think buttons are la mode! Helene Hubert, the new owner of the ancient house of Tollman, makes the delightful afternoon frock I sketched for you today—in black crepe marocain trimmed ever so subtly in blue marocain and fine tucks. Then adown the whole side of the skirt—a double row of jet buttons!

* * * *

If you can think of anything more elegant to wear with this dress than black jet shoe buckles on one's shoes—well! But haven't you a pair? Why, when we have found out how to make the smartest shoe buckles you just ever saw out of beads, there isn't an excuse in the world for your not having all the shoe buckles you want or need. Jet, or bronze, or cut steel beads, and an evening's clever finger work, and lo, adorable shoe buckles for either your shows or gifts! Send only a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, and find out how to make these for yourself.

* * * *

Worth is emphatic about the necessary elegance of gloves, and the elegance they lend to an ensemble. The gloves I sketched in the corner are designed by him, and are of white kid worked with tiny tucks, ending in points. The black faille bag is in a very new shape, and is held by a golden chain. Nice?

"Faille" is pronounced "fie" in French, but is quite properly pronounced "file" in English.

Au revoir.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

ABOUT this time of the year, my desk is usually besieged with letters calling for help in the form of remedies to check falling hair. First, let me assure you that a slight falling is perfectly natural. When the hairs have lived out their normal span, which is from two to four years, they are loosened from the scalp and combing or brushing will remove them. A new hair is gradually working its way up the hair follicle. So you see these dead hairs are replaced.

Build General Health.

However, when the hair falls in the proverbial bunches, you may be sure that something is wrong. A complete physical check up is not amiss, for hair and scalp health are very closely related to the condition of the general system. Just as the hair falls after an operation, after ether and fever, after prolonged illness, shock, mental or nervous strain, so poor circulation and general run-down condition may be the cause of falling hair. Regard it as a danger signal and build up.

Local Treatment.

The local treatment for oily, falling hair is somewhat different from thin, dry hair that is falling. For the oily hair, massage nightly with finger tips for a few minutes. Then use an oily scalp tonic. A tonic for the purpose may be made of one and a half ounces of water, the same quantity of alcohol and the same quantity of witch hazel, plus 40 grains of resorcin. Have your druggist mix for you. Shampoo once a week. Once every two weeks before shampooing a salt brine treatment is very beneficial. Rain water is especially good for the purpose. Otherwise, plain water. Put enough salt in it to make it briny. Using a pad of cotton or cloth, saturate scalp with the brine water, parting the hair into sections of about one inch. Rub over the hair too. Massage with finger tips. Allow to remain for a half hour. Then shampoo in the usual way. Be sure to remove every bit of the salt. The salt water may also be used as a dry shampoo occasionally. Apply as above, allow to remain over night, and in the morning brush every bit of salt out very thoroughly. Shampoo after a few days. Oily hair should be brushed daily, but it is not necessary to brush the scalp, just the hair.

Dry Hair.

Dry hair, on the other hand, should be brushed vigorously, up and out over the scalp and through the hair to stimulate the fuctioning of the oil glands. Massage nightly with the finger tips. And once a week part the hair in sections and apply olive oil heated, or castor oil. Equal parts of both olive oil and castor oil are excellent. Leave on over night. Shampoo in the morning.

Ultra Violet Ray Treatments.

Sun and ultra violet ray treatments have been found very successful in the treatment of falling hair.

My bulletins on brushing and massage should interest every woman. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for them.

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 11 is the date of your birth, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 9:45 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1 p. m. and from 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Influences operating on this November 11 will tend to stir up emotional disturbances that may lead to trying and baffling personal disagreements. He will be wise who on this day keeps much to himself. Much tact and patience will be requisite to get through this business day. A loving attitude at home will do much to maintain harmony.

Children born on this November 11 will probably sail smoothly through the early years of their lives, doing unusually well at school, being good mixers and making friends wherever they go. They will appear to strike rough waters in their late "teens" and this will be due largely to their refusal to listen to the counsel of their elders or to profit by their mistakes. Very honest and straightforward.

Born on November 11, yours is a courageous and somewhat daring nature. Regardless of what you are doing, be it business or play, you are not afraid to play the long shot, and more often than not you carry it off successfully. You will in the course of your life make a great deal of money, but this does not mean that your old age will necessarily be spent in luxury and comfort. Take care that you do not gamble it away.

Often to your detriment, you allow yourself to be motivated by very generous impulses. Yours is a kind heart and you must guard against the many who will take advantage of it. Your sympathetic nature would seem to assure your success as a physician, nurse or in any relationship where you can intimately contact other people. You will have more than your share of success in almost any kind of business venture. Early and usually happy marriages are the rule.

Successful people born on November 11:

John G. Brown, artist.

Henry M. Alden, editor and author.

Thomas B. Aldrich, poet and novelist.

Anna K. (Green) Rohlfs, author.

Maud Adams, actress.

J. Ogden Armour, meat packer.

Virginia Chest Campaign Launched by Lady Astor

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The Richmond Community Fund drive for $605,904.44 was launched tonight by Lady Astor.

The Virginian, formerly Nancy Langhorne, now a member of Parliament, recently came to America for a visit in Virginia. She was invited to speak here about the economic situation in England, the needs in the United States, and the necessity for supporting such organizations as the Community Fund.

HONOR DISTRIBUTION.

PAUL M. HUTCHINGS, of Grand Rapids, Mich., in sending me the hand below, remarked that when he picked up the South cards he felt that he had a choice of three bids—all sound; one, the Opening bid of one in a suit; two, a strength-showing bid of four diamonds, retaining the possibility of reaching a Slam; and three, the game bid of five diamonds, giving up the hope of a Slam and risking, as he thought, the possibility of the set of a single trick. He finally decided that the correct bid was a strength-showing bid of four diamonds, and was greatly amazed, but not at all chagrined, when the player on his left doubled for penalties.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
4◇	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

The Opening lead was the heart King, which Declarer won with the Ace. He then decided to lead the singleton club King, which West won, and returned the Queen of hearts, which was ruffed in the closed hand. South now laid down the King of spades, and then shifted to the diamond Knave, receiving the bad news that all five diamonds were massed in the West hand against him. The heart Ten was returned by West, after winning the trump, and South continued with the King of trumps, which West, of course, won, returning a heart, which South ruffed. The Declarer now laid down the two remaining high spades and followed with the Ten of diamonds. This was his last trick, as West had a major tenace in the 9 and 7 of diamonds over his 8 and 6.

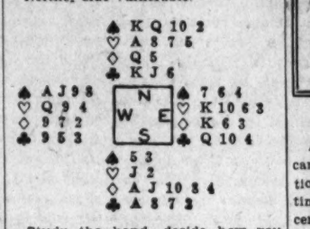
Mr. Hutchings is not to be blamed particularly for his bid because his hand certainly did suggest the strong probability of game at diamonds, containing, as it apparently did, only 3 losing tricks played at this declaration. However, there were two things which he might have considered. One was that when holding a freak distribution, other freak holdings are probably as common as a leper in a colony of lepers, and then I might point out that in the play at the eleventh trick, had he led the 6 of diamonds in preference to the Ten, he would have created a tenace situation for himself and thus reduced his losses to 200 points instead of 600.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SOME EXPERIENCES.

J. R. G. writes: I have been reading your column twenty years and I would like to tell you of several things that I have learned from it, and, having applied them, I bear witness to the good they have done me.

Many years ago you wrote of the use of flaxseed for constipation. I have been using it ever since, taking two teaspoonfuls in my morning cereal. I do not consider it much of a laxative, but as a lubricant it is great, and I never have constipation nor any signs thereof.

Having much to do in the old days, I often ate hurriedly and paid for it in savage attacks of indigestion. You advised voracious eaters to take more time and less food. I followed your advice. My stomach has never troubled me since. I eat anything I like in moderate quantities.

Some years ago my wife was much distressed by blisters breaking out persistently on hands, arms and face. She went to family doctors and to hospital clinics, but with no beneficial results. After a while I recalled that you had written that some persons were sensitive to primrose plants. We had some very lovely primroses in our house. We put them out of doors and the blisters disappeared. Neither primrose nor blisters have returned.

It is now near to cold weather and winter itch victims, out of whom you get a lot of humorous enjoyment, will soon be pestering you again. I have had winter itch and it really isn't so funny. Not at the time, anyway. I now use old, thin cotton underwear underneath my coarser winter garments and have no more winter itch. Kindly pass this along.

I am now 75 years old and still going strong. I have a lot of my own teeth, but have had to buy a few store teeth to take the place of dead soldiers. I have plenty of hair and it is not gray. It is rust red and, while not pretty, it is useful, especially in cold weather.

I can walk several miles any time, and I often do, and I work when I can get it, but my mind is not as good as I would like and my back is lame when I bend.

I have had annual attacks of inflammatory rheumatism for 30 years and the old heart is none too good.

PINWORMS.

Mrs. F. A. writes:

"Mother" wrote asking what to do for her daughter, who has a case of pinworms. This is the method we used:

1. Absolute cleanliness is essential.

2. Check up on diet, especially lettuce and raw vegetables of any kind.

3. Upon retiring, a stiff dose of castor oil.

4. Before breakfast, one santonin tablet and two one-half grain tablets of calomel.

5. Three hours later, a dose of Epsom salts.

6. Upon retiring, an enema of clear water to empty the lower bowel.

7. Now take an enema of quassia chips, trying to hold as long as possible without discomfort. The quassia enema contains only a pint of water.

8. After each bowel movement be sure that the rectal entrance is clean. Wash, and then apply some soothing ointment.

9. If at all possible, obtain a small pane of glass. Place in toilet bowl and when stool is passed look and see if you can find any worms.

This treatment is used for two days. The enemas are used for a week, then dropped for a week. It is absolutely necessary that one keep oneself clean at this period or there will be reinfection. I have had two cases of pineworms and know what it is. I have not eaten lettuce for four months.

PROTECT YOUR CHILD.

B. F. R. writes:

1. My husband has had tuberculosis for the last three years and I am told I am compelled by law to have my children examined. Is this true?

2. What examination does the board of health put the children through?

3. If the mother of the children wants her family doctor to examine the children, can it be done?

4. Does the blood also have to be examined to find out if the children have tuberculosis?

REPLY.

1. Laws vary and, your letter being undated, I can not say what your law requires. However, you should be anxious to do what you can to protect your children even though not compelled by law to do so.

2. As a rule only a physical examination and a study of the history.

3. Yes.

4. Rarely is this test made.

TRAVELING WITH A BABY.

(Department of Labor.)

Any trip with a baby should be carefully planned. Accurate information as to the leaving and arriving times of all the trains and boats concerned should be obtained. When a night trip is to be taken berths should be reserved in advance. If possible, a stateroom should be engaged, even if something else has to be given up. The privacy and quiet will make the journey easier for the baby.

During the journey do not let anything interfere with the baby's regular feeding, bathing, sleep, exercise, and elimination. Wash his hands and face several times each day. Do not let strangers handle him. Keep him as cool and quiet as possible.

A market basket is more comfortable for the baby than his mother's arms and more convenient for the mother. The basket should have a handle low enough to hold him safely inside. Arrange the basket like a bed, with a thin mattress, rubber sheeting, sheets, blankets, and, if desired, sleeping bag. A cotton mosquito netting should be brought along to cover the basket. A young baby can stay in the basket throughout the journey, except when it is time for feeding, bathing, exercise or other care.

For an automobile trip with a baby a small hammock should be used. Various types of hammocks for this purpose are on the market.

The easiest child to feed on a journey is the breast-fed baby. The bottle-fed baby presents a problem, for his milk must be boiled and the bottles sterilized. If dried or evaporated milk is to be used, enough feeding bottles to last the whole journey must be boiled and stoppered before starting. If this is not possible, arrangements must be made with the porter or steward to allow the mother to boil them daily in the dining car or steamer kitchen. Just before each feeding time the dried milk should be mixed with boiling water, which may be heated over a solid-alcohol stove on a metal tray, and the whole brought to a boil again. If an outlet for electrical attachment can be had, an electric water heater will be found safe and convenient.

For a trip no longer than 24 hours, cold boiled milk or milk mixture may be carried in a vacuum bottle (unless dried or evaporated milk is used). The vacuum bottle should be cleaned, scalded and cooled, and the milk should be boiled and then thoroughly chilled before being put into the vacuum bottle. Milk must not be put into a vacuum bottle while it is warm, as it may sour.

Milk from a vacuum bottle should not be used after 24 hours. At each feeding a nursing bottle must be filled and warmed.

For warming the feeding take an enameled-ware pitcher holding a pint, which the porter will fill with hot water from the dining car. Place the bottle in it to heat, but wait until the water has cooled somewhat, so that sudden heat will not break the bottle. The following supplies may be packed in a small suit case:

Small cans of evaporated or dried milk, jar of sugar, four to six nursing bottles, six sterile nipples in covered glass jar, funnel, strainer, teaspoon, small egg beater for mixing dry milk, vacuum bottle of boiled water, jar of prepared vegetable puree, solid-alcohol stove or electric hot-water heater.

For a long journey in hot summer weather a baby should be dressed only in a band, a diaper, and a thin outer garment. He should be barefooted. A short-sleeved, low-necked slip of white china silk or thin seersucker (cotton) can be washed out in the basin when soiled. Two dresses should be brought, so that one can be worn while the other is being washed. Warmer clothing should be at hand to put on at once if the day suddenly cools.

It is well to change the baby's clothing as soon as the train starts in order to have the street outfit clean to put on when leaving the train.

Regular hours for feeding the baby must be observed as far as possible. Do not give him cakes, candy, bananas or sweet crackers to keep him quiet in the train. Irregular feeding and unsuitable foods, together with the fatigue and excitement of traveling, are likely to make him ill.

How Coughs and Colds Yield to Creosote

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

FOREIGN POLICY.

On all questions affecting the relations of the United States with foreign governments there should be a continuity of policy. Differences between the political parties did not include foreign questions in the recent campaign. Almost no mention was made of foreign relations.

Presumably President-elect Roosevelt will maintain the policies of the present administration in respect to reduction of armaments, equalization of naval power, promotion of a world economic conference, collection of war debts, and encouragement of arbitration in South American disputes.

It is desirable that the attitude of the President-elect on the Manchurian question should be made known soon, on account of the early consideration of the Lytton report by the League of Nations. The United States has taken a position against recognition of any situation or treaty resulting from violation of treaties, and the nations belonging to the League have adopted the American position. As the Manchurian problem may hinge upon the fixed opposition of the nations to Japan's program in Manchuria, on the ground that it results from a violation of the Kellogg pact and the Nine-Power treaty, the attitude of the incoming administration becomes extremely important. If President-elect Roosevelt should decide not to support the so-called Hoover doctrine of nonrecognition of situations resulting from violation of treaties a complete alteration of world policy in regard to Manchuria probably would follow.

Apparently the St. Lawrence treaty will disclose a decided difference of opinion between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt. The treaty is ready for consideration by the Senate. The allotment of costs for works is not satisfactory to Gov. Roosevelt, who holds that New York does not receive under the treaty the benefits to which it is entitled. Discussion of the treaty has not reached the stage where a forecast can be made of its fate in the Senate. Postponement of its consideration until the next session is quite possible.

No doubt the present administration will refrain from making any additional foreign commitments, pending the change of Presidents. Great difficulty has been encountered by the experts who are charged with drawing up the program for the proposed world economic conference, and present delays indicate that the conference will not be held until after March 4. Therefore it is to be expected that the administration will mark time on this subject, in order to give President Roosevelt a free hand.

Foreign relations are dependent entirely upon the policy determined by the President, acting through the Secretary of State. While the two political parties hold substantially identical views on many questions of foreign policy, there is inevitably a difference of method when administrations change, and sometimes the differences in method are so important that they bring about changes of policy.

THE GREAT FALL SPORT.

This week-end sees football at its peak. The teams that have not suffered from injuries, or faced too fast a pace in the early season, are at the height of their power, with strategy perfected. The new rules are still as much a subject of discussion as are the new bridge regulations, but the game loses none of its popularity. The crowds are not as large as they have been in more prosperous years, but when a great game like that between Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia can draw an attendance of more than 60,000 in these times, football can not be considered as going into a decline.

Washington has become the center of college games as well as contests between teams of younger players. It is a grand amateur sport, and thousands of boys get beneficial physical and disciplinary training in playing it even though they may never compete on championship teams. Changes have been made in the rules and styles of play during the last decade, many of them for the better, particularly from the standpoint of the spectator. The grandstands like to see the ball. Passing and long runs are much more spectacular than the former endless repetition of mass plays.

The old discussion goes on in regard to scoring a point for kicked goal following a touchdown. The game is so essentially one of team-play that to many it seems entirely unfair that a team may win or lose through a successful or unsuccessful kick by one man. Twenty-two men play an evenly matched game throughout four quarters, except that a single player misses a single unopposed kick—and the other side wins. The Columbia-Navy game last Saturday was a recent case in point. It does not seem real football to have a game lost in this way. When a kick for goal is properly made there is nothing the opposing team can do to oppose it; when it is not, the kicker's team-mates are penalized for a poor play in which they are powerless to help.

All true lovers of football welcome the recent moves that have been made in various colleges to protect and restore the strictly amateur qualities of the game. Professional coach control and the commercialism of the exhibitions had undoubtedly in some instances passed proper bounds for an amateur inter-collegiate sport.

BEER LEGISLATION.

A drive for beer legislation at the short session of Congress has been started by the wet forces of both the House and the Senate. They interpret the election as repudiation of the liquor laws and as a demand for beer. But the drys, who will continue to dominate Congress until after March 4, think otherwise. Apparently they have power to checkmate any attempt to modify the Volstead act at the forthcoming session.

In the House a few months ago the O'Connor beer bill was defeated by a vote of 228 to 169. The Republicans mustered 116 dry votes and the Democrats 112. Votes in favor of beer were equally well divided between the two parties, Republican congressmen casting 83 and Democrats 85.

Senators Bingham and Tydings tried on numerous occasions to convert the Senate to beer without success. Even after the Democratic national convention had written a platform demanding immediate modification of the Volstead act, permitting light wines and beer, the Senate defeated a beer amendment to the Home Loan Bank bill by an overwhelming majority. Only 11 Democrats and 14 Republicans were in favor of beer, while 24 Democrats and 26 Republicans voted against it.

The same Congress will be in session from December to March 4. How will the wets obtain enough votes to pass a beer bill? Apparently they are counting on a change of sentiment among "lame ducks," who note a wet trend and are anxious to restore themselves to public favor. But the Republican leaders of the Senate have already said that they will not countenance a beer measure so long as important economic legislation remains unfinished.

Even if a beer measure should pass Congress it might encounter a veto from President Hoover. The President has not definitely made known his stand on immediate modification, but it may be assumed from the attitude he has maintained in the past that he is opposed to legalization of beer until the Constitution has been amended.

By pressing the beer issue forward at the short session the wets will run the risk of crowding out other more important legislation while accomplishing nothing for beer. Congress will have only two and a half months to enact the appropriation bills, to reduce expenditures and balance the budget, and to consider whatever relief measures the Democratic leaders may wish to propose. Apparently the drys have strength enough to prevent adoption of a beer amendment to taxation legislation, but no one could prevent long debate if the wets should press for such legislation. More vital legislation might thus be sacrificed.

BONUS PROSPECTS.

The drive for prepayment of the bonus will begin again next month. The House may be expected to pass the bill and the Senate to reject it. If the Senate should concur with the House, President Hoover would veto the bill. Thus the bonus agitation will be carried beyond March 4, to plague the new administration.

There will be less opposition to the bonus in the Seventy-third Congress than there has been in the Seventy-second. A number of senators who opposed the bonus bill at the last session will not return to Congress. These include Senators Watson, Smoot, Jones, Moses, Oddie, Shortridge and Thomas, of Idaho. Only two of the Republican senators who voted against the bonus were reelected. They are Barbour, of New Jersey, and Davis, of Pennsylvania. Senators Norbeck and Steiwer, the only two bonus supporters running for reelection on the Republican ticket, were successful.

In Indiana Frederick Van Nuys, Democrat and advocate of the bonus, defeated Senator Watson. It is impossible to estimate what influence Senator Watson's vote against the bonus had upon his defeat. But it may have been considerable. Mr. Watson's Republican colleague, Senator Robinson, is an ardent sponsor of all bonus measures.

The Democratic landslide resulted in the reelection of a considerable number of Democratic senators who voted against immediate payment of the bonus. It is improbable that a bonus measure could win in the Senate this winter, and it might be stopped by the Senate in the new Congress. But there are indications that some of the 62 Senate votes against the bonus last June would be reversed if another test should be made.

Last June the Patman bill to pay the bonus with fiat money passed the House by a vote of 211 to 176. Late returns indicate that about 150 of the 211 representatives who supported the bonus have been reelected, and at least one was promoted to the Senate. Congressmen who opposed the bonus did not fare so well. Indications are that only about 85 out of the 176 representatives who voted against the Patman bill survived the election. In other words, a vast majority of those favoring the bonus measure were reelected, while less than half of its opponents were chosen for another term.

This does not mean, of course, a mandate to enact a bonus measure. In most cases other issues were paramount. Most of the representatives who were defeated suffered because they were Republicans rather than because they were opposed to the bonus. Nevertheless, the election has helped the bonus movement.

Such stalwart foes of Treasury raids as Representatives Crisp and Collier have lost their seats. Nearly all of the men who are now bidding for leadership in the House voted for the Patman bill. Seven men are prominently mentioned as successors to Speaker Garner. Of that group only Representatives Rainey and McDuffie voted against the bonus. Representatives Byrns, Bankhead, O'Connor, Warren, Ragon and Rankin are all bonusites. Representative McCormack, who is seeking the post of majority leader, should that post be vacated by Mr. Rainey, is an advocate of immediate payment of the bonus.

Democratic leaders in the Senate might not be able to stop a bonus measure if the House should pass it by an overwhelming majority after March 4. President-elect Roosevelt will probably be called upon to save the country from this unwarranted expense. His veto of the bonus measure would be effective.

Chief Justice Hughes will prove that the Supreme Court is not controlled by the Republican party when he administers the oath to President-elect Roosevelt.

In an outburst of impartiality Texas honored a favorite daughter as well as a favorite son.

HOW "UNKNOWN SOLDIER" IDEA ORIGINATED

By Rev. DAVID RAILTON, Son of Commissioner Railton, Who Opened Salvation Army Operations in the United States.

I write to tell you how it came to pass that the body of a British warrior, unknown by name or rank, was brought from France to lie among the most illustrious of the land in Westminster Abbey.

The idea came to me—I know not how—in the early part of the year 1916. No man on this God's earth gave it to me. It came by inspiration.

I came from the "line" at dusk. We had just laid to rest the mortal remains of a comrade. I went to a billet in front of Erkingham, near Armentieres. At the back of the billet was a small garden, and in the garden, only about six paces from the house, there was a grave. At the head of the grave there stood a rough cross of white wood. On the cross was written in deep black-penciled letters, "An Unknown British Soldier," and in brackets beneath, "Of the Black Watch." It was dusk, and no one was near, except some officers in the billet, playing cards. I remember how still it was. Even the guns seemed to be resting.

How that grave caused me to think! I love every inch of Scotland. I had served in the earlier days as a private soldier in the ranks of a Scottish territorial battalion. But, who was he? From which of the lonely mystic glens of old Scotia did he come?

Was he a citizen of "Auld Reekie?" Was he one of the grand old "Contemptibles?" Was he just a laddie—newly joined—age 18, the only son of a shepherd from the far away Highlands? There was no answer to those questions, nor has there ever been.

Quietly and gradually there came out of the mist of thought this answer, clear and strong: "Let this body—this symbol of him—be carried reverently over the sea to his native land."

I waited till August, 1920. The rush and noise of "peace" quarrels seemed to be dying down. Was this a good time? My wife said, "Now or never!" So I wrote to Right Rev. Bishop Herbert Ryle, the dean of Westminster. I asked him if he would consider the possibility of burying in the Abbey the body of one of our unknown comrades.

Three days later the dean replied to my letter as follows: "I am perhaps not altogether in a position to give you a final decision on either of your two suggestions. The idea shall germinate."

August went by and September. No further news! The first and second weeks in October brought nothing. But on October 19, 1920, the dean wrote me the letter which I knew would find a grateful response in the hearts of most of the people of our land, and perhaps in time of other lands as well. I will quote the dean's letter in full:

"Dear Mr. Railton: The idea which you suggested to me in August I have kept steadily in view ever since. I have been occupied actively upon it for the last two or three weeks. It has necessitated communications with war office, prime minister, cabinet and Buckingham Palace. The announcement which the prime minister will or intends to make this afternoon will show how far the government is ready to cooperate.

"Once more I express my warm acknowledgment and thanks for your letter. Yours sincerely, Herbert E. Ryle, Bp."

It is, therefore, to this noble dean—since passed to his rest—that we owe the carrying out of the whole idea.

Now That Their Scrap Is Over.

POST HASTE

The new deal in the Senate starts a game to see which side can discard the most Progressives.

Republicans looking for a rallying post will not overlook the erstwhile senator, New York's new representative, Jim Wadsworth.

Pat Harrison says immediate steps will be taken toward modification. A hop, skip and jump may also be necessary.

Representative, Speaker, Vice President Garner is the most retiring man who ever held three congressional titles.

When that flock of 150 or more lame ducks descends upon the Capital it is going to be greatly disappointed over the scarcity of Federal crutches which will be available next spring.

It can be predicted with considerable certainty that March 4 will be a Rainey day at the south end of Capitol Hill.

The abundant supply of saturated solution available at his home town obviates the necessity of any Salt River trip for Senator Smoot.

Maine, the great potato State, evidently resented the way Democrats have been making a jest of the honorable spud.

Somewhat paradoxically it saves New York's democratic reputation that young Whitney, with $100,000,000 and a Vanderbilt in his name, was beaten by plain Republican Bob Bacon.

Nothing in a name? Home and bone-dry Jones, of Washington, was defeated by wet Homer Bone, but Borah will investigate whether Al Smith had anything to do with sending a Pope to the Senate.

Congressional advocates of a more satisfying malt beverage have so far been blocked by the fellows who declare: "It will only pass over my bier."

The stock market seems a bit more human since Wednesday, when it was also confused and running around in circles.

Anyhow, Joe Tumulty made a valiant one-man effort to increase the Roosevelt term 8 per cent.

This is a good day to get the election off your chest and help the disabled veterans and the Community Chest.

The near-beer makers think the real kind is near, and it won't take them long to quit taking the alky out, leaving in the reel.

The sales tacks that punctured a good revenue bill will still be found scattered over the floor of the short session.

WHERE ARE WE?

If you are interested in geography, says the Kitchener Record, the following facts will give you something to think about:

The city of Montreal lies west of the Pacific that part of it which touches Africa in Chile.

Edmonton, the capital of Alberta, is south of Edinburgh.

Western Ontario is south of London, Eng.

One travels south from Detroit, Mich., to reach Windsor, Ont.

Berlin, Germany, lies north of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

The Easiest Way to Reach the Big League Is to Hit .500 in the Bushes

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE first step in achieving success is to discover the reason for your present failure.

Innumerable literate Americans, having exhausted their patience in the effort to market short stories and poems, attribute their failure to ignorance of the short-cuts that lead to fame and riches.

"Our work is ignored," they say, "because we are obscure and have no one in high place to introduce and recommend us."

Thus they defeat themselves, for they never will look for faults in their work or do their utmost to improve it while want of a pull seems sufficient explanation of its failure.

With few exceptions, the story tellers who are famous now wasted innumerable reams of paper before they found a market. And the reason their first efforts failed was simply and solely because they hadn't yet learned to produce anything good enough to print.

Good work needs no pull to attract attention. It can't be hidden. Print it in the most insignificant of village newspapers or write it on a barn door at the roadside and some discerning eye will see it and some herald of genius will proclaim its excellence to the world.

What pull did the Wright brothers need after they produced a machine that would fly?

One who is finding himself needs encouragement and a chance to develop; but once he has learned to do good work, the world quite literally makes a path to his door.

It isn't necessary to hire press agents and clamor for attention and reward. The world has need of good work and shouts a glad greeting to the man who can do it.

Genius no longer starves in a garret. News travels too fast.

If you can do good work, the one sure way to attain success is to continue doing it.

Good work, like murder, will out. The world will trace it to the man responsible.

You can't hide your light under a bushel in a world that is eagerly searching for light.

WHAT IS TO COME?

Press Surmises as to Probable Developments in Politics as a Result of the Election.

New Republican Leadership.

J. F. Essary in Baltimore Sun.

There will be, in all probability, three elements which will clamor for supremacy in the Republican organization. The survivors of the Hoover administration will compose one such element and they may be expected to pick Ogden L. Mills as their captain general.

A second element will be the remnants of the Old Guard, composed of national committeemen of the Ralph Williams-Dewey Hilles-Henry Roraback type, who may be counted upon to set up an early agitation for a return of Calvin Coolidge. He will be heralded as the manifest savior of the party.

A third element is yet to be developed, but it probably will be composed of younger men who will come to the front in the next two or three years and who will demand the right to take title to the party organization.

One need not be surprised if this element finds in James W. Wadsworth, of New York, the very man they will be looking for to assume command. He has more at the moment to commend him than any other Republican "Young Turk" in sight.

Must Avoid Tax Blunders.

Baltimore Sun.

Extreme caution will be needed to avoid committing the party to any fantastic forms of fiscal legislation or to any measures out of harmony with the program which the Democratic President-elect has in mind. The discipline of the House under Speaker Garner was not of the best when the highly controversial tax bill was under consideration at the last session. It will be incumbent on the Speaker and on his colleagues in both houses to guard against a renewal of the charges lodged against the congressional wing of the party in the recent past.

Beer Vote Coming.

New York Herald Tribune.

President-elect Roosevelt will go into office with substantial majorities in both the Senate and the House. But it is by no means clear what measure of cooperation he will receive. The diverse elements in his own party and the liberal Republican group, which united in bringing about his election, are likely to split when it comes to considering important legislation.

Because of the impressive wet showing on Tuesday, it is more than likely there will be an attempt to force a repeal resolution at the coming session of the Seventy-second Congress. Almost surely an amendment to the Volstead act legalizing beer will be brought to a vote. That would require no more than a simple majority. Clearly the new Congress will have more than enough votes for such action.

Heavy Responsibility.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The sweep of the victory gives to the Democratic party not only complete power but complete responsibility, and it is a sobering responsibility.

That power and responsibility have reached into the present Congress as well as into the Congress that will come into office next March 4, perhaps not so directly but certainly with a force that can not be ignored. The incoming President will have solid backing in both houses of Congress for the first time since the Harding administration. That fact alone must have an effect on the short session. Theoretically the result of a November election has no effect on a "lame-duck" session; actually it has a profound effect, particularly when that result is so overwhelming.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

War Nurse Hopes Deserving Veterans Will Not Suffer as Result of Protest Against Unjust Demands.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Is it any wonder that Communism and other isms are gaining ground when some of the veterans join them?

Every one knows that the veterans were encouraged to come here by politicians, Communists and other organizations. They were allowed to assemble and petition the Congress according to our Constitution. The House passed the bill and the Senate defeated it. The President asked for an appropriation of $100,000 to return them to their homes, and about 5,000 took advantage of the offer. The others stayed and demanded that the President call an extra session of Congress when they knew the Senate would take the same action again. Senators of both parties rejected the bonus bill.

As a nurse who served in the World War and as an American citizen I think deserving veterans have been hurt by the extreme demand of those who asked for more than soldiers of other wars have received. That is why the Economy League, of which Admiral Byrd is chairman, has been organized to protect the taxpayer. Let us hope that war-disabled veterans will not suffer by the reaction against unjust demands.

New Yorker Doesn't See Any Room for Women in New Cabinet.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a recent issue of your paper you published a story that said it was a foregone conclusion that some New York woman would be appointed Secretary of Labor.

Where did you get a cock-eyed idea like this? What is to become of Al Smith, John W. Davis and Owen D. Young and all the other New Yorkers who are to be members of the Cabinet? After all, we have a big city here, but we can't elect Presidents from New York and then name all the Cabinet members from New York; not if we expect to go on electing Presidents from the Empire State. And after all, Frank Roosevelt will be thinking of 1936—or he had better be. He will have some one else than Herbert Hoover to beat that year.

And why pick on the Department of Labor? Aren't we going to have enough trouble working out the interests of labor in the next few years without turning it over to the ladies for experimental work?

Air Mail Praised for Fast Service, Despite Adverse Weather Conditions.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some people condemn the airmail because at times mail planes are forced down due to fog, storms or other unfavorable conditions. Rarely are our airmail pilots praised for the service they render.

I wish to cite the case of a man in Detroit who has sent an airmail letter daily to New York for the past nineteen months. Only twice in this period of time has the plane failed to land his letter in New York for the first delivery the following day. These two delays were caused by winter storms. I think that the airmail, as a whole, has a remarkable record. One must remember that the pilots carry the cargo intrusted to them whether the skies are clear or stormy. Much of their flying is done at night. They are a daring, courageous group of young men and they deserve a great deal of credit for their unflinching efforts in the face of adverse weather conditions to get the mail to its destination in time and on time.

Suggestion That Monthly Chest Contributions Be Stressed.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In connection with the Community Chest drive just starting I would suggest that special attention be given by solicitors to explaining to contributors the alternative of regular monthly payments. In not a few cases the donor might more readily contribute $5 a month for six months than to give $10 cash immediately. In such cases the Chest would receive three times as much and yet get the money as fast as needed.

SALARIED MAN.

Chinese Fighting in Manchuria in Spite of Cold Weather.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Japan is having her troubles in Manchuria, as was to be expected. Usually the Chinese refrain from fighting during the cold months, but such is not the case at present in Manchuria. Cold weather has set in there. The Chinese are in revolt in the northern part of Manchuria.

It is evident that the Chinese are fully prepared to give the Japanese a lot of trouble in this area for some time to come, which goes to prove that it will be costly business for Japan.

LINES FOR ARMISTICE DAY, 1932.

Comrades in the Argonne sleeping
'Neath the poppies and the crosses,
Do you hear us sighing, weeping
Over little money losses?

Comrades in the Argonne lying,
Do you see us pale and frightened
By the need for self-denying,
Wanting every burden lightened?

Comrades whom we left behind us,
Was the truth by you suspected?
Did you know the years would find us
By the need to toil, dejected?

Comrades, source of verbal pride for Politicians, public speakers,
Did you understand you died for Such a crowd of comfort-seekers?

DR. SZE SAYS JAPAN IS THREAT TO WORLD

Aggression in Manchuria Is Attacked Before Chicago Council Session.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Before the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations Dr. Alfred Sze, late representative of China in the League of Nations, declared today that an "ominous situation" confronted the world because of Japanese aggression in Manchuria. He stated that China was willing to conclude a treaty of arbitration with Japan.

"Japan, for the time being," said Dr. Sze, "is in actual occupation and control of a vast area of territory of China—a situation which for years all the other powers, for weighty reasons of their own, have been endeavoring to prevent, and which they thought they had prevented when Japan was prevailed upon to join with them in signing the Nine-Power Treaty of 1922.

"An anti-Japanese feeling upon the part of the Chinese has been created, which is dangerous in its intensity.

"There is a conflict of interests between Japan and Russia. Should some incident lead to an open breach between the two countries, the resulting effects upon the international relations of all Europe might possibly be of the most serious character.

"The efficacy of the instrumentalities which the world has laboriously built up for the peaceful settlement of international controversies—I refer especially to the League of Nations and the Paris pact—are being subjected to a decisive test. If they fail to meet this test, the common desire of nations for disarmament will be defeated.

"Finally, there is raised the supreme question whether international agreements are to be regarded as of such binding force that when violated or threatened of violation by any power, great or small, common steps will be taken to secure their observance. I speak of this as a supreme question because, if no reliance can be laid upon such covenants, the basis for confidence between states will be destroyed."

Economy Affects Commerce Report

Bureau Heads Save Words and Bill Is Cut by Almost $3,000.

The governmental economy wave has dropped 5 pounds of paper and words from the annual report of the twelve bureaus of the Commerce Department.

With it, when delivered yesterday, was a bill for $2,967.25, compared with $5,865.13 for the printing of the report for last year. The new report is printed on the cheapest paper and contains fewer words than ever before.

Experts to Study Future Park Plan

Development of Monument Area to Be Discussed at Nov. 18 Meeting.

The proposed development of the Washington Monument area will be discussed at length at a joint meeting of the Fine Arts Commission and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission on November 18.

The two plans for the development are the one sponsored by William A. Delano, of New York, which envisions the planting of trees in a formal geometrical design, and that of Frederick Law Olmsted, of Brookline, Mass., a recent member of the Planning Commission, which provides for a less formal treatment.

The Fine Arts Commission will also study plans for the Fort Reno High School, to be constructed at Nebraska avenue, Fort drive and Chesapeake street. The proposed development of Columbia Island also will be studied.

Delay Granted Railway In Ferry System Work

The application of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Co. for an extension of the time set for the beginning of construction work on the new ferry system to the Eastern Shore was granted yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Inauguration of the construction work, the commission decreed, may wait until May 1, 1933. The company has until December 31, 1934, to complete the project. Application for the postponement was made on the grounds that hearings before the commission for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan of $900,000 have not been completed. The Claiborne-Annapolis Ferry Co. is opposing the loan.

Local Radio Audition Finals Slated Tonight

The two contenders for national honors in the Atwater Kent Foundation audition contest who will represent Washington will be selected tonight from eight singers who will participate in local finals over WRC, beginning at 6 o'clock.

The eight participants are Dorothy Edythe Davenport, Helen Z. Zonofrio, Ina Marie Holtzscheiter, Catherine May Toomey, Robert W. Cushman, Henry Nestor, James F. Nolan and Edwin C. Steffe. Miss Holtzscheiter and Mr. Steffe won the local finals last year and participated in the Eastern semifinals in New York. The local contest is sponsored by the Washington Board of Trade.

War Mothers' Dinner Postponed by Death

The dinner of the District Chapter of the American War Mothers, scheduled for tonight at the Hamilton Hotel, has been postponed because of the death of Mrs. Martha C. O'Neill, president of the chapter and custodian of the national organization.

The date on which the dinner will be held will be announced later.

Vogue's Smart Economy

The two young things in this picture are wearing one and the same frock—therein begins the economy. It is a frock that leads a double life—for, as you see it at the left, it is a simple dinner dress—and, in the second view, worn with the little puffed-sleeve jacket, even your best friend would not recognize the version. You may have it for yourself—in black, brown or rust-red, with a contrasting marquisette blouse that is utterly chic—for $29.50

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LOOKING BACK AT THE LANDSLIDE.

THE more you consider these election returns the more you realize that what President-elect Roosevelt becomes is a national "complaint operator." The polls last Tuesday were regarded as complaint departments, and the American people were sore at so many people and so many things that not even George Washington and Abraham Lincoln could have won on a Republican ticket.

• • • •

What puzzles all people today is what became of that "strong tide" the Republican leaders pictured as turning in their favor the night before the battle. They were evidently watching a whirlpool from a revolving flobt.

• • • •

The people not only voted for the "New Deal," but confiscated the table, the bridge lamps, the scorecards, chicken sandwiches and cocktail shakers.

• • • •

One thing the election proved conclusively was that both boys wasted their time and breath in making all those speeches. A candidate who never opened his mouth might have defeated both.

• • • •

The voters had made up their minds months ago that they wanted to blame somebody for their troubles, and Mr. Hoover had battled for a chance to show them that he could take it.

• • • •

• • • •

He was practically the Boy Who Stood on the Burning Deck at a time when even his best friends couldn't afford to turn on the hose.

Probably nobody could have done better than the President in the past four years, but he was running not so much against Franklin D. Roosevelt as against every citizen of the United States who wanted to blame somebody for bad home brew, arrogant bootleggers, the holes in baby's shoes and the failure to sell the stock market short in 1929.

• • • •

All the election demonstrated was that nearly everybody was in a letter-to-the-editor mood except Ogden Mills, Pat Hurley, and Calvin Coolidge.

• • • •

Mr. Hoover must wonder at times whether he was running in a national election or playing solitaire in a telephone booth.

• • • •

But it is all over and the complainants are now facing the future with faces full of expectation and minds full of doubts.

• • • •

The outlook is complicated by the fact that the Democrats will have no opposition in Washington. This makes it certain that the fighting among themselves will be terrific.

• • • •

One thing that both sides admit is that the goblins and boogey men used in the campaign were pure bunk and that the country will continue to show progress no matter in whose name milk is left at the White House door.

• • • •

The Democrats say the vote marked the death knell for prohibition and that with their party in power grass will grow in the cellars of a million home-brewers and that the cordial shops, whisky cutting plants, speakeasies and bootleggers' villas of a thousand cities will totter and decay.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

SEVERAL observances of Armistice Day will be broadcast throughout the day. Ceremonies in the Arlington Amphitheater will be heard all over the country through Station WRC at 11 o'clock this morning. Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will be the principal speaker. The traditional minute of silence will be observed at 11 o'clock. At 11:02 the invocation will be delivered by the national chaplain, Rev. Irvin Q. Wood, after which the audience will sing "America," accompanied by the United States Army band. A message from President Hoover will be read, followed by addresses by Secretary Hurley and Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion.

The steps of the Capitol will be the scene of a four-minute ceremony to be broadcast by WJSV at 11 a. m.

THE scene will shift to the Washington Cathedral at 4 o'clock this afternoon for a memorial service for Woodrow Wilson, conducted by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War during the World War, will be the speaker. Music will be furnished by the Cathedral Choir of men and boys, under the direction of Edgar Priest.

England's Armistice Day Remembrance Festival in the Albert Hall, London, will be heard in Washington this afternoon via WRC, at 3 o'clock.

"Lest We Forget," a dramatic and musical production depicting the outstanding points of the World War will be presented over WRC at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

THE new arrangement which the Radio Corporation of America has with the Western Union, as explained by F. P. Guthrie, R. C. A. district manager, is simply an extension of an agreement to cover cities where the Radio Corporation has its own offices.

"Briefly, the arrangement provides that if each of the R. C. A. offices will accept Western Union messages, an equal number of Western Union offices will accept R. C. A. radiograms," Mr. Guthrie said. "All R. C. A. offices are to display Western Union signs and provide Western Union blanks for customers, and similarly, the designated Western Union offices will display R. C. A. signs and R. C. A. blanks.

"No other change in regard to offices is involved or is contemplated. That is to say, it is not expected that any offices of the R. C. A. or Western Union will be closed as the result of this arrangement, but simply that certain offices will become joint offices for the handling of messages."

Mr. Guthrie said that the Western Union office which would handle R. C. A. messages in Washington has not yet been designated.

Returning to the air after a two weeks' absence in deference to campaign broadcasts, the All-American Football Show again will be heard over WJSV at 9 o'clock tonight. Christy Walsh will interview Jesse Harper, director of athletics at Notre Dame. Walsh also will give his list of the ten best individual players of the last week, in addition to those of the two previous weeks.

THIRTY years ago it would have been necessary to wait five years for a performance of Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" and then personally attend the concert, observes Henry Hadley, composer. Today this colossal masterpiece is broadcast at least four or five times a year.

Linn C. Drake, local chief executive for the Boy Scouts of America, will be the guest speaker on a special program at 8:15 o'clock tonight on WMAL.

Rawley Donohue, Washington baritone, will sing "The Trumpeter," "There Is No Death" and "Arise, the Light Has Come" over WMAL at 9 p. m.

"WHERE d'you think you're going?" bellowed a motorcycle policeman who had stopped William Hall, radio barytone, for speeding the other day.

"Why, officer," William replied, "I was just hurrying to a meeting of the Association of Motorcycle Policemen, where I'm supposed to sing tonight."

What's more he was telling the truth, and was released upon producing a letter as evidence.

ADMIRAL CHAMBERS, OIL DIRECTOR, DEAD

Authority on Port Facilities Had Served on Many Missions Abroad.

Rear Admiral Frank T. Chambers, in charge of the oil office and director of the naval oil reserves, died yesterday at his home, 1150 Connecticut avenue, following a prolonged illness caused by a kidney ailment.

Burial will be on Saturday with full military hopors in Arlington Cemetery, following services in St. Alban's Church. Wisconsin and Massachusetts avenues.

Admiral Chambers was born in Louisville, Ky., in 1870. He was graduated from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., and after five years in the civilian life he became a civil engineer in the Navy in 1897.

Studied Port Facilities.

After serving in various capacities throughout the world, he was sent abroad in 1918 by the Shipping Board to study port facilities, with a view to a quicker turn around for United States ships.

He became public works officer in Honolulu and was recommended for promotion to rear admiral in May, 1927. He was then made ranking officer of the Civil Engineers Corps in the Navy.

He received a special letter of commendation from the Secretary of the Navy for special services in the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and with the United States Shipping Board.

Writer on Port Topics.

He was placed in charge of the oil office in the Navy Department in October, 1930. Admiral Chambers represented the United States in the International Commission of Congresses on Navigation, and he was the author of numerous articles on port facilities and development.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence Newell Chambers, and three brothers, John, Henry and Henning Chambers, of Louisville, Ky.

Admiral Chambers was well known in the club life of the Capital, being affiliated with the Army-Navy, Cosmos and Chevy Chase Clubs; the Rittenhouse and University Clubs, of Philadelphia, and the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Association of Port Authorities.

Marine Officer Who Died in Cuba to Be Buried at Arlington.

Funeral services for Lieut. Edmund McClelland Callaway, U. S. Marine Corps, who died October 25 at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, with full military honors from the Marine Barracks, followed by interment in Arlington Cemetery.

Born at Norwood, Va., Lieut. Callaway was graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1916, and one year later enlisted in the Marine Corps. He was appointed a second lieutenant shortly afterward, and in 1925 was made a first lieutenant. He saw service in Santo Domingo, China and Cuba. Besides his wife he is survived by two sisters and four brothers.

Honorary pallbearers will be Maj. C. D. Barrett, Capt. C. T. Brooks, Capt. W. Carvel Hall, Capt. C. O. Henry, Lieut. W. H. Lee, all of the Marine Corps; Lieut. Ralph Earle, U. S. N.; C. B. Keferstein, Horace Smithy, Dr. Hugh McGuire, Dr. Llewellyn Powell, Dr. T. K. Nelson, A. R. Hoxton, G. C. Stuart and C. V. Tompkins.

THOMAS P. PARKER RITES.

Funeral Services Will Be Held Today for Veteran Apartment Manager.

Funeral services for Thomas P. Parker, for many years connected with apartment managerships in Washington, who died Wednesday at the Park Lee Apartments, 1630 Park road northwest, will be held this afternoon from the parlors of Almus R. Speare, 1623 Connecticut avenue, followed by interment in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Born in Sussex County, Va., in 1871, Mr. Parker came to Washington about fifteen years ago. He had been retired from active business for many years. Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Ann W. Parker, of Washington; a son, Albert B. Parker, of Chicago; a brother, Hugh B. Parker, of Emporia, Va., and a sister, Mrs. C. Blount Darden, of Richmond, Va.

BERNHARDT RITES PLANNED.

Had Lived Here Most of Her 81 Years; Seven Children Survive.

Funeral arrangements are being made for Mrs. Agnes Philips Bernhardt, 81, who died Wednesday night at her home 483 G street southwest. She had lived in Washington 74 years.

Mrs. Bernhardt had been married twice. She is survived by seven children, 27 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren. The surviving children are Mrs. Estelle Bradshaw, Mrs. Florence Davis, Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mrs. Josie Stanford, Julius Phillips, Mrs. Lena Roux and John L. Bernhardt.

King Vidor Accused By Eleanor Boardman

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Cruelty was charged and a corespondent was named in a separate maintenance suit filed here today against King W. Vidor, motion picture director, by Eleanor Boardman, former film actress.

She asked a restraining order to prevent Vidor from disposing of about $1,000,000 in asserted community property and requested a "reasonable sum" for the support of herself and their two daughters, Antonia Vidor, 6, and Selinda Vidor, 2.

Buenos Aires, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Several slight earthquakes were felt in San Luis and Cordoba provinces today. No casualties or serious damage has been reported tonight.

HOW CAN A MERE MAN WIN?

Lillian Miles, a newcomer among the blondes of the screen, and Jack Holt, hero of many virile fables of the celluloids, as the caricaturist visualizes them in a scene from Columbia Pictures' production of "Man Against Woman," opening today at RKO-Keith's Theater.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THOSE who feel that the period of depression has afforded fewer occasions for thanksgiving than usual, may add to the list of their immediate blessings yesterday's eleventh-hour announcement from Mr. David Wallace, a distinguished itinerant savant of the theater, serving for the moment as the mouthpiece for the National Theater.

Late in the day, and all out of breath in his haste to catch the Sabbath prints ahead of the inexorable operation of a harrying and seemingly premature deadline, Mr. Wallace found his way pantingly to the dramatic desk yesterday evening with the glad intelligence that Thanksgiving week in the Capital will be notable for the presence in our eager midst of Miss Ethel Barrymore, widely recognized as the first of the "first ladies of the theater," in a new play, "Encore," produced and presented under the aegis of Arthur Hopkins, under whose propitious auspices, also others of her earlier successes have been recorded.

"Encore" is a vehicle which Miss Barrymore has had in prospect for many months and the production of which she has this year deferred from time to time to accommodate the production schedule of "Rasputin," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture in which she appears upon the screen with her brothers Lionel and John, only recently completed.

The new play comes to Washington direct from its initial try-out week in Wilmington, Del., and prior to its presentation on Broadway. Four leading men support the star, and a cast of careful and presumably judicious selection support the four leading men. The production has the additional advantage of Mr. Hopkins' personal direction and the visual distinction of settings by Robert Edmond Jones.

With "Cynara" canceled "Show Boat" moved up to the week of November 14 and the ensuing week at the National, threatened with dismal darkness over one of the gayest of the holidays, the sudden acquisition of no notable an attraction as Miss Barrymore in "Encore" to take possession of the house, beginning with the evening performance of Monday, November 21, is a windfall almost too good to be believed. Mr. Cochran, of the National, in fact, is still rubbing his eyes and pinching himself!

Emphasis is laid upon the unusual fact that matinees, for this engagement only, will be given on Friday and Saturday instead of on the Thanksgiving holiday itself or the day preceding—which may be part of discerning showmanship, at that.

Today's peculiar significance with regard to the events emblazoned upon the world's largest painting, lends point to the fact that special arrangements have been made for the schools located in and around the National Capital to take advantage of the educational value of the "Pantheon de la Guerre," the World War panorama now on exhibition in the Panorama Building, New Jersey avenue and C street, on Armistice Day. The Alexandria schools are making their Armistice Day visit to the Pantheon a feature of their trip to Washington.

Among the educational institutions that have already availed themselves of the panorama's first aid to historical clarity, and a grasp of the major engagements on the Western Front, are Gallaudet College, Arlington Hall, Gunston Hall, Mount Vernon Seminary, Trinity College, McKinley High School, Park View School, Van Buren School and the District Line School from Marlboro.

Incidentally, the "Pantheon de la Guerre" has been designated as a point to be visited on the Armistice Day tour of the Capital by the delegates to the annual convention of the Gold Star Mothers, in session yesterday, today and tomorrow at the Hotel Hamilton.

Word has been received from London, where she has made her home since her husband's appointment to the managing directorship of Loew's Empire Theater, on Leicester Square in the British capital, that Mrs. Harry W. Crull, wife of the former manager of the Fox Theater in this city, plans to return to the States in the near future to spend the Christmas holidays with her two sons in this country. Mr. Crull, it is understood, will remain on the other side, having been appointed to his new post only a comparatively few months ago.

Although originally announced to headline the vaudeville bill at Loew's Fox Theater beginning a week from today, Hedda Hopper, one of the best dressed and most popular of the screen's featured players, will not appear here the week of November 18. Her place on the bill has been taken by Valentine Vox, a ventriloquial artist. Will Osborne and his orchestra and the other scheduled acts on that program stand as originally penciled in.

Speaking of the stage attractions at Loew's Fox reminds me that within a tentative three weeks the entire vaudeville bill will be presented by the radio artists making up the "Camel Hour" on the air. These popular entertainers are headed by Tony Wons, who has fastened himself securely upon the regard of those who sit in front of loud speakers and bestow their unflagging allegiance upon what our English cousins so quaintly term "the wireless."

A note from Detroit, dated November 8, and written on the letterhead of the Detroit Fox Theater, conveys the friendly intelligence that Dave Idzal and Jack Hurford, both prominently identified with local theatrical circles in the not distant past and now jointly intrusted with the conduct of the Michigan cathedral, are going in for spectacular showmanship in a big and constructive way.

Every Sunday morning they are putting on an hour's concert by a symphony orchestra of 75 playing members and have in contemplation for the immediate future a permanent house chorus and ballet—akin to the old Foxettes—in conjunction with the regular weekly stage show. If this plan is successfully consummated, Mr. Hurford informs me that the Detroit Fox will take rank among the Midwest de luxe picture houses as the equal of the best in point of diversity and completeness of program and extravagant entertainment value at the prevalent scale of admissions.

A crisp, final paragraph specifically admonishes this column to convey the sincerest regards and unflagging esteem of the Messrs. Idzal and Hurford to you, and you, and you, not forgetting the fellow with you—or is it a girl with short boyish bob? As I remember it, they always did have difficulty in determining at a distance!

There is to be another of those things at Loew's Fox tonight. I mean, with a game being fought out on the gridiron and a little keen competition on the links, City Manager Carter Barron, of the Loew enterprises, has arranged to stage a "Golf and College Night," at which the teams of Georgetown U. and West Virginia Wesleyan will be the gridiron guests and some of the most prominent golfers in America the others.

Among the exponents of the Scots' favorite pastime of cow pasture pool will be Walter Hagen, Johnnie Farrell, Horton Smith, Tommy Armour, Willie MacFarlane, Sandy Armour, Paul Runyan and Al Houghton.

Just to turn the night into a field day, if you can handle the paradox, two personalities of the baseball diamond also will be among the outstanding representatives of ranking American sports, in the persons of Nick Altrock and Sam Rice, mainstays each after his individual fashion, of the Nationals during the playing season.

Is there a good ping-pong or tiddledy-winks player in the house who would care to represent the rougher and more red-blooded of the sports?

Still Time to Enter Contest For Sea Trip

Showing of "One Way Passage" ended at the Earle Theater yesterday but for those who want to make a two-way trip to Europe free, the closing of the picture simply meant renewed efforts to win this prize.

For the best 20-word interpretation of the ending of the film story, The Washington Post and Warner Bros. will give a free trip to Europe and return on the S. S. Paris of the French Line. There will also be transportation for the winner's escort.

Prior to the European trip the winner will be flown to New York by Eastern Air Transport and feted at the Edison Hotel, also free. The deadline for entries is Thursday midnight, November 17. Get yours in on time.

ROBERT S. J. FISHER DIES AT HOME HERE

Attorney Was York, Pa., Native, Coming to Washington as Patent Expert.

Robert Strettell Jones Fisher, prominent Washington attorney and consulting counsel of the Eastern Railroad Association, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1915 Kalorama road, following a short illness.

Born in York, Pa., on July 25, 1847, Mr. Fisher first came to Washington in 1876 as examiner of the U. S. Patent Office. He was later appointed to the position of assistant commissioner of the office, which posion he held until 1891 when he went with the Railroad Association.

He was graduated from Gettysburg College in 1867, receiving his A. B. degree, and in 1869 was graduated from Albany Law School with a L.L. B. degree. He served with the Navy during the Civil War, at the close of which he resigned and took up law.

He was admitted to the Chicago bar in 1869 and was a member of the United States Supreme Court, the District of Columbia Supreme Court and the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

He was a member of Zeta Psi Fraternity, the American Bar Association, the American Patent Law Association, the Navy League, the Society of Colonial Wars, the All Hallows Guild of Washington Cathedral, the Cosmos Club, the Albemarle Club of London, St. John's Church and was one of the founders of St. Margaret's Church.

A sister, Miss Mary L. Fisher, of York, Pa., survives him.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at St. John's Church in Lafayette Square, followed by interment in Rock Creek Cemetery.

GREECE FAILS TO PAY DEBT INSTALLMENT

cerning debts and been delivered to the American Government by the ambassador.

After the conference, Stimson declined any comment. The British Embassy would not deny or confirm belief that Sir Ronald had delivered the communication on debts, answering all questions with: "Speculation."

Contents of Note Secret.

It was said in informed quarters, though, that if the note had not been delivered either Stimson or the Embassy would have issued a flat denial.

The subject of the communication was not revealed. Belief had been expressed earlier that as soon as the American elections were over, European nations would ask for discussions of war debts and interest payments due shortly. It was assumed the British note dealt with those subjects.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, chairman of the potent foreign relations committee, declined to discuss the debt question with relation to the Britsh note, but earlier he had issued a statement saying he could not conceive this Government would entertain a proposition leading to "debts cancellation and nothing more."

"If Europe continues her program of the last twelve or thirteen years, there is no reason in the world why we should cancel the debts," he sadi.

Sees No Relief in Plan.

"It would not bring relief to Europe and it would not help our economic conditions.

"If a program were presented which would restore world markets, get rid of the devastating burden of armaments, restore our monetary systems to normal conditions, that would be one thing. But to talk of cancellation of the debts and nothing more is to present an impossible program, one-sided, and a program which I should oppose and would not consider for a moment."

Any agreement reached would have to be approved by Senator Borah's committee.

There was some discussion in Washington of the likelihood that Secretary Stimson would want to put the British note up to President Hoover before making any public statement on it. The President, now in Palo Alto, will return to Washington shortly. Frequently he has expressed the belief that the American people would not demand payments beyond capacity of any government to pay.

Payments Due December 15.

The Treasury expects, in lieu of official notices of postponement, to collect the following obligations due December 15:

Country.	Principal.	Interest.	Total.
Belgium	$2,125,000	$2,125,000	$2,125,000
Czechoslovakia	1,500,000	.....	1,500,000
Estonia	21,000	245,370	266,370
Finland	58,000	128,235	186,235
France	.....	19,261,438	19,261,438
Gt. Brit'n	30,000,000	65,550,000	95,550,000
Italy	.....	1,245,437	1,245,437
Latvia	9,200	102,652	111,852

Poland	232,000	3,070,980	3,302,980

London, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—It was learned here that a British note on the subject of debt payments due the United States on December 15 was delivered to Secretary of State Stimson in Washington today by the British Ambassador.

The contents of the note will be kept secret here until the Government is informed of Secretary Stimson's views on whether it should be made public.

The British Press Association lobby correspondent said the fact that the British government acted so promptly upon completion of the election in the United States suggested that informal conversations, which are known to have taken place in recent months, had thoroughly prepared the way for the approach.

Harry N. Taylor, Coal Leader, Dies

Credited With Sponsoring First Mechanized Operations.

Chicago, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Harry N. Taylor, 67, of New York, a leading executive in the coal industry for many years, died today of angina pectoris at the Medinah Athletic Club.

Taylor was chairman of the United Electric Coal Corporation of Danville, Ill., and formerly had been president of the National Coal Association, representative in the West and Southwest for the U. S. Fuel Administration during the war, president of the Penn Anthracite Collieries, head of the U. S. Trucking Corporation and president of the U. S. Distributing Corporation. He was also vice president of Pattison-Brown, Inc.

Evangeline Adams Dies; Was Famous Astrologer

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Evangeline Adams, the astrologer who claimed to have predicted the death of King Edward of England and the disastrous Hotel Windsor fire in New York, died suddenly today in her studio apartment. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Miss Adams, who in private life was Mrs. George E. Jordan, jr., had been ill about a week. She was born in Jersey City, a descendant of John Quincy Adams. She studied science extensively, one of her tutors having been Dr. J. Hebner Smith, physician and astrologer.

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

WASHINGTON is indeed the Capital of the Nation this week with the creme de la creme of the professional talent already congregated here for the $2,500 National Capital Open at Kenwood tomorrow and Saturday.

Never in history has as famous a field trod any local links, barring not even the national open of 1921 held at the Columbia Country Club. The city is staging its biggest golfing show and can thank the progressive administration of the Kenwood Club, which, although it shouldered a $600 loss last year, is undaunted in its determination to stage the tournament again.

Last year's tournament served to strip every vestige of skepticism from the District's golfing public. It was a surprise even to this department when the bigwigs of professional golf competed last year as advertised. Too many fly-by-night tournaments had sought the same kind of a field without success, but Kenwood staged its show along the same pretentious lines that had been planned.

Big Guns of Golf Already Here.

On the scene already are enough of the big names of golf to insure the artistic success of the tournament. Walter Hagen, Horton Smith, Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Johnny Golden, Wiffy Cox, Denny Shute, Tony Manero, Abe Espinosa and Al Watrous are merely a few who are already playing the course in practice.

Arriving today will be Gene Sarazen, the four Turnesas—Joe, Mike, Phil and Frank—Willie MacFarlane, T. Philip Perkins, Johnny Farrell and Bill Mehlhorn, to mention only a few more who will be seeking the first prize money of $700. That line-up constitutes as fine a field as competes in most national tournaments and District golf fans can feast on the greatest exhibition of shot-making every perpetrated on a local links.

MacFarlane Defending 1931 Title.

Willie MacFarlane will be defending the title he won last year in a field that included such satellites as Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley, but the competition will be stiffer tomorrow and Saturday with Horton Smith and Walter Hagen in there swinging their sticks.

The experts who predict such things have singled out four of the pros as the outstanding favorites. In the order of their preference are listed Sarazen, Smith, Hagen and Armour. Sarazen, on the game that won him the American and British Open titles last summer, tops the list, but Hagen has displayed top form in the fall tournaments and Horton Smith has proved in practice rounds that he has fully recovered from his broken wrist.

There's another dangerous man in the entry list and he's none other than Al Houghton, the Kenwood Club pro. Golf knows no custom that forbids the host professional from collecting the prize money that his club is offering and with Houghton shooting subpar in practice and boasting a better than speaking acquaintance with every blade of grass on the fairway, he's no long shot.

BATTERY GRIDMEN BOOKING.

B Battery, Sixteenth Field Artillery, 150-pound eleven is on the lookout for games with strong teams in its class. The Blue Coats and Stantons are especially challenged. Call Fitzpatrick at West 2084.

Pros Swarm Kenwood in Practice

Houghton Posts Best Card, 69; Runyon Shoots a 70.

Sarazen to Compete in Tourney Starting Tomorrow.

By DAVE HERMAN.

AMERICA'S most famous golfing sons, some veterans of 15 seasons of national competition, and others, youngsters, who in recent years have forged into the front ranks, yesterday invaded Kenwood's course in practice rounds preparatory to the $2,500 National Capital open Saturday and Sunday. But it remained for Al Houghton, host club pro, and Paul Runyon, from the Metropolis Club, New York, to post the best rounds.

Houghton, who knows every blade of grass over the sporty layout, clicked off a neat 69, one below standard figures, while Runyon, shooting in rock-steady fashion, waged an even battle with Old Man Par for a 70.

The course, heavy after two days of rain, was astir with activity from noon until dusk. This afternoon all of the out-of-town professional stars will be on the scene to tune up their games.

Dutra and Diegel Missing.

Two famous stars who will be missing when the 54-hole battle opens tomorrow morning are Olin Dutra, sensational P. G. A. champion from Santa Monica, and Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente. While Gene Sarazen, British and American open champion, has not sent in his entry as yet, his friends from New York brought glad tidings that the swarthy Italian expert had made up his mind to enter, and would probably arrive some time today.

Thus far, the Kenwood committee has received 144 entries, with the list certain to swell over the century mark by teeing-off time. Post entries are to be accepted. The committee last night made the pairings and starting times.

Houghton's 69 yesterday afternoon was produced from a 34 on the first nine and a 35 on the back stretch. He played in a foursome that included the North and South titleholder, Johnny Golden, pro of Noroton, Conn., who had 35—38—73; Tom Boyd, of Stapleton, Staten Island, and A. B. Thorn, of Woodmont.

Runyon Consistent In Practice.

Paul Runyon, the slim little fellow with a bag full of shots, plodded along consistently from hole to hole, whipping out a 35 on each nine. He was in a foursome that included such international stars as Billy Burke, of Greenwich, Conn., 1931 national open ruler; Horton Smith, the tall Glen Oak (Ill.) star, and Bob Harlow, manager of Walter Hagen. Smith, who shot a 69 the other day in his first round, went around in 37—36, after missing a couple of putts by inches.

After his second shot for an eagle curled away from the cup on the sloping sixteenth green "punch bowl hole," Horton Smith was heard to remark, "This is a tunnel hole after all." Smith missed by inches of holing out from 60 yards away. Throughout the eighteen holes he banged out tremendous tee shots.

Burke, puffing away on a cigar, and playing in a most careful manner, made the turn in 37, and was back in 35, barely missing a birdie on the home hole. His approach shots were spectacular, especially on the last six holes, three of which were birdies. Harlow had a 77.

Abe Espinosa, Chicago pro, reported a 74; Tony Manero, of New York, a 74, Ed Williams, of Cleveland, a 76; Joe Ford, Lakeville, Conn., a 75, and Arnold Gray, of Yonkers, a 76.

Shorey Leads D. C. Pros With 72.

Of the local pros, Mel Shorey, of East Potomac, hitting the last nine in 34 strokes, had a 72; Reda Cunningham, of Burning Tree, a 76; Al Treder, of Manor, a 75, and Leo Waple, a 74.

Late in the afternoon Ed Dudley, the seige gun from Wilmington, Del., breezed into the clubhouse and went out for a brisk twelve-hole workout with Horton Smith. A number of the big shots played around, but were reluctant to report their scores.

Tommy Armour and Walter Hagen, former British, P. G. A., Canadian and American open title holders, were not present yesterday. Hagen's manager stated he was in an exhibition at Virginal Beach and was certain to appear for practice today. Johnny Farrell, the dapper Quaker Ridge pro, also has indicated he would tune up today. Willie MacFarlane, defending champion, will open his practice campaign this morning.

MD. U. EVEN WITH NAVY IN WEIGHT

Rouzer Replaced by Mitchell at Center for Old Liners.

ONE shift that has been made in the Maryland line-up for the State classic grid battle with Navy in the Baltimore Stadium tomorrow has put the teams on even terms in poundage.

John Mitchell, the handy man of the Old Line Team, who has played center and right guard for the Old Liners in games this season, will be at left guard in place of Rouzer in the battle with the Middies. Mitchell, who tips the scales at only 173, is more than 40 pounds lighter than Rouzer, the heaviest man on the Maryland squad.

Rouzer has been displaced by Mitchell for the reason that he went to his home in Altoona, Pa., after the Vanderbilt contest and missed the first three practice sessions this week. Mitchell, too, has been playing fine football. He went through the entire tilt against Vanderbilt last Saturday at right guard, playing in the place of the injured McDonald, a 194-pounder.

Maryland Polishes Up Attack.

With Rouzer in the game, the Maryland team average 181 pounds to the man to 177 for the Midshipmen. With him out, the elevens that have been named to start, are almost to the pound on a par.

The Old Liners put in a long and intensive session at College Park yesterday with most of the time devoted to polishing up the attack. Maryland realizes that Navy's best work this year has been done on the defense and is hopeful that it can build up something that will go around and over the Middies if it can not go through them. In other words, the Old Liners are figuring on utilizing their speed and passing.

While most of the time was spent on the offense yesterday, Coach Curley Byrd found time to discuss defense to a certain extent and today will finish the job of telling the boys the methods to be used in stopping the attack of Rip Miller's charges.

Daughter Is Born To Fred Marberrys

Corsicana, Tex., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—An 8-pound daughter was born today to Mrs. Fred Marberry, wife of the veteran right-handed pitcher with the Washington club of the American League.

Hagerty Revises Line-Up For Game With Wesleyan

DECISIVE changes in the Georgetown line-up will be in order tomorrow when the revamped Hilltoppers meet stern competition in West Virginia Wesleyan at Griffith Stadium. A strenuous workout yesterday on the rapidly drying Hoya field was marked by the fine showing of several reserve men, all of whom will see service tomorrow.

Coach Jack Hagerty was particularly pleased with the showing of Frank Williamson, 205 pound junior center, and the only Washingtonian on the team. Williamson has been playing third-string all year, to Callahan and Carpenter. His fine snapping back and offensive drive in yesterday's drill clinched the job for him.

Mike Lione, who has been on and off the first team all season, got back on again yesterday and will start the signal calling tomorrow against the determined Wesleyan outfit, which is out to hand Georgetown its first beating in four games between the two institutions.

The rest of the back field will be all leg-drive boys, whose brawn is needed to put over the power plays of Hagerty. They are Wilmer Bradley, Johnny Shimmens and Joe Saverini, who is the fastest of the lot.

Georgetown's two "gazelles"—Al Kelly and Ray Parcella—will be held in readiness for moments of the game when Georgetown needs more speed than brawn.

The game should be a real test for Georgetown and Hagerty. It marks the first appearance of the former Hilltop idol as a coach in Washington. In an effort to pull a full fledged Warnerized team on the field tomorrow Hagerty yesterday added several more plays to the original ten the team has been working on.

GRID RULES CHIEF DIES AT 62

E. K. Hall Famed for Many Revisions in Football Code.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Edward K. Hall, ranking executive in intercollegiate football, succumbed to a heart attack at his home here today. He was 62 years old and his death came suddenly despite a long illness.

Ed Hall, as he was known to the college sport world, almost single-handedly shaped football into its present popular form during his 27 years of service on the national football rules committee. He became chairman of that governing body following on the death of his beloved idol, Walter Camp. Disciples who bowed to the famous Yale man as "father" of football revered his Dartmouth successor as "savior" of the game.

Intelligence, Cooperation Mend Game.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—A handsome, silver-headed man sat behind a massive desk high up in one of big business' brick-steel monuments, just off Wall street. Dusk was coming on, and lights twinkled far below on the Hudson as he gazed out the window and tapped the flat desk absently with his pencil tip.

"There's nothing wrong with football, Edward Kimbal' Hall said, "that intelligence and cooperation can't mend. College youngsters need the game now more than ever before to offset the softness of these easy-living times.

"Football's greatest foes are overzealous friends, too-eager alumni, coaches who won't let well enough alone. Our particular job on the rules committee is to take care of the latter, make the playing code as simple and effective there can be no misconstruction.

"I think we've done that. We can rest for awhile."

Hall Retires to Hills At Hanover.

So Edward K. Hall, member of the football rules committee since 1906, when it was first formed, chairman of the committe since 1908, retired to the Hanover Hills about Dartmouth, where he had starred in football, baseball and track in his college days. He was 60 years old, independently wealthy.

Today he died there suddenly at the age of 62, and from all parts of the Nation, from coaches, officials, directors alike, came expressions of sorrow and regret, as well as affirmation that he had done his work so well it could "rest for awhile."

A kindly, soft-voiced man, E. K. Hall was the first choice of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in 1906 to undertake, through changes in the football rules, the job

Detroit Gives Ruel Unconditional Release

St. Louis, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Herold ("Muddy") Ruel, who has been a member of six major league baseball teams, was today notified of his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers, to whom he was under reservation.

Ruel said he had no plans. Under baseball law, Ruel is a "10-year" man and is privileged to sell his services to best advantage. His release means that he was offered to all major league clubs and that none claimed him at the waiver price of $7,500.

Never a heavy hitter, Ruel has been regarded as a standout catcher and a good field general.

Vassell Mat Victim of Steele

Garibaldi, Cox Are Victors in Other Good Matches.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

"A FOOT in the mouth is worth two in the hand," said Confucius at a meeting of the Beer and Rassling Club long ago. Last night a burly disciple, Ray Steele, thought of the saying of the wise man and slung one bare foot around and socked George Vassell a fine sock right in his leering mechanism.

Vassell fell heavily backward, and Steele, like an unchained and hungry tiger, leaped on him and hurled him heavily five times to the Auditorium mat, and on the fifth trip Steele stayed on top, and there was not much else that Referee Bortnick could do but count 1-2-3. The tangle lasted 33 minutes in all, and, as expected, Steele had trouble only in carrying the willing, but inept, Greek along with him. Steele broke all the holds he wanted to and occasionally came out of his shell and tied Vassell into reef knots.

Match Is Even Until End.

Near the end it was very even. Vassell, in fact, threw Steele around with so much vigor that it looked for a moment almost like an upset, but then Vassell attempted to edge Steele's mountainous shoulders to the mat by holding him upside down by his ankles. Steele cocked one bare leg (he rassled barefooted) and let Mr. Vassell have it.

Two preliminary bouts stole the show from under the rambling noses of the principals. In the semifinal round of the night's tournament Gino Garibaldi stowed away Herman Hickman, all-American tackle last year while with the University of Tennessee, in 16 bloody minutes. It was one of the roughest bouts ever held here.

Ernie Dusek Draws With Coleman.

Ernie Dusek, Rudy's tough little brother, rassled himself an equally interesting 30-minute draw with Terrible Abe Coleman. Many considered this not only the best bout of the night, but one of the best presented here lately.

In the remaining two bouts, Joe Cox, recently operated on for a chipped bone in his right arm, looked like the best rassler on the card with a breezy 10-minute victory over Lou Plummer, durable former Notre Dame athlete, and Pat McKay and George McLeod committed a 30-minute draw.

Close to 4,000 saw the show.

Deadline Tonight for Fans in Contest

The lure of four box seats to the Catholic University-Duquesne football game to be played a week from tonight is proving a tremendous boost to The Washington Post's fourth football contest. More than 2,000 fans will be in the running this week—a real football crowd.

The current contest comes to a close at midnight tonight, but any mail received tomorrow mailed before 12 o'clock tonight will be accepted.

Thousands of Washington football fans are familiar with the popular Post Football Selections Contest, but in the event some of the fans came in late it might be worth while to review the particulars.

Below are twelve football games to be played tomorrow. There ought to be twelve winners, and you probably have an idea who they will be. But you must also put down the score by which you believe your choices will win, for this is the only means the contest editor has of deciding ties.

Let's go, Washingtonians. Do you realize that a strictly local fan has yet to win a first prize of four choice box seats this season? The quartet of choicest seats have gone each week to a suburbanite.

Don't forget—the deadline is at midnight tonight. There will also be prizes to second and third place winners.

Appointed

BUSH NAMED MANAGER OF REDS

Signs for One Year at Reported Wage of $20,000.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The job of hauling the lowly Cincinnati Reds out of the National League cellar today was pinned on the shoulders of diminutive Donie Bush, whose teams have finished out of the first division but twice.

He was given a contract for just one year, but President Sidney Weil said he was confident he had picked "the right man."

The new manager, who returns to the National League for the first time since 1927, when he piloted the Pittsburgh Pirates into the world's series, promptly announced there would be no drastic changes in the Reds' lineup. Neither will there be any trades involving Herman, Hafey, Lucas and Grantham unless the team can be strengthened greatly in vital spots.

Sought $25,000 and 3-Year Contract.

Bush succeeds Dan Howley, now with Toronto, who for three years tried to get the Reds out of last place. His salary was not divulged, but a month ago Donie said he was holding out for a three-year ticket at $25,000 annually. Some "insiders," however, said his pay would be low in comparison to his reputation.

The impression prevailed among Redland fans that Cincinnati will start going somewhere with Bush at the helm. Only during the two seasons he spent with the last-place Chicago White Sox in the American League, have Bush's teams finished lower than fourth. His White Sox were last in 1930 and 1931.

Bush started his baseball career on the sandlots of Indianapolis, then played professionally at Dayton, Ohio, became star shortstop for the Detroit Tigers and ended his playing days with Washington.

Was Manager Here in 1923.

He began his managerial career with Washington in 1923 and piloted Indianapolis in 1924. In 1927 he went to Pittsburgh, where he stayed until 1929, the next year going to Chicago. After his two lean years with the White Sox, he became manager of the Minneapolis American Association Club, which he leaves to come to Cincinnati.

Well selected Bush from a host of aspirants that included Honus Wagner, Eddie Roush, Jim Bottomley, Dave Bancroft, Rabbit Maranville, Spencer Abbot, Billy Southworth and Jack Onslow.

WITHOUT much doubt the best football team ever to represent George Washington University will trot on the field tonight at Griffith Stadium to do battle with William and Mary's Indians before an expected throng of 15,000 clients of the grid game. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

In perfect physical condition, with the exception of regular left end Fred Mulvey, the team packs strength in every department and is rated a favorite to win over the fast-traveling Braves, from Williamsburg, a squad of hard-running, reckless football players who have numbered Navy, V. M. I., W. and L., Randolph-Macon, Roanoke and Guilford among their victims, and have yielded decisions only to two of the best teams in the country—Army and V. P. I.

William and Mary's even chances of winning tonight's ball game fell decidedly last night when Coach "Honest John" Kellison of the Williamsburg outfit, announced that illness and injuries would keep Capt. Halligan, star end and punter; Right Guard Quirk, dependable lineman, and even possibly Charlie Shade, dazzling quarter back, out of the game. Shade accompanied the team to Washington last night, and it is possible that he may persuade "Honest John" to put him in the game, despite the fact that he is still suffering from the bruising received against Army.

Brilliant, dangerous football is in order tonight, as mercury-heeled back field men attempt to confound the solidly piled up lines of both teams.

Bob Galloway Will Replace Mulvey.

Mulvey will be replaced by Bob Galloway, one of the best defensive players now wearing the star-spangled G. W. uniform. Galloway has not had much chance to shine this year with both Capt. Chambers and Mulvey in the game, but there is no doubt that he would be a first stringer with any other club in town.

Both Johnny Fenlon and Nig McCarver are in the game tonight. Fenlon fully recovered from the terrific banging-up he received in the Alabama game nearly a month ago. Fenlon's presence in the line-up will make it possible to give McCarver chances to catch his breath, something he hardly had a chance to do since becoming the Colonials' triple threat.

Fenlon and Dike Ready to Play.

The locals once again pin their hopes largely on McCarver, but there will be a feeling of security, for the rest of the backs, particularly Fenlon, is in fine shape. Tom Dike, dependable lineman, injured since the Alabama game, in which he did some heroic tackling, will be back in shape tonight, hip-to-hip, for a time, with Zuzu Stewart, one of the most picturesque line men ever to play in Washington.

MERCURY'S PRACTICE.

All members of the Mercury A. C. are requested to report at Sixth and B streets southwest, tonight at 7 o'clock for practice.

PILATE OUTRUNS HYGRO TO WIN PIMLICO SPRINT FEATURE

2-to-5 Choice Victim of Hanford

Thrills, Laughs Provided in Foxhounds Steeplechase.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 10.—Buddy Hanford tried some turf strategy which had been successfully worked earlier in the day by Charlie Kurtsinger, and there lies the tale of the defeat of the Nevada Stock Farm's Hygro, the consensus of consensuses and backed down to 2 to 5 as the field approached the starting stalls.

The part of the drying out track near the inner rail was muddy except for a path where stable boys and horsemen had walked during the morning. It was for this path that Hanford aimed his mount as it turned into the stretch with Hygro leading Pilate. However, Hanford was never able to get his mount on the harder surface and Pilate, destined to be the winner, was kept nearer the center toward the drier part of the course. While Hygro was shuffling for footing, Pilate, hard urged by Malley, closed the gap and had a half-length margin at the finish.

Others Have No Chance With First Two.

No other horse had a chance with the first two, and third money went to Masked Knight. Pilate rewarded the faithful with a $7.10 mutuel.

An exhibition of horsemanship which generally blooms unseen down in the hills of Virginia provided many thrills and a million laughs for the crowd. The occasion was the Master of Foxhounds Steeplechase for gentleman riders and over a 3-mile course. For a time it appeared that the winner might have to be ridden around in the dead horse wagon.

However, Point Breeze staggered to the finish ahead of Kim by five lengths. That was the first installment of the race. In the second chapter, Light Plume beat Netta Run by three minutes for the show. The winner, ridden by Mr. R. McKinney, went to the post an odds-on choice and paid $3.10 in the mutuels.

Point Breeze and Kim were the only horses and Mr. McKinney and Mr. Skinner were the only jockeys not to feel a fall Degas, with Mr. Duffy aboard, and Fair Bob, with Mr. Young in the saddle, went down for keeps, but not so with Light Plume and Netta Run Mr. Ely, who had the mount on the former, chased his horse around the infield, and remounted as the first two were finishing.

Ely Remounts and Finishes By Himself.

Ely, who is only 17, went around the course by himself. Mr. Woolfe, who had fallen with Netta Run at the jump in front of the press box, walked across the track, came through the gate by the judges' stand and took a deep drink of water. He appeared to remember then that there was fourth money in the race. He ran back to the jumping course, located his horse, and came back to take the brushes and save the tiny end of the purse. The winner's time was 6 minutes 35 3-5 seconds, and Netta Run finished a good 5 minutes away.

The second race saw the dismal failure of Sir Kendal as a favorite. This fellow was never prominent except in the mutuel machines. The winner turned up in Dakol, a 7-1 shot. Jockey Kneessi worked his way up on the back stretch and then had to hand out punishment to get Dakol home ahead of Accotink, a 21-1 shot, and Chloedair.

Jockey Kurtsinger slipped one over on the boys with Silk Flag in the third. He led the field all the way. Turning into the stretch, Kurtsinger kept Silk Flag on the rail and stepped down a path of hard dirt made by the persons walking along the track.

Enactment, Codetta Are Outrun.

Enactment, the favorite, and the heavily played Codetta were in the soft footing in the center of the track and were sliding as Silk Flag finished.

The fourth race, a mile and 70 yards test for 2-year-olds, saw the rout of another favorite and a victory for Denon. It also marked the second winner of the day for Jockey Kneessi. True Sweep was second and Kate was third.

AT THE POST

DEAR AL: PIMLICO RACE TRACK.

Buddy Stotler, who trains for the Sagamore Stable, is also taking over the Coe Stable, recently under the wing of Benny Creech. Stotler is one of the few horsemen who still has confidence in the ability of little Willie Nertney, who was seriously injured in a spill at this track and who has never regained his place in the riding world.

Many think that Nertney's nerve is gone. Not so with Stotler. He is preparing the boy for some handsome piloting next season. Next month, Nertney will go to New Orleans with Bob McPherson, who is taking six horses, including Glastonbury and Merry Fox. Nertney will get plenty of riding and Stotler firmly believes the boy will come back to be the ace rider in Maryland. Signing off, BILL.

FIRST RACE—CHLOEDAIR'S race yesterday was a fair effort and this filly must be given an opportunity to graduate out of the maiden ranks, providing she's sent back. EPIDAWN has threatened and will be the one to beat. DONYA for the rest.

SECOND RACE—TETRARCHAL did all asked in his last start and appears to have the edge here. McGONIGLE likes the track and will give the top fellow a keen battle. SUNVIR, in new hands, for the show.

THIRD RACE—CHARACTER has won three in a row and there appears to be nothing here to stop him. TABAKU is seen coming close and may be the big surprise of this race. ARROWSWIFT to take the short end.

FOURTH RACE—CHU CHU is as game as they make them and will not be out of place in front of this field. ROYAL RUFFIAN and TRY IT for the remainder.

FIFTH RACE—GOLDEN WAY again. Take him or leave him but I believe he's home today. NOTEBOOK and THE DARB to battle it out for the place.

SIXTH RACE—WAR BANNER can take care of these, I'm confident. Has shown real speed in trials. FILTER appeared to have lost the punch in her last two starts. Is far down on the eligible list. SKY HAVEN may beat the others.

SEVENTH RACE—BRIGHT BIRD drops down a notch in this and may hold that early speed to score at good odds. GLORIA MARIS and BUCK HERO for the rest.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—POINT BREEZE, $3.10, $2.90, $2.60; KIM, $4.20, $2.80; LIGHT PLUME, $3.40.

POINT BREEZE, full of run and following close to the early leaders, assumed command at the eighteenth fence, galloped along strongly thereafter. KIM, rated close to the pace from KIM at the eighteenth fence and held sway thereafter. KIM, rated close, taken in hand early, fenced cleverly, made a stout effort in the last half mile, but was not good enough. LIGHT PLUME fell at the ninth fence. NETTA RUN fell at the eighth fence, was remounted and saved third. DEGAS was distressed and fell at the seventeenth fence; his bridle broke loose and he could not be captured in time to complete the course. DEGAS fell at the fifth jump.

SECOND RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 1:50. Off at 1:54. Winner, A. Morrissey's b. c. (3), by Dodge—On Time. Trained by M. Colford. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 3-5, 0:51 3-5, 1:18 3-5, 1:46, 1:52 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DAKOL, $16.30, $11.40, $6.80; ACCOTINK, $22.00, $10.70; CHLOEDAIR, $7.40.

DAKOL, taken to the outside of the leaders when midway of the back stretch, stretched away and was kept under pressure to make certain of victory. ACCOTINK worked his way up steadily, made a determined effort when approaching the home stretch, but hung thereafter. CHLOEDAIR went well placed and raced well.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Caswell (first division). For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, ridden out. Went to post at 2:22. Off at 2:24½. Winner, Anall Stable's br. c. (2), by Stuntino—Silk Lady. Trained by E. J. Bennett. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:49 3-5, 1:16 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SILK FLAG, $22.10, $5.40, $2.80; ENACTMENT, $2.70; $2.10; CODETTA, $2.40.

SILK FLAG, having the most speed, drew clear in the opening furlong, responded to pressure when challenged, and bustling a path near to the inner rail held ENACTMENT safe at the end. Latter, steadied along early, was placed to severe punishment entering the home stretch, but was unable to close much the winner thereafter. CODETTA moved up menacingly when approaching the home stretch, but weakened. BABEE saved ground and closed courageously.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:51. Off at 2:53. Winner, Tedlu Stable's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DENON, $35.00, $14.00, $8.30; TRUE SWEEP, $7.40, $5.10; KATE, $5.20.

DENON, sent into the thick of contention, raced KATE into defeat and drawing clear when approaching the home stretch came away readily at the end. TRUE SWEEP, slow to get into full stride, circled his field and finished gamely. KATE, hurried to the front, was steadied along until challenged, but could not keep pace in with good courage. SIR GARETH knocked off stride with the break, recovered gamely and closed a big gap. PRECIOUS DOLLAR made up some ground in the late stages. SWEEPERMAN was made too much effort racing with the early leaders. GADAROUND had a rough passage at the first turn.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Calvert. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:22. Off at 3:24½. Winner, A. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PILATE, $7.10, $2.60, $2.30; HYGRO, $2.30, $2.10; MASKED KNIGHT, $2.70.

PILATE, rushed along in the opening furlong to reach a forward position, followed HYGRO closely while on the outside, came stoutly when straightened into the home stretch and was up in the last 50 yards. HYGRO, a quick beginner, was taken to the drive in the final quarter mile, and finished a determined effort when attempting to stay on a dry path. MASKED KNIGHT was held perfectly safe when making his effort. MORSEL could not improve his position at any stage. PARRY was outrun. MABLA was never in contention.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Caswell (second division). For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:52½. Off at 3:55. Winner, J. J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHRYSOSTOM, $7.80, $3.60, $2.90; WAR STRIPES, $4.50, $3.60; ROCK COVENTRY, $6.70.

CHRYSOSTOM, outrun badly for the first half mile and forced to race wide for racing room, responded to punishment when entering the home stretch and closed rapidly to catch the leaders inside the final furlong. WAR STRIPES, stoutly ridden gamely and was willing at the end. ROCK COVENTRY finished with good energy. GOOD ADVICE and HOPE TO DO were rushed hard while racing closely clustered well clear of their field, and both stopped fast in the final drive.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, ridden out. Went to post at 4:23. Off at 4:25½. Winner, Whyte's ch. h. (7), by Trojan—Bellsolar. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:50 3-5, 1:17 3-5, 1:45 3-5, 1:52 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SOLACE, $7.30, $5.20, $3.50; MUD, $6.20, $4.10; BLACK PATRICIA, $5.80.

SOLACE, at home in the going and sent up to the pacemaker, wore BLACK PATRICIA down when straightened into the home stretch and had speed in reserve at the end. MUD, rated off the pace, gained on the outside when put to a drive and finished with good courage. BLACK PATRICIA, rated in front but kept in the worst footing, tired when racing on the inside in the final drive. SYRIAC

GONZAGANS, SAINTS TOP PROGRAM

Meeting to Headline 3-Game Scholastic Card Today.

SCHEDULE TODAY.

Eastern vs. Central, at Central, 3:30 o'clock.

St. John's vs. Gonzaga, at Eastern, 3:15 o'clock.

Devitt Prep vs. National Training School, at National Training School, 3:15 o'clock.

A PALATABLE dish will be served scholastic football fans today. Three games are listed for local consumption and another local team will hie to nearby Baltimore to help make the fourth game.

St. John's and Gonzaga meet on the field of battle in their annual game in what is probably the outstanding attraction of the day. Comparing the records of the two would not warrant placing the game at the top of the list, but records count for naught in this case. It is always blood and thunder when the Cadets and the Purple clash.

St. John's will have its full complement of gridders, with a single exception, available for the first time since the Central game, which was played early in the season. Billy Tobin, full back, is recuperating from a slight concussion of the brain suffered in the Alexandria game. The rest of the squad is in fine fettle and straining at the leash.

Gonzaga to Revamp Line-Up.

Gonzaga will present a slightly revamped line-up from the one which started the Swavely game. Frankie Mann will be at full back, Merkle at end and either Dunnington or Boyle at center.

The game will be played at the Eastern High School Stadium at 3:15 o'clock.

Eastern and Central sound the curfew for the high school championship series with their game at 3:30 o'clock at Central. Eastern is a heavy favorite to win. Coach Guyon, however, is taking nothing for granted and has been driving the Light Blue in preparation for the contest.

The game affords the public a second glance at Eastern's speed merchant, Joe Keegin, in action. Keegin made his debut against Western last week and was the main reason for the big Red eleven's downfall.

Despite its surprise defeat at the hands of Western, National Training School must be rated among the strongest elevens in the city. Today it has ample opportunity of proving its case. It meets Devitt Prep on the Training School field at 3:15 o'clock.

Training Eleven Ready For Devitt.

Ed Crandall has pointed his team for this meeting with Devitt, playing on its home field, Training School is going to be a tough nut to crack. Dick Turner reports Devitt not in the best of shape, but confident of adding another victory to its string.

Georgetown Prep travels to Baltimore, where it will meet Loyola High School. Georgetown has been traveling the grid highway at a giddy pace and is the favorite in today's game. In Loyola, however, it will encounter one of the smoothest schoolboy grid teams in Maryland and it will have to fight every inch of the way to achieve the victory.

Jockeys Mills, Walls Get Long Suspensions

Special to The Washington Post.

Pimlico Race Track, Nov. 10.—Jockeys Hank Mills and Pete Walls, suspended by the Pimlico Stewards for fouling in the Futurity here last Saturday, heard their sentences from the Maryland Racing Commission today. Mills, leading the Nation's riders, will be eligible to work again on December 1, while Walls must wait until after December 31. The ruling can cost Mills the national title. Johnny Gilbert is close on his heels and has the remaining two days here as well as the Bowie meeting in which to make up the difference.

Stocks Recover Losses As Pivotal Issues Advance

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Today's security markets were quite the reverse of yesterday's. Stocks joined a recovery movement which in most instances more than erased the Wednesday losses.

Stocks, closing 1 to 5 points higher, made the best gains, on the average, since September 21. They profited, apparently, by an advantageous technical position in that the scarcity of offerings and sluggishness of the decline in the previous market put shorts to cover. Rallying tendencies gained some momentum in the last hour when traders decided to "ride the rise."

If pivotal issues were weakest on Wednesday, they were strongest today. Rails, perhaps, stood out, but group strength also appeared in motors, steels, alcohols and bottle equipments, and utilities. Owens Glass, Crown Cork, National Distillers and U. S. Industrial Alcohol rallied 1 to 3 points, responding to speculative buying on the familiar theory that a possible change in the prohibition law would help their business. Santa Fe, Union Pacific and New York Central, up about 4 each, gave tone to the carriers, while American Telephone, swinging up more than 4 points, Allied Chemical, up 5½, and Case, American Tobacco "B," United Aircraft, Consolidated Gas, American Can and the two U. S. Steels, gaining 3 to 4, provided further measures of the recovery. General Motors and Chrysler each rallied 2. Sales rose to 1,558,010 shares.

Traders working on the long side received some encouragement from the rise of 31,650 tons in United States Steel's October backlog figures. It was the third consecutive monthly advance and even though seasonal, contrasted with the October decline a year ago.

Other news items of market interest were regular dividends by Union Pacific and National Dairy boards and the meeting of railroad executives.

Stocks.

Losses of Wednesday were recovered in buoyant trading. Pivotal issues pushed gains to 4.1 points. The volume of dealing increased to 1,558,010 shares.

Bonds.

Semispeculative loans sent prices up a half point. The market was cheerful, but trading declined in volume to $6,816,000. Some carriers gained 1 and 2 points. American & Foreign Power climbed 5½ points.

Curb.

A climb was begun in narrow trading. The number of issues dealt in remained small throughout. Gains of 1 to 6 points were recorded. Utilities produced the widest rises. Sales increased to 200,000 shares.

Wheat.

Prospects of returning to beer making gave new life to grain prices. Barley led with a rise of 4½ cents; wheat and corn followed. December wheat sold at 43¾ to 43¾ cents.

Cotton.

Recoveries of 30 to 35 points on trade buying more than wiped out recent losses. December closed at 6.36. Liverpool reported covering.

Crude Rubber Steady.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Crude rubber futures closed steady. Dec., 3.45; Jan., 3.51; Mch., 3.62@3.63; May, 3.71.

Smoked ribbed spot closed 3.47.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for November 8 were $4,531,023.37; expenditures, $13,836,868.50; balance, $702,264,922.01. Customs duties for the first eight days of November were $1,963,028.07.

BOND PRICES CLIMB IN CHEERFUL TRADING

Market Is Up Half Point as Sales Volume Drops to $6,816,000.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—A show of buoyancy in some of the semi-speculative loan groups gave the bond market a more cheerful appearance today than it has displayed in the past several weeks.

At the same time trading volume continued at an extremely low level and numerous high grade investment issues followed a narrow range. The foreign department was irregular and dull, while United States Government obligations exhibited a sagging tendency.

The day's sales totaled only $6,816,000, par value, against $7,604,000 yesterday, but the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced half a point.

Among the carrier liens that advanced 1 to 2 or more points were some Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National, Chesapeake Corporation, Central of Georgia, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Western Pacific.

American & Foreign Power 5s led the utilities with a gain of 5½ points, while International telephones were up from 1½ to 3⅜ points. American telephones were firm. Postal Telegraph 5s gained 3 points and Portland General Electric 4½s advanced 2¼.

Recoveries of a point or more were recorded by bonds of American Smelting, Dodge Bros., Goodrich, Chile Copper, Pressed Steel Car and Sinclair Co. Remington Arms 6s lost 5 points.

In the foreign sections gains of more than a point were registered by Canadian government issues. Improvement was also shown by some loans of Austria, Italy, Belgium and France. The Australians, Argentines and Japanese were heavy.

Canadian Distilleries Stocks Rise in Price

Toronto, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Thousands of shares of Canadian distilleries stocks changed hands in the early trading on the stock exchange today following the Democratic victory in the United States.

In the first few minutes of trading Walker's Distillery was up ½, to 7¾.

CURB BEGINS RISES IN NARROW DEALING

Gains of 1 to 6 Points Mark Trading; Sales Total 200,000 Shares.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The curb market got a toe hold on the upgrade today, but the climbing enthusiasm was confined to a relatively few issues and the trading volume was still under normal.

Only 26 issues recorded total transactions involving 1,000 or more shares, the majority running in the 100 to 200 share class. The turnover approximated 200,000 shares, or about 20,000 more than yesterday.

From the standpoint of wide gains, the star performers were the usually popular Electric Bond & Share, Aluminum of America, Newmont Mining, and American Gas & Electric.

The most active was the Electric Bond issues in which there was a turnover of more than 80,000 shares with a net gain of 4 points. In the much less active category, Aluminum was up 6, American Gas, 2¼, A. & P., 5, and Newmont, 2½ points.

Standard Oil of Indiana was the only one of the petroleum shares to make a real showing with an advance of ½ point. Standard of Kentucky gained ¼ on a few sales.

Among the lower-priced issues, small gains were registered by Cities Service, American Cyanimid B, Deere & Co., St. Regis Paper, United Gas, and Utilities Power & Light.

Capital Man Buys Stock Of Cigar Stores Industry

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Sale of 19,800 shares of the common stock of the Bastian-Blessing Corporation, an asset of the bankrupt United Cigar Stores Co. of America, was authorized today by Referee Irwin Kurtz after a hearing.

The purchaser was Eugene E. Thompson, of Washington, D. C., the only bidder, and the price was $3.75 a share. The stock originally sold for $25, but the current value according to an appraisal made for the Irving Trust Co., trustee, is only $3.

The Bastian-Blessing Corporation manufactures soda fountain machinery and is located in Illinois.

WHEAT VALUE GAINS AS BARLEY CLIMBS

Grain Prices Rise on Beer Prospects; Interest in Crops Increased.

Chicago, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Prospective early renewal of the manufacture of legalized beer helped give a sudden hoist to all grain values today, barley and corn in particular.

Barley prices jumped 4½ cents a bushel. Corn and wheat rose about a cent. Traders pointed out that before the advent of prohibition, 50,000,000 bushels of corn were estimated as annually made use of by brewers. Strength of securities and of cotton contributed to the upward trend of grains.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜ to ⅝ above yesterday's finish; corn, ½ to ⅞ up, oats, unchanged to ⅜ higher, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an advance of 2 cents.

Indications of widespread resumption of interest today in the barley market attracted first attention to bullish aspects of election results as a grain market influence. Bidding for future deliveries of barley was started here this morning after a stoppage that had lasted nine years. Initial bids were at 25 cents a bushel for December contracts, and the price mounted fast to 29, with a further ½ cent advance in the late dealings. May delivery went as high as 32½ cents.

Barley Grading Change.

It was announced that a meeting of Chicago Board of Trade directors next Tuesday would probably appoint a special committee to investigate changes of barley grading to provide better for a malting type. The present method of grading is based apparently more on export and feed requirements than on needs of brewers.

Before the day's general upturn in grain prices took place, wheat had sunk to within 1 cent a bushel of the all-time low record. Setbacks in Britain exchange rates, together with bearish crop reports from Argentina, were unsettling temporary factors, which were afterward more than offset by the soaring of barley and by strength shown in stocks and cotton.

Corn and oats price advances were checked by correct anticipation that the Government crop report as to corn would show a considerable increase of yield, compared with returns a month ago.

COTTON STAGES RISE OF 30 TO 35 POINTS

December Closes at 6.36 on Trade Buying; Covering in Liverpool.

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Cotton today more than recovered its losses of yesterday. December contracts sold up to 6.39 or 33 points net higher on trade buying and covering promoted by reports of smaller offerings from the South and strength of the grain and stock markets. That delivery closed at 6.36, or within 3 points of the best. The general market was 30 to 35 points net higher.

The opening was 1 to 2 ponts lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and some Southern selling. There was also a little selling here through houses with Continental and Far Eastern connections, but the comparatively light offerings were absorbed within a point or two of the opening price and the market soon turned steadier. The market developed increasing firmness as prices worked higher without encountering much resistance.

Wall Street Buyers.

Houses with Wall street connections were buyers. There was also a continued moderate demand from the trade and some scattered buying through commission houses which was believed to be partly for European account. Best prices were reached in the late trading when May sold at 6.63 or 33 points net higher and about 48 points or $2.15 per bale above the low price touched on the decline of yesterday. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best on most positions.

Liverpool cables reported covering in that market and said the "bureau" was considered discounted but that fluctuations in raw cotton had unsettled sentiment in the Manchester goods market. Exports today, 41,928, making 2,440,900 so far this season. Port receipts, 33,554. United States port stocks, 4,417,950.

British Pound Declines In Continental Selling

London, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—The pound sterling declined 1¾ cents on the exchange market today, dropping from yesterday's $3.29¾ to $3.28, as the result of moderate speculative continental selling.

The market viewed the present easing without anxiety.

NAVY RELIES ON SAME LINE-UP

Team That Lost to Columbia Will Face Md. U. Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 10.—A skeleton scrimmage session against the shock troops of Squad B, during which aerial offensive was stressed, marked the portion of the practice period of the Annapolis Midshipmen, prepping for their game with University of Maryland to be staged in Baltimore Stadium Saturday.

The players welcomed a deliverance from three days of sloppy weather conditions and put lots of zip into their work. Extremely high tide, that came with the northeast storm yesterday, inundated the athletic field last night, but the water subsided as the storm broke during the early morning hours, and the field dried out considerably in the clearing weather and winds that followed.

In the offensive drive of the day's program, Head Coach Rip Miller had his first and second teams alternating in exploiting the various plays of the overhead attack, and the workout was gratifying.

Slack at Quarter in Place Of Becht.

Miller announced that his team would start against Maryland with the same arrangement as faced Columbia last Saturday. This means that Bud Slack has been given the call over Larry Becht, at quarter back. Chung Hoon and Borries will be the half backs, and Campbell, full back. Ben Walkup and Johnny Waybright, who constitute the fastest steppers at the academy, and who just came around from injuries sustained two weeks ago, will be available for back field service, if necessary.

That Saturday's game will be marked by much open play by both teams, is the belief expressed in local grid circles. This would apply particularly to the Old Liners, as Navy's forward wall has demonstrated its defensive ability, none of its adversaries having made much headway in thrusts through the line. Columbia, Pennsylvania and Princeton, all soon found this out, much to their chagrin.

The Middies will have the usual tapering off practice tomorrow and will leave for Baltimore shortly before noon Saturday. The regiment will be conveyed to the game in special steam trains.

SCHOOL GRID STAR SUICIDE.

Raymondville, Tex., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Glenn Lawrence, Raymondville High School football team end, who was injured two weeks ago in a scrimmage which resulted fatally for his brother, "Blondy" Lawrence, a full back, shot and killed himself today.

GRID GAME OFF—SNOW.

Vermillion, S. Dak., Nov. 10 (A.P.).—G. Russell Bauer, athletic business manager of the University of South Dakota, announced today that the football game with the University of North Dakota, scheduled for here tomorrow, had been canceled. Snow and cold weather were given as reasons.

Hitting the Headpin

MORE than 50 bowlers are expected to compete in the first national veterans tournment which will be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Recreation alleys. Already 23 entries have been received by Dave Cox, who is acting as secretary.

The tournament will be restricted to men over 45 years of age. That should be a big inducement for the stars of former years to get out and try the old soupbone. Three games comprise the test for the first squad. Forty per cent of these, those with the highest scores, will roll a second block to determine the champion.

Entry fee is 75 cents, with an additional 75 cents for those getting into the second block. Entries will be accepted up until and including Saturday night. Blanks may be obtained at any bowling alley in the city. They should be forwarded to Dave Cox immediately!

Buddy Chew rattled the pins for a 171 game for the benefit of Kriss' Delicatessen Team in the Recreation League last night. Buddy"s effort constitutes a new all-time league mark. It exceeds Joe Harrison's score, made last season, by a single pin. He finished out the string for a 389 total. Sol Herzog's representatives rolled 1,723 to take all the marbles from Book of Washington and tie Cook's Bakery for the league lead.

Farnan's Bowling Shoes socked the headpin for a season set record of 1,911 in the National Capital League at Lucky Strike. Incidentally, it is the first 1,900 set of the season. Al Work hung up a new individual set mark for the season with 417. He missed the game record by a lone pin, rolling 165. Mag Wood also rolled over the four-century mark, registering 404. "Chief Roll-in-the-Coat" Lovett chalked up the third 400 set of the evening, 402, and boosted his average above all others for the season.

The Barbettes cleaned up in the War Department loop at Arcadia. Elbert's 143 and Faunce's 351 assured the team of the individual honors, but for good measure, the remaining trio pounded out a 586 game and 1,705 set to clinch team honors.

Freddy Moore's 146 and Joe McGolrick's 378 enabled the Fountain Hams to take the odd one from the second-place Temple Hand Laundry team in the National Capital League at Lucky Strike.

Shaw was heavily burdened with prizes after the Insurance League's weekly meeting at Lucky Strike. He rolled a 122 game and 334 set. Union Central popped the pin for high game, 507, and Aetna Life compiled a three-game total of 1,440.

Mills' 141 and 355 scores were the best individual marks chalked up in the Commerce Interbureau League at Lucky Strike. Aero-Information outrolled the rest of the teams with a high game of 546 and set of 1,561.

Deprecation belied its name by upsetting 515 pins for high game in the I. C. C. Examiners loop at Lucky Strike. Income had the best set, 1,459. Boyden's 332 and La Place's 124 bagged individual laurels.

Indians whooped it up in the Interior Department League at Columbia and finished with a 1,524 set. Pension was next in line for honors by virtue of its 554 game. Plake's 334 and Eisenstein (he must have a theory, too) with 123, garnered the individual honors.

Emile MacWilliams rolled a 308 set to lead the Intersorority League in scoring at Columbia. Margaret Ahern's 119 won the game honors. Chi Sigma rolled 1,345 for the highest team set of the evening, with Sigma Epsilon winning the game laurels by virtue of its 482.

Irene Scott and Jennie Malcolm tied for the set honors in the Ladies' Federal League at Arcadia with 340 each. Elsie Fischer had little difficulty gaining the high game prize with her 135. Veterans Administration topped the teams with its 531 and 1,500.

Princeton tied with Yale for the lead in the Intercollegiate Alumni League by winning all three from Oregon while the Lockmen were dropping a game to Brown. Maryland rolled an all-time league record when it hit the maples for 1,610, which included a high game of 560. Burt Talley's 153 was exceeded by Earl Brown's 154, also a new record for the year, but Burt came back with a 382 score to gain set honors. Neal Anderson boosted his average considerably with the aid of a fat 350 total.

Pro Golf Stars Guests Of G. W. Eleven Tonight

Eleven of the golfing aces entered in the National Capital open championship at Kenwood Saturday and Sunday will tune up their putting eyes by watching the canary-yellow football at tonight's game between George Washington University and William and Mary.

SEAMAN WATSON CHAMP.

Gun Club Schedules Final 1932 Title Shoot

An attractive program, with the final club championship of the year as the outstanding attraction, has been arranged for the members of the Washington Gun Club tomorrow. The shoot will be staged at the club traps on Benning road.

Fifty targets, shot in pairs, comprise the test for the doubles championship, feature event on the card. The Lewis class system will be followed in awarding prize winners. Julius Marcey, 1931 champion, will defend his laurels.

The four-month trophy race also will be contested.

EAGLES SEEKING GAME.

Undefeated, and an outstanding contender for the 125-pound city independent grid championship, the Anacostia Eagles are without a game for Sunday. Teams interested should call Manager Johnny Severn at Atlantic 0823.

TWO HOLIDAY GAMES IN DIXIE

Georgia-Clemson and Chattanooga-Mercer Play Today.

ATLANTA, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Georgia plays Clemson and Mercer battles Chattanooga in the South's Armistice Day football headliners tomorrow.

Leroy Young, who has been the starting quarter back for Georgia for several weeks, and End Freddie Miller will be kept out of the contest at Clemson, S. C., because of injuries suffered in the New York University engagement a week ago.

However, Georgia will have Cy Grant, the sensational sophomore half back, back in the line-up and the rest of the squad is in fair shape.

Clemson will present its strongest team to date against the Bulldogs. Clemson has a dangerous aerial attack which may pierce the Georgia defense, which has shown a weakness against passes this season.

Chattanooga Game May Decide Title.

The Dixie Conference championship may be decided at Chattanooga as Mercer meets the Chattanooga Moccasins. Mercer is unbeaten within the Dixie and Chattanooga is its final loop opponent. Mercer will be favored.

Tennessee and Vanderbilt, opponents in the Southern Conference's big classic at Nashville Saturday, went through their last long drill today while Auburn and Florida, also participants in a major battle at Montgomery, were polishing off for this game.

Mississippi State and Southwestern of Memphis moved their scheduled Saturday game up to Friday. It will be played at Starkeville, Miss.

OAKLEY QUINTET BOOKING.

Games with Washington teams are sought by the Oakley Club, of Baltimore, which was a contender for the Baltimore Basket Ball League honors last season. A game is especially wanted for Thanksgiving Day. Address Ted Marks, 17 West Biddle street, Baltimore.

ALTHOUGH the last shot of the World War was fired at 11 o'clock the morning of November 11, 1918, when the armistice—signed several hours before—went into effect, this cessation of hostilities did not mean the end of the war. The United States Government remained at war with the governments of Germany and Austria until July 2, 1921, according to the State Department.

The treaty restoring friendly relations between Germany and the United States was signed at Berlin, August 25, 1921; ratification was advised by the Senate on October 18; ratifications exchanged at Berlin, November 11, 1921, and proclaimed November 14. A similar treaty with the Austrian government was proclaimed on November 17.

The State Department also announced, "In proclaiming the treaties restoring friendly relations with Germany and Austria, the President declared the state of war between the United States and the governments of Germany and Austria to have terminated on July 2, 1921."

American troops of the army of occupation remained on German soil until July 11, 1923. The bulk of them returned home on February 21, 1923.

Explorer Tells Trade Board Veterans' Budget Will Bankrupt U. S.

There is need for a second declaration of independence to break the servitude of the people to organized minorities, Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who flew across both poles, declared last night in an address on the necessity for reduction in taxation before the Washington Board of Trade at the Willard Hotel.

Attired in evening clothes, Admiral Byrd, speaking as a member of the National Economy League, pictured heavy taxation as the root of most economic evils in the Nation today. He particularly criticized veterans' legislation and extravagance in the Federal Government.

"This," he said, "is one item of the Federal cost that requires investigation. The majority of the veterans are thinking straight, but there is a minority that does not understand the gravity of the demands. If this minority could understand that the country has its back against the wall and is fighting an enemy more dangerous than it faced on the fields of France, it would not now make demands that would do much to wreck the country."

Would Break Nation.

"The cost of the World War veterans will eventually amount to over $80,000,000,000," Admiral Byrd added, "four times the cost of the World War. If the present laws are not changed Uncle Sam will go bankrupt. The National Economy League stands four square for the principle that no soldier who comes back from war well and able-bodied shall be supported for the rest of his life, for the honor and privilege of going to the defense of this Nation."

The explorer, who postponed an expedition to help fight a war against high taxation and lobbyists, told the Trade Board members that the object of the league is "to protect local, State and Federal lawmakers from the selfish minorities who now have those lawmakers at their mercy."

Wheeler Talks on Chest.

State and local taxes must be cut about $2,750,000,000 and $100,000,000 can be saved in the Federal Government by preventing duplication and extravagance, Admiral Byrd declared.

The Trade Board members were also addressed by W. W. Wheeler on the Community Chest drive; C. Melvin Sharpe, who spoke in the absence of William F. Ham, president of the Potomac Electric Power Co., on the new plant at Buzzard's Point, and Wallace R. Robinson, on the mid-winter dinner of the organization. Mr. Robinson is general chairman of the event this year.

BUSINESS SORORITY SESSION IS TODAY

Webster to Welcome 150 Delegates to Parley of Alpha Iota.

More than 150 delegates from all sections of the country will gather here today for the opening of the second national convention of Alpha Iota, national business sorority, in the Willard Hotel.

The convention will be welcomed to Washington by Ben T. Webster, president of the Washington Board of Trade. The opening session is scheduled for 10:30 a. m., with Miss Elsie M. Fenton, national president, presiding.

Alpha Omega Chapter, of Strayer College, will entertain the delegates at a luncheon following the first meeting. A round-table discussion, led by Miss Florence Costenbader, of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., will feature the afternoon session.

Thomas P. Littlepage, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, will preside as toastmaster at a program to be attended by school officials.

Guests will include Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools; Dr. Stephen E. Kramer, first assistant superintendent of schools; C. Vaughan Darby, secretary of the District Board of Accountancy; William Gordon Buchanan, head of Georgetown University school of business administration; Pinckney J. Harman, director of Strayer College, and Adelbert E. Heinmiller, national vice president of Phi Theta Pi.

Gen. Crosby Talks To Washingtonians

District Official Points to Splendid Handling of Welfare Work.

Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, District of Columbia Commissioner, was guest of honor and speaker at a meeting of the Washingtonians, a newly organized civic group, last night at the Brighton Hotel.

He delivered a short address and spoke on the splendid welfare work of the District and pointed out the fact that Washington was supporting 8,000 unfortunate citizens of the Capital.

Miss Etta Taggart, president of the organization, presided over the meeting, which was opened with the recital of the "American Creed," by Trimble Sawtelle. Nearly 100 persons attended the gathering. Entertainment was furnished by local talent, which was followed by refreshments.

The Washingtonians were recently admitted to the Federation of Citizens Associations, with the right to delegate two representatives to that organization.

Greeks Are Asked To Identify Body

Man Who Hanged Self on Election Day Faces Burial in Potter's Field.

Detective Sergt. H. K. Wilson last night issued an appeal to all Washington Greeks to come to the District Morgue with the hope of identifying a middle-aged man who hanged himself in Rock Creek Park early on election day.

The man is about 45 years old, of medium height and build. Sergt. Wilson, head of the homicide squad, is convinced from a study of the man's features that he is of Greek extraction.

The man, whose body faces burial in potter's field, wore a wine-colored suit and hat. The initials, M. M. were sewed in the coat of his suit.

Honored Again

But Post Employe Gets Fourth War Medal Through Mail.

Armistice Day.

Fourteen years ago at 11 o'clock in the morning 21,000,000 men laid down their arms with a reverent prayer and a heartfelt plea for everlasting peace.

And those who came back were honored, praised and rewarded for their efforts. Speeches were made, ceremonies were held and those known to have distinguished themselves were decorated with the highest honors at the command of their Government.

But to Edward F. Wilson, a member of The Post composing room staff, these plaudits were denied. He has received his reward, the fourth highest paid by the United States to a soldier of the World War, but there were no speeches, no ceremonies—just a plain envelope, stamped and addressed.

The silver star, awarded for gallantry in action, reached Wilson yesterday as did three others—through the mails. The only words of praise were engraved on the back of the star—"For Gallantry in Action, Edward F. Wilson."

This award followed closely upon a citation sent Wilson by the French government. The city of Verdun, recognizing his valiant efforts, awarded him the gold medal, bearing the name of their city.

Wilson also holds two other medals, the Veterans of Foreign Wars medal and the Victory medal.

Back through the years came that night on October 16, 1918, when Wilson, single handed braved a terrific enemy fire to rescue several wounded companions, following an attack on his company as they attempted to cross the Meuse River.

Fare Holds Up Cabman And Escapes With $2

John Preston, 50, 2646 Tenth street northeast, a taxicab driver, reported to police last night that he was held up and robbed by a colored man who entered his cab at Sixteenth street and Park road.

He said the man told him to drive to 2222 Eleventh street northwest. When he got there, the man pulled a gun and robbed him of $2.

United Mechanics Meet at Raleigh

Annual Convention Closes With Hotel Banquet Tomorrow.

The State Council of the District of Columbia, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, last night opened their Thirty-seventh annual convention in the Raleigh Hotel. The session will continue through tomorrow.

A banquet will conclude the program tomorrow. Members of the order from all sections of the country are gathered here for the meeting.

A wreath will be placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The national board of officers will conduct the ceremonies, with a brief memorial service in front of the tomb.

$136 Jewelry Theft Reported by Woman

Mrs. Ann Moak, 1422 Chapin street northwest, reported to police that jewelry valued at $136 was stolen from her apartment yesterday. The jewelry included two gold marksman medals, three rings, a necklace, a watch and a stickpin. She said she believed the lock on the door of the apartment was picked.

TRACTION LAWYERS ATTACK 3-CENT FARE

Justice Gordon Takes Under Advisement Motion to Dismiss Suit.

Attorneys representing the traction companies yesterday had their day in court in opposition to the order of the Public Utilities Commission which placed in effect a 3-cent street car fare for school children.

At the conclusion of their argument Justice Peyton Gordon, in the District Supreme Court, took under advisement a motion by Attorneys Richmond B. Keech and William A. Roberts to dismiss the complaint of the traction companies, the representatives of the utilities commission previously having presented their arguments for dismissal of the suit.

One of the chief items in the complaint of the Capital Traction Co., the Washington Rapid Transit Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. was that the 3-cent fare was confiscatory, in that it made the returns of the companies below the figure they were allowed by decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

Justice Gordon's ruling will be made known in the next few days.

Georgetown Club Names Jones Chief

Progressive Business Body Holds Election at Luncheon.

John Paul Jones was elected president of the newly organized Georgetown Progressive Businessmen's Club at its first regular luncheon meeting yesterday.

Edgar Hoyer was named first vice president; John DuFief, second vice president; Frank H. Rowe, secretary, and Raymond Freeman, treasurer.

Directors elected were Edward O. Sudler, Edward L. Stohlman, Percy C. Klen, Herbert P. Swartwout, J. Edward Dyer, jr., and Joseph M. Wise.

The organization has 34 charter members and is composed of young business and professional men of Georgetown. It will hold semi-monthly luncheon meetings.

District Dental Society Hears Chicagoan Speak

New ideas in the mechanical phase of dentistry were discussed last night by Dr. F. E. Roach, of Chicago, speaking before the District of Columbia Dental Society at George Washington University. Dr. William I. Ogus, chairman of the essay commttee, introduced Dr. Roach. He spoke on "Partial Dentures and a Simple, Dependable Impression Technique." His paper was discussed by Dr. E. R. Stone, Dr. H. P. Cobey, Dr. J. K. Jennings and Lieut. Comdr. A. W. Chandler.

Adoption of an amendment to the by-laws consolidated the offices of secretary and treasurer Dr. W. M. Simkins, secretary, was appointed to the joint position. Dr. Charles D. Cole, president of the society, spoke on the Community Chest.

New Civitan President To Entertain Officers

Shelton Cameron, new president of the Washington Civitan Club, will be host at a week-end party tendered the officers and board of directors of Civitan, at his country place, Orchard Bungalow, Back Creek Valley Orchards, Hedgesville, W. Va.

The party will leave Mr. Cameron's home on Sixteenth street today at 12:30 p. m., by automobiles and will return Sunday. The party will participate in a day's shooting, as game is plentiful.

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE

Don't argue over the right of way. If there is any doubt give way to the other fellow. Traffic experts are unanimous in agreeing that if motorists were as careful about running into each other as pedestrians are about personal collisions, there would be far fewer traffic accidents.

To date in Washington there have been 211 more injuries and 36 more deaths than during the similar period last year. Accidents, however, have shown a drop of 431. The figures are:

	1931	1932
Deaths	69	105
Injuries	3,104	3,315
Accidents	7,260	6,829

"Be Careful!"

Copeland Does Not Want District Committee's Chair

Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, one of the ranking Democratic members of the Senate District committee, made it clear yesterday he does not aspire to succeed Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, as District committee chairman when the Senate reorganizes March 4.

"I'm in the hands of my party, of course," Senator Copeland said, "but I would much prefer to take some other committee. I am vitally interested in the District, but the job would take more time than I could give it."

He added he would not be "distressed at all" if party leaders decreed that he must take the local committee chairmanship.

Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, is ranking Democratic member of the Senate District committee, and Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, is next in line after Senator Copeland, but all three have rank on more important committees. The prospect is that Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, will be offered the job.

JUDGE O'DONOGHUE URGES CHEST AIDS TO BEST EFFORTS

Bishop Freeman, Noyes and Other Leaders Are Heard by Metropolitan Unit.

Introduced by H. L. Rust, jr., chairman of the Metropolitan Unit in the Community Chest campaign, as "a man who exemplifies in his life that upon which he is to speak—Public Service," Associate Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia last night told about 1,000 workers of the Metropolitan Unit that they were given a rare privilege in being permitted to go forth to battle shoulder to shoulder for the cause of suffering humanity. The occasion was the opening meeting of this unit in preparation for the campaign which opens Monday.

Justice O'Donoghue called attention to the fact that the gathering included all creeds of people from all paths of life, exemplifying "the spirit of tolerance; the spirit of equality of all mankind; the real spirit of America." He talked of the difference between the people of 150 years ago and now, explaining that in the former period, man was self-sufficient unto himself but that modern conditions, including the automobile, the large city, the steam engine and the airplane, have made us so dependent one upon another that it has changed the character of the entire Nation.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, declared that "there is no week in the calendar more important for this city than the week we are entering in now. It is a week in which all distinctions are obliterated; a week in which all our classifications, all our religious and political shibboleths are forgotten, and we become one family with only one aim in view—aiding of the unfortunate."

Invocation by Simon.

Following the invocation by Dr. Abram Simon, Chairman Rust introduced President E. C. Graham and Campaign Chairman Newbold Noyes, the latter, in turn, introducing the members of his campaign committee.

Mr. Noyes impressed upon the workers present the solemnity of the task that confronts them within the next two weeks. He again called attention to the dire need that exists among thousands of their fellow Washingtonians and cited concrete examples of families whose destitution has been made apparent when they at last, overcoming their pride, consented to accept aid from a Chest organization.

Daily Contribution Plan.

Elwood Street, the director of the Chest, made a short talk emphasizing the "cents by the day" methods of solicitation this year. He pointed out that if the prospective giver is asked to contribute so many pennies a day that the contributor will almost inevitably find himself able to give more than he had thought to give.

Chairman Rust, while acknowledging that the task ahead is hard, expressed appreciation of the fact that the Metropolitan unit is a veteran organization for the most part and that it is larger and better organized than in any previous year. He praised the work of the organization secretary, Miss Bertha Pabst, and introduced his four area chairmen with, as he expressed it, a distinct feeling of pride.

The meeting concluded with the showing of the Community Chest picture, "The Inner Voice."

Cosmovolitans Are Told Of Winter Relief Needs

Speaking before the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel yesterday, W. W. Wheeler, Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. official, drew a word picture of the needs confronting thousands of Washingtonians this winter, stressing the manner in which these needs affect children.

William L. King read a letter from J. H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co. and chairman of the District of Columbia committee on industrial rehabilitation. Mr. Hanna called attention to the program of this committee, which is to urge manufacturers to keep their plants up-to-date; to purchase new equipment at present low prices; to urge merchants to keep their stocks up to normal, and in other ways cooperate to bring about normal conditions.

William McCarty of the Capital Traction Co. stated that Mr. Hanna was also working for stabilization of labor and to this end is keeping on his summer construction crew through the winter, dividing work so that each employe may have some income.

Woman Chalk-Talk Artist Visiting Here

Mrs. Simeon Shaw, internationally famous chalk-talk artist, arrived in Washington yesterday. She is staying at the Willard Hotel.

Mrs. Shaw is especially well known to former service men for her work in Washington during the World War.

WARDMAN SAYS 10 PROPERTIES IN SALE WORTH $13,250,000

Testifies During Foreclosure Action on Projects That He Sponsored.

Harry Wardman, original builder and owner of the ten Wardman properties that were sold for $2,800,000 in the foreclosure sale of the properties two weeks ago, yesterday told Justice F. D. Letts in the District Supreme Court that the properties were worth $13,250,000, in his estimation.

The properties were sold for $2,800,000 plus the underlying mortgages which totaled approximately $4,000,000. Wardman was called as a witness by the attorneys representing minority noteholders who are challenging the sale of the properties.

Item of Contention.

Another item of contention yesterday was that of Maj. Julius I. Peyser, one of the operating receivers of the Wardman properties, valued them at $4,500,000 insofar as four of the properties were concerned. He declined to value the other six properties.

Donald H. McKnew, chief officer of the brokerage house bearing that name, testified that a loan of $650,000 had been initiated by his company. This loan, he said, was to be utilized to pay the nondepositing noteholders, and to carry the properties in current debts. The loan, he said, would take precedence over the loans now outstanding on the properties.

Ratification Is Attacked.

Mr. McKnew also testified that his firm purchased the issue at 90 and was selling it at par, wherever possible. This meant, he said, that his firm netted a profit of $65,000 on the issue, providing the whole issue was sold at par.

The current trial is brought about by the contention of the minority noteholders that the sale price of the properties was not sufficient. They are attacking the ratification of the sale by the District Supreme Court, and Justice F. D. Letts is hearing their complaint. The trial will last several days.

Kennedy's Slayers Denied New Trial

Justice Wheat Gives Trio Death in Chair for Killing Policeman.

Three colored men, convicted two weeks ago of slaying Park Policeman Milo J. Kennedy in Logan Circle last August, were formally sentenced to electrocution yesterday by Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, in the District Supreme Court, when he denied a motion for a new trial. The date of execution will be fixed next week.

The men were Joseph J. Jackson, Irvin Murray and Ralph E. Holmes. Kennedy was beaten to death when he was attacked by a group of men.

Nine persons were indicted in the slaying and six brought to trial. Three were acquitted on directed verdicts. The other three have not been apprehended.

New Safety Zones To Prove Costly

Utilities Group Gathering Data on Operation of Sightseeing Buses.

Having approved the locations of 195 taxicab stands yesterday, the Public Utilities Commission has started gathering data prior to issuing orders governing devices for safety zones, loading platforms and the operation of sightseeing vehicles.

The commission has practically decided upon the type of guard that it will recommend for safety zones, but the question of cost has not yet been settled, as the new devices are more expensive than the buttons now used.

At present there is an accumulation of regulations governing sightseeing vehicles. Within the last year the commission has issued orders governing the operation of interstate buses and taxicabs.

Bond Set for Autoist After Fatal Accident

Arthur L. Gebhart, 24, of 826 L street northeast, was held in $2,000 bond last night pending a coroner's inquest into the death of Estelle Carroll, middle-aged colored woman who was killed when struck by an automobile driven by Gebhart yesterday morning. The inquest will be held this morning.

Homicide Squad detectives informed Coroner Joseph D. Rogers that the accident was unavoidable but the latter insisted upon an inquest and the holding of Gebhart. Detectives said the woman was struck when she stepped out from behind a pillar in the viaduct passage along H street northeast. Gebhart could not have avoided striking her, they said.

PRIZE BABY

SHIRLEY RUTH SEATON.

FOOD SHOW'S BABY PRIZE WON BY GIRL

Shirley Seaton, 16 Months Old, Is Honored; Solo Dancing Is Tonight.

Shirley, who is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Seaton of 606½ Park road, had some keen competition in the 51 other entrants, which made the largest field in a first-day baby meet in the history of these contests.

Last night's crowd set a second-day record for the District Grocery Stores, Inc., food show, with an audience of nearly 1,000 more than at any previous show's second night. One booth was knocked down by the jam and the railings of at least two more were damaged. Repairs will be made this morning, however, and the show will be prepared to handle even greater crowds tonight, when the show will celebrate Armistice Day.

In that celebration, the Food Show will attempt to follow the example set by the famous Knights of Columbus "seretaries" and Salvation Army's "lassies," all of whom gained renown by their general distribution of gifts to the doughboys. The food show exhibitors tonight will increase the volume of the samples of their wares they will give away so that literally hundreds of pounds of foodstuffs will be received by the audience.

Tonight's contest will be a solo dancing meet for girls over 16 years of age. Each entrant must wear a fancy costume.

Yesterday afternoon J. P. Richard, of 15 M street, won the floor lamp, while last night Mrs. Agnes Hurd, of Clarendon, Va., was presented with the prize 69-piece set of Bavarian china. Miss Miriam Laudman, of 427 Seventh street southwest, was first-place winner in last night's pie-eating contest, while Mrs. George Tabor, of Cherrydale, captured the second prize in the same meet.

Carolina Firm Gets Army Contract.

Maj. John L. De Witt, quartermaster general of the Army, has approved a contract for the construction of a post exchange, theater and gymnasium at Bolling Field. The work will be done by A. I. Good, Inc., of Charlotte, N. C., for $74,765. The project is part of a general rebuilding program of the local air corps center.

13 RADICALS GIVEN SENTENCES FOR RIOT AT SUPREME COURT

Must Pay $100 or Serve 60 Days for Protest Parade; Appeals Slated.

Thirteen persons, arrested Monday when they attempted to demonstrate in front of the Capitol just before the Supreme Court announced its decision in the Scottsboro case, yesterday were given sentences of $100 fines or 60 days in jail when they were tried before Judge Isaac R. Hitt, in Police Court.

Two Are Released.

They were charged with parading without a permit. Two persons arrested in the crowd were released when they said they were passersby and were not engaged in the parade. They were Edward Richardson and Leo Seltzer.

Those who were found guilty by Judge Hitt were Mary Beer, Mary Ruboy, Oscar Robert, Henry Cole, Sam Gales, Harry Muritis, Charles Israel, Ellen J. Rodgers, Kurt Benewitz, Abe Simon, William Randall, David Rembert, Cella V. Stone and Alice Zuker.

Appeals Scheduled.

Attorneys for the convicted persons announced their intention of filing appeals. Judge Hitt fixed bonds at $500 for each defendant. Several of those mentioned in the parading charges face charges of assault and disorderly conduct.

Loss of Two Suitcases From Cars Is Reported

John J. Lusly, of Harrisburg, Pa., reported to police that a suitcase containing $115 worth of clothing, was stolen from his car while parked at 1626 Rhode Island avenue northwest, yesterday.

Miss Virginia Taggert, of Park Lane Apartments, also reported that she left a suitcase containing $35 worth of clothes in a taxicab when she alighted at her home late yesterday.

Federal Laborer Is Killed in Fall

Grant, a laborer, plunged about 60 feet from the second floor to the basement, landing on a concrete pavement. He was either carrying a plank or standing on one, for witnesses said that the timber fell with his body. He died of a fractured skull while being removed from a stretcher at Emergency Hospital.

Grant's death is the second fatality in a list of more than half a dozen accidents which have occurred in the last few months. The other death was that of Lewis Marlow, an iron worker, who was fatally injured by a falling keg of rivets at the new Department of Justice Building. Only Wednesday a series of safety meetings was inaugurated on this project in an attempt to reduce the number of falls and other accidents.

Firemen's Banquet Planned.

The following committee has been named to make arrangements for the annual banquet of the Prince Georges County Volunteer Firemen's Association: T. Weston Scott, chairman; W. R. Beattie, Noble F. Rushe, George Finger, V. A. Simmel, T. W. Venemann, Earl Wyvill, Dr. H. D. McDonnell, T. C. Gardner, Joseph Kline and H. C. Byrd.

Packard Arch-Aid

Direct Entrance from Seventh Street to the Men's Shoe Department. Main Floor.

For many years a comfort shoe was put in the awkward gaiter class. Arch-Aid was one of the first to put a stop to that. Today you can't tell it from any other trim shoe you see walking down the street . . . and yet, all the comfort features are there. We illustrate a neat, narrow toe oxford . . . in black or tan calf leathers. Particularly good with your English drape suit.
